DANUBE PARLEY SET IN LONDON FOR NEXT WEEK

Tardieu-MacDonald Talk to Precede 4-Power Conference.

PLEASURE EXPRESSED OVER SITE SELECTION

England Denies She Favors Extension of Hoover Moratorium.

London, March 31 (A.P.).—The four-power conference called by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald to consider means of helping the five nations of the Danube Basin out of their economic difficulties will meet next week in London.

The place and date were announced by the British foreign office today. Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy will participate in the conference. Austria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Roumania and Jugoslavia are the countries whose plight will be discussed.

The four-power parley will follow a meeting Sunday night between Prime Minister MacDonald and Premier Andre Tardieu of France. M. Tardieu will return to Paris Monday, leaving Pierre Flandin, French finance minister, to represent his government.

Pleased Over Selection.

The French premier, with typical speed, will start his preliminary conversations on the Danubian situation soon after his arrival at 5 p. m. Sunday, going almost immediately to Downing street for his talk with Mr. MacDonald.

British official circles expressed great pleasure that the four-power conference will be held in London. It was understood that Premier Tardieu preferred to have the larger meeting at Geneva, but since Germany and Italy were ready to tackle the middle-European problems as soon as possible, Mr. MacDonald succeeded in carrying out his plan for an early meeting here.

Reparations May Come Up.

The Danubian problem was expected in England to be the primary subject to be discussed by the two premiers. If reparations are discussed at all, as M. Tardieu is understood to wish, it will be on his initiative.

A report in the Daily Herald, Labor party organ, that the British reparations policy favors a continuation of the Hoover moratorium on Germany's payments for another six months after its expiration in June, was officially denied.

Hurley Renounces Oklahoma Honor

Announces His Support of Present National Committeeman.

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Hurley announced yesterday his support of William G. Skelly, Tulsa, Okla., oil man, for re-election as Oklahoma's Republican national committeeman.

The announcement followed receipt of private advices from Oklahoma, his home State, that an effort might be made in some counties to give the committee position to Hurley.

"Mr. Skelly is an old friend of mine," the Secretary said, "and I would not oppose him in any event." The Secretary's information from Oklahoma was that the efforts to give him the position would be designed to "confuse" the question.

Fast Burlington Train Derailed; 13 Are Hurt

Holdrege, Nebr., March 31 (A.P.).—Several cars of the Burlington road's passenger train, the Aristocrat, left the rails a half a mile west of Axtell, at 6 a. m. today, injuring at least 13 persons, several seriously.

Trainmen said a broken rail was responsible for the accident. The train was bound for Denver and was traveling about 55 miles an hour when the cars left the rails. Six cars left the track, but the locomotive and two baggage cars remained on the rails.

Armor-Piercing Shell Announced in England

Sheffield, England March 31 (A.P.).—Sir Robert Hadfield, chairman of the Hadfield Steel Works, told the annual stockholders meeting today that his mills are manufacturing a new armour-piercing shell which will perforate without breaking hard-faced armor more than a foot thick at a velocity equivalent to a range of about 10 miles.

The shell would go through, he said, in two one-hundredths of a second.

Grocer Shot; Sniper Thought Amuck Again

Four of Seven Bullets Strike Operator of Upshur Street Store; Other Hold-up Efforts Are Reported Later.

A pistol attack on a grocer in the Tenth Precinct last night in which seven shots were fired, four of which struck him, was ascribed by police to a new outbreak of activities by the "sniper."

Shortly after the shooting of Aneas Lane, who operates a store at 700 Upshur street northwest, a man answering the general description of the man who attempted to hold up the grocer, attempted to hold up Clarence M. Richards at Fourteenth and Upshur street northwest, and 15 minutes later attempted to hold up Miss Sarah Duffey in front of her home at 4128 Seventh street northwest.

Earlier in the day two of four persons who saw Roy Holt, 26 years old, under arrest at Police Headquarters, partially identified him as the man who fled from the baker shop of Paul Riedel on Mount Pleasant street the night he was slain in the first outbreak of sniperism early in February.

Lane was alone in his grocery store about 10:20 o'clock last night, he told police, when a shabbily dressed man, with a growth of beard on his face, came in and ordered cigarettes. The grocer went to get the package and the man produced a .25-caliber automatic pistol and demanded money.

"Get it yourself," Lane retorted, and pointed to the cash drawer. The man pulled the trigger without further warning.

The bullet passed through the fleshy part of the grocer's right arm. The intruder then walked slowly to the cash register and there he fired again. The bullet clipped off the top of Lane's right ear.

Lane made a flying leap headforemost over the counter. While he was in the air the holdup man fired again, and this bullet grazed Lane's abdomen.

The grocer came to grips with his assailant and they struggled around the grocery store, upsetting chairs and strewing food and packages around the store. During the struggle, the holdup man fired several shots, one of them grazing Lane above the heart.

He then broke from the grocer's grasp and ran to the front door, where he made two parting shots. One of them shattered a plate glass show case. Lane followed into the street and collapsed.

Witnesses told police the hold-up man escaped in an automobile parked around the corner on Seventh street.

Lane was taken to Garfield Hospital. All of his wounds were found to be minor and he left after receiving treatment..

CONSOLIDATION REPLACES PAY CUTS AS ISSUE

New Reorganization Bill Is Reported Out by House Group.

COMPROMISE BEING STUDIED ON WAGES

Democratic Claims on Saving by Appropriations Slash Challenged.

The congressional economy machine moved slowly forward yesterday, consolidation replacing salary cuts as the retrenchment issue, while estimated savings under a Democratic program provoked partisan bickerings.

The House expenditures committee reported out another reorganization bill. It provides that Federal construction activities, excepting Army and Navy structural functions, be merged under a public works administration.

Other developments were:

House and Senate agricultural appropriations conferees took under advisement a compromise plan for treating Federal pay increases and vacancy filling, sponsored by Representative James P. Buchanan. It would restore pay increases and promotions to the bill and modify the vacancy filling clause.

Savings Challenged.

Representative Robert G. Simmons (Republican), Nebraska, challenged Democratic estimates of $243,000,000 saving through reduced appropriations. Some "savings" already effected will have to be made up through deficiency appropriations, he said, charging Democrats must still account for $200,000,000 of their estimated cut.

While the House economy committee again evaded discussion of salary reductions as a retrenchment measure, the Veterans of Foreign Wars joined with the American Federation of Labor in an effort to block favorable action on any one of the sixteen pay cut plans now before the committee.

The consolidation bill reported favorably yesterday is the second to be approved by the expenditures group, which is racing the economy committee to effect savings through Federal reorganization.

The first bill reported last week would consolidate bureaus concerned with personnel work—the Civil Service Commission, the Personnel Classification Board, the Bureau of Effi-

Nebraska and Oregon Next on Murray Tour

Oklahoma City, March 31 (A.P.).—Gov. William H. Murray returned home today after a 12-day campaign tour of the South in the interest of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for President.

He plans to leave Tuesday for eleven speaking engagements in Nebraska and eleven in Oregon. Meanwhile, George Henshaw, manager of the governor's campaign headquarters here, was arranging speaking dates for him in Ohio. Tentative plans call for Murray to go direct to Ohio after completing the Oregon tour, April 14.

BUS LINES OBEY TERMINAL EDICT AT LAST MINUTE

Dozen Companies Move Their Depots From Congested Area.

COMMISSION FIXED TODAY AS DEADLINE

Several Concerns Must Make New Transfer After Temporary Shift.

Heeding the threat of the Public Utilities Commission to prosecute all operators of interstate buses who had not vacated terminals in the congested area by this morning, officials of the dozen or more lines involved held hurried conferences yesterday and made arrangements to be established at new depots today.

Earl V. Fisher, executive secretary of the commission, spent a busy afternoon making last-minute provisions for new routes for the carriers. He stated late yesterday that every one has now complied with the order of the commission issued last summer.

Acceptance of the edict of the commission, even though tardy, marks a distinct victory for the utilities body, which has sought for several years to relieve congestion in the downtown section by eliminating bus terminals.

Operators Summoned.

More than six months after a public hearings had been held and an order had been issued, the commission learned that some of the operators intended to fight the order in court and that others planned to ask for an extension of time.

All of the operators were forthwith summoned by court order to appear at a conference early last month, and each agreed to comply with the demand of the commission.

The Lincoln Lines, Inc., the Nevins Bus Lines and the Washington-Luray Line will occupy a joint curb terminal at 807 Thirteenth street.

The Short Lines, comprising a half dozen subsidiaries, which were formerly located at 1349 E street, will terminate temporarily in front of the Metropolitan Hotel at 613 Pennsylvania avenue.

Other Changes.

The Washington, Marlboro and Annapolis and the Peninsula Transit lines will move to the Annapolis Hotel, with the Baltimore division of the Washington Rapid Transit Co.

The Greyhound and the Blue Ridge Transportation lines have previously been given permission to move to the north side of New York avenue, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets.

As some of the lines will still be in the second traffic zone, they will have to move again or establish an off-street terminal by August 1, under the terms of the bus order.

Gunmen Take $30,000 In Gems From Jeweler

Cleveland, Ohio, March 31 (A.P.).—Jewels valued at $30,000 were taken tonight from Charles Sands, jeweler, after two gunmen kidnaped him and forced him to unlock his safe.

Included in the loot was a diamond bracelet watch valued at $2,500 and a packet of uncut diamonds.

BILLION IN TAX VOTED, HOUSE MAY FORWARD BILL TO SENATE TODAY

Britain Finishes Year With Balanced Budget

Surplus of $1,352,280 Revealed in Exchequer Returns; All Residents Joined in Drive to Preserve Credit.

London, March 31 (U.P.).—Great Britain achieved a notable triumph in modern governmental financing tonight when publication of the exchequer returns disclosed a balanced budget and a surplus of £364,000 ($1,352,280) less than seven months after the nation was plunged into one of the most crucial periods of her history.

The balancing of the budget was a victory for all of Britain because the entire nation—down to the last unemployed miner—paid his share in the desperate drive to rehabilitate the government's finances.

It was a victory also for the coalition government, led by the Socialist prime minister, J. Ramsay MacDonald, at a time when other nations, including the United States, were struggling with their own financial problems.

But the triumph was achieved only by drastic measure put into effect at a time when the national credit was endangered. The gold standard has been suspended, the traditional policy of free trade has been abandoned, the unemployment benefits have been cut, the taxes have been increased in a country which already was the most heavily taxed in the world.

The exchequer's figures, however, showed a total revenue for the year of £770,963,000 and total expenditures of £770,599,000, leaving a surplus of £364,000.

Furthermore, the government utilized only £12,750,000 from its New York exchange account, as compared to £23,000,000 for which former Chancellor of Exchequer Viscount Snowden had provided.

Saving in Expenditures Expected to Add Rest to Balance Budget.

FINAL ACTION WAITS ESTIMATE OF MILLS

Simmons Attacks Accuracy of Figures on Slashes in Appropriations.

By J. B. McDONNELL.

The budget-balancing House plowed through the billion dollar tax bill yesterday and left for today's sessions only the task of putting the finishing touches on the measure and sending it to the Senate.

When adjournment was taken at 7:15 o'clock last night the weary House had voted into the bill taxes totaling close to $1,000,000,000.

It is estimated that $1,241,000,000 will be needed to meet the deficit in the next fiscal year. The House program contemplates a saving of something like $243,000,000 through reduction in Government expenditures next year.

Assuming that the estimates of prospective revenue which the various taxes shall produce are correct, the balancing of the budget will depend on the cutting of Federal expenditures. But the close of the day not only found the special House economy committee without a definite expenditure-slashing program, but saw Representative Robert G. Simmons (Republican), of Nebraska, deride the accuracy of estimates of reductions so far made in Government appropriations bills.

Attacks Reduction Claim.

A reduction of $113,708,821 has been claimed as a great Democratic victory in slashing Government estimates, he said, but of this amount $69,000,000 represented deferments of necessary appropriations, which would have to be provided for in deficiency estimates when Congress reconvenes "after the elections."

Representative Simmons said the cuts in the estimates of four appropriations bills represented a true saving of only $29,000,000 which might be increased to $34,000,000 or to $39,000,000 if it were possible to make good all of the savings which were expected of administrative officials.

He characterized the claimed savings as a bit of "legerdemain with bookkeeping" and, proclaiming his willingness to cut deeper into the Federal budget, asked "where are they going to get" the $243,000,000 savings which had been considered as a part of the budget-balancing program.

Mills Estimate Today.

The ways and means committee, with its tax program on the verge of final completion by the House sitting in committee of the whole, withheld final action awaiting a response from Secretary of the Treasury Mills to a request for a final estimate of the revenue which might be expected from the taxes put into the bill. Secretary Mills' estimate is expected to be submitted today.

There were a couple of fights in the course of the consideration of the bill on the floor of the House yesterday, but the result was a foregone conclusion.

The biggest battle was over the

MAN GIVEN 2 YEARS FOR TEA ROOM VICE

Chester Renzulli Is Found Guilty Under Mann Act in Bladensburg Case.

The first case growing out of the wholesale shooting at the Colonial Tea Room in Bladensburg, Md., and a subsequent investigation of vice conditions in Maryland and other Eastern States, yesterday resulted in the conviction of Chester Renzulli, of Philadelphia, on an indictment charging seven counts of violation of the Mann act. He was sentenced to two years in the Federal Penitentiary after the jury in United States Court in Baltimore, returned a guilty verdict on all seven counts.

Neil Burkinshaw, Washington attorney, who played a prominent part in the F. H. Smith Co. case, was appointed a special assistant to the Attorney General to allow him to participate in these cases. He acted as prosecutor yesterday.

Renzulli was remanded to jail after the trial to await prosecution next week on another charge of violating the Mann act, in which he is jointly indicted with a woman named Anna Lutz, of Baltimore.

He is also jointly indicted with seven others on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Mann act. This case will be brought to trial as soon as the separate cases against him are completed.

An 18-year-old girl, Josephine Schubert, was the star witness for the Government. She testified that Renzulli had taken her from Philadelphia to several places in Baltimore, to the Belle Grove Inn in Anne Arundel County, and finally to the Colonial Tea Room. She was at the latter resort when the shooting occurred.

One man was fatally wounded and

Four Men Are Executed At Sing Sing for Murder

Ossining, N. Y., March 31 (A.P.).—Four men were put to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing tonight in retribution for two holdup murders.

They were Peter Sardini, convicted of slaying Rocco Zappo in a Brooklyn robbery a year ago, and Dominic Scifo, 24; Michael Roadick, 20, and Walter Borowsky, 24, all condemned for the murder of Frank Pendlebury, a grocer in New York City.

RESCUERS SAVE BOY PRISONED AT MINE

Child, 3, Is Taken Alive From Drill Hole After 12-Hour Struggle.

Picher, Okla., March 31 (A.P.).—Three-year-old Gerald Collins was returned safely to his mother's arms tonight by a sweating crew of rescuers who dug through solid rock to pluck the boy from a narrow drill hole into which he fell nearly 12 hours earlier.

While thousands of spectators cheered, the boy, suffering from exposure and a few bruises, but to outward appearances not badly hurt, was placed in an ambulance and hurried to a Miami, Okla., hospital.

Gerald was found wedged tightly in the tapering hole into which he had tumbled, about 20 feet from the surface. The drill hole was at the Mary Ann Lead & Zinc Mine, two miles from Picher.

Doctors attending the child refused to discuss his condition at length, saying it would be morning before they could tell definitely if he was badly injured.

There was a possibility of pneu-

Pinchot Refuses Permit To Use Name for 1932

Harrisburg, Pa., March 31 (A.P.).—Gov. Pinchot today said he had telegraphed State Senator J. E. Bennett, of Portland, Oreg., that he would not permit his name to be used in the Oregon Republican presidential preferential primary election.

Senator Bennett last week wired the governor for permission to use his name.

Hoover Lists New Head Of U. S. Customs Court

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday accepted the resignation of Israel P. Fischer as presiding judge of the United States Customs Court, and named George M. Young, already a member of the court, to succeed him, effective today. Judge Fischer was 74 years old upon his retirement.

Fischer was appointed to the court in 1899 from New York by President McKinley. President Coolidge appointed Judge Young in 1924 after he had served in Congress from North Dakota.

Carewe, Movie Director, Bailed on Tax Indictment

"Maker of Stars" Is Accused of Evasion on Four Counts Involving $108,547 Over Period From 1926 to 1929.

Los Angeles, March 31 (A.P.).—Edwin Carewe, the "marker of movie stars," surrendered late today to an indictment charging him with evasion of the income tax law on four counts, involving a sum of $108,547.98. He was released on bond of $5,000.

The film director was named in an indictment returned secretly yesterday by a Federal grand jury.

"I'm no bookkeeper," Carewe said in the United States marshal's office, "and I have no idea what this is all about." He protested vigorously against fingerprinting, but submitted on the advice of his attorney.

Gwyn Redwine, assistant United States attorney, explained that the indictment arose from difficulties between Carewe and the Treasury Department over profits of a picture produced abroad, featuring Dolores Del Rio.

The accusation covers a period from 1926 to 1929. In 1926 it was alleged that the director's income was $96,027.82, and that he failed to pay $8,385. In 1927, he was accused of an evasion of $18,377 on an income of $133,845.

For 1928, it was alleged he failed to pay $67,399.75 on an income of $344,795.16, and an evasion of $24,386.23 was alleged on his income for 1929, which was placed at $150,081.95.

Carewe, often compared with his distinguished contemporary, D. W. Griffith, has directed such outstanding hits as "My Son," "Mighty Lak a Rose," "Resurrection," "Ramona," "Revenge," "Pals First" and "Evangeline." He is regarded as the discoverer of many players who have reached stardom, among them Miss Del Rio.

The director entered motion pictures sixteen years ago, after a notable career on the stage, where he played with Otis Skinner, Rose Coughlan, Laurette Taylor and the late Chauncey Olcott.

The indictment also named G. Wallace Forge, Hollywood income tax expert, who was accused of conspiring to make up false reports on Carewe's income. Authorities said he was expected to surrender tomorrow.

Forge was convicted in 1930 on a similar charge and was placed on probation for two years.

Aliens Barred From Work At Bowie Racing Track

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., March 31.—On the day before the opening of spring racing in the East at Bowie, immigration officials, in an inspection at the track today, clamped the lid on employment of aliens who are in this country illegally.

Two inspectors questioned between 300 and 400 applicants for positions at Bowie, which opens tomorrow, and rejected ten Canadians.

Leon R. Pouch, assistant commissioner of immigration, said the investigation was made at the order of the commissioner, Thomas B. R. Mudd, and that similar inspections would be made at each of the Maryland tracks.

Mr. Pouch pointed out that last year inspectors questioned employes at Bowie during a meet to eliminate aliens not entitled to work in the United States. This resulted in interference with operations of the track, he declared, and officials at Bowie requested that this year the inspection be made prior to the opening day.

The inspection last year was the first in five or six years, Mr. Pouch asserted, and was prompted by complaints from rejected applicants, residents of Maryland, who said preference had been shown Canadian workers.

Ten to fifteen Canadians here legally, will work at Bowie this year, Mortimer M. Mahoney, mutuel mana-

RAIDERS IN CHICAGO TRAP 6 BANK BANDITS

Recover Thousands in Loot; Guns Seized; Holdup Series Confessed.

Chicago, March 31 (A.P.).—Six members of a highly organized gang, accused of robbing scores of banks in Illinois, Wisconsin and other nearby States, were captured in a spectacular raid on their apartment house rendezvous tonight.

A detail of local detectives, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Arthur Bennett of Du Page County, Ill., burst into the place and overpowered the desperadoes before the latter could reach a well stocked gun rack. Thousands of dollars in loot was recovered and 29 weapons seized.

Four of those arrested were identified as Mickey Yaro, Frank Salber, Ed Hallgren, and Edward Bennett, all with records as robbers. Names of the other two were not revealed. Three more are being sought.

About $15,000 in currency and several thousand dollars worth of securities were found in the hangout, in Suburban Forest Park, which was rented by Yaro. Thirteen shotguns, four revolvers, and 12 automatic pistols were seized.

The men were rushed to the detective bureau where the four named confessed to participating in six Illinois bank robberies and two in Wisconsin, in which more than $70,000 was obtained.

Officials said they had evidence linking the men with scores of other robberies and estimated the amount obtained at a quarter of a million dollars.

Bankers of nearby States whose

Extra Fares Abolished By Pennsylvania Lines

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—Extra fares on all their trains except the Twentieth Century Limited and the Broadway Limited will be abolished April 24, the New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroads announced today.

On the same date the running time of the Century and the Broadway between New York and Chicago will be cut from 20 to 18 hours. All extra fares on a time basis will be eliminated, but the two 18-hour trains will carry a special charge of $10, in addition to the regular fare.

SMITH URGES BONDS TO WHIP DEPRESSION

Asks Prosperity Issue Along With 4 Per Cent Beer; Jobless Policy Hit.

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith called for 4 per cent beer and prosperity bonds to relieve the country's economic ills tonight. He said he spoke as a "citizen once honored with the nomination for the Presidency of the United States."

Mr. Smith spoke freely on national affairs. He advanced a six point tax program calculated to balance the Federal budget and chided the Federal Government for what he termed an indifference toward the whole question of unemployment.

"They seem to regard it," he said, "as something that is just too bad and cannot be helped."

Mr. Smith, speaking over the radio, said his program would serve the dual purpose of relieving unemployment and balancing the budget at the same time. He suggested an issue of prosperity bonds, "just as we issued liberty bonds during the World War," to foster an expanded public works construction program.

Bonding the cost of the $500,000,000 public works program for 1933, he said, would eliminate one-third of the deficit.

Another third of the deficiency could be made up, he said, by a tax upon beer. He urged Congress to enact a "reasonable and sensible" definition of what constitutes an intoxicating beverage and suggested that 4 per cent would be "well within any fair

Oklahoma Oil Prices Again Boosted to $1

Oklahoma City, March 31 (A.P.).—Dollar oil will return to the mid-continent area tomorrow after a long absence, but buyers today were hesitant and only a part of the purchasing companies have met the new price posted by the Continental Oil Co.

Bolstered by speculation on the general 15-cent increase, the gasoline and refined oil markets held their strength during the day. Retail prices of gasoline were scheduled for a 1-cent increase, which failed to materialize and seemed likely to await a general upturn in prices.

House Body Favors Tearing Down Damaged Ross School

The House District appropriations subcommittee yesterday virtually decided to tear down the damaged and antiquated Ross Elementary School rather than spend $40,000 in renovating it, Chairman Clarence Cannon (Democrat), Missouri, made known last night.

This course was recommended by the Engineer Commissioner's office, which made extensive investigations at the site after discovery of fissures not only in the Ross School but in the adjacent Wilson Teachers College.

District engineers recommended the subcommitte spend $120,000 of unexpended balances in restoring the Wilson Teachers College to its former condition of safety. The latter structure has been vacant since discovery of "dangerous" weaknesses in walls and foundations.

Decision to tear down the Ross School met with the approval of Superintendent of Schools Frank W. Ballou at yesterday's hearings.

He disclosed that elementary schools in the neighborhood are not overcrowded. Lacking unexpected increases in the school population of that section, other elementary buildings can absorb the Ross enrollment, he said.

As the Ross School is not in a dangerous condition, despite discovery of a few cracks, it may be possible to continue its operations without re-

TWO RAIL LINES ASK $55,000,000 OF U. S.

Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio Seek Huge Sum for Improvements.

(United Press.)

Two great Eastern railroads, the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore & Ohio, have asked the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for the greatest sums—$55,000,000 each. Other applications vary down to as low as $25,000.

Loan proposals of some smaller roads might bring the Government directly into the railroad business if the money could not be repaid, but that could scarcely be said to have any effect on policy in connection with the great carriers.

The Alabama Central railroad wants $25,000. Its application, submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission, which makes recommendations to the Finance Corporation, offers as security a section of the railroad itself. There are offered 14.34 miles of track and right of way, 1.24 miles of yards and sidings and a depot and office buildings at Jasper, Ala. This loan has not been approved so far.

Would Cover Electrification.

The $55,000,000 sought by the Pennsylvania is for electrification of the line from New York to Washington at a cost of $47,000,000 and improvements in Newark, Philadelphia and Baltimore. Security offered consists of 300,000 shares of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad, par value $100, and 362,000 shares of the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway, par $100. This application has not been acted upon, nor has that of the Baltimore & Ohio. Authorized capital stock of the Pennsylvania aggregates $870,000,000.

It appears to be the purpose of the commission in approving loans to restrict, so far as possible, advances of Federal funds merely to relieve banks of their railway securities. The commission indicates such to be its policy.

Loan Continuance Assumed.

President Hoover's statement on railway financing said financial necessities of important lines in 1932 would be from $300,000,000 to $400,000,000 and that the Railway Credit Corporation would provide a minimum of $50,000,000 to $60,000,000. Mr. Hoover "assumed" many bank loans would be continued and that recourse to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation would be less than had been expected.

However, 48 roads already have requested an aggregate of $349,168,000, of which $56,191,000 has been approved by the commission. The finance corporation may reduce the commission's recommendations but may not increase them. The corporation does not make public individual loans.

Gandhi's Adopted Child Sentenced to 2 Months

Surat, India, March 31 (A.P.).—Mahatma Gandhi's adopted daughter, Bai Laxmi, was sentenced to two months' imprisonment today at hard labor for activities in the civil disobedience campaign.

She is 18 years old and was adopted by the mahatma 15 years ago. She was an orphan.

Contract for Veterans' Hospital Is Terminated

Canandaigua, N. Y., March 31 (A.P.).—The L. Balkin Co., of Chicago, building a veterans' hospital here for treatment of neuro-psychiatric cases, received word today from the Veterans' Bureau at Washington that its contract has been terminated for failure "to so prosecute the work as to insure its completion by the time stipulated."

The building is about 82 per cent finished. Originally, the contract called for completion of the project March 11, last, but several extensions were granted. The building is to cost $1,286,324.

Chamber Attacks Present Cab Status

Urges House Committee Not to Interfere in Meter Ruling.

Declaring that the present system of operating taxicabs in Washington is highly disorganized and a menace to public safety, the Washington Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting of its executive board yesterday, urged that the House District committee not interfere with the Public Utilities Commission in its action requiring all taxis to install meters.

The present lack of regulation in the taxi business can not continue, the chamber pointed out, without great danger to the general public. Drivers, in order to realize a profit, must work many hours overtime, thus impairing their ability to drive safely, it was declared.

The Public Utilities Commission was created to handle just such matters as now face a business upon which the public must rely and place confidence, the chamber said. It was urged that a letter be written to Representative Mary T. Norton, chairman of the House District committee, seeking her support in the matter.

Wife of Olcott Arrives In New York With Body

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—Mrs. Chauncey Olcott, bringing the body of her husband, the famous singer of old-time ballads who died in Monaco March 17, arrived tonight aboard the liner Conte Biancamano.

The body was taken from the ship to the St. Regis Hotel, where it will lie in state until Saturday morning, when it will be removed to St. Patrick's Cathedral for funeral services at noon. Mrs. Olcott was accompanied by her adopted daughter, Janet, 15, and her adopted son, who is an instructor in Heidelberg University.

SENATE HAWAII VICE REPORT SET MONDAY

Mitchell Lauds Richardson for Thorough Quiz on Law Enforcement.

(Associated Press.)

Attorney General Mitchell yesterday announced he will report to the Senate on law enforcement in the Territory of Hawaii on Monday.

He commended the work of Assistant Attorney General Seth W. Richardson, who headed the force making the inquiry ordered by the Senate following a series of sensational cases, including attacks upon women.

"They did a very thorough job," Mr. Mitchell said. "They went at it hammer and tongs."

The report includes fifteen volumes of typewritten testimony by witnesses to Richardson and his staff. It is one of the most exhaustive made by the department in recent years.

Whether the report directly touches the case of Mrs. Granville Fortescue and other Americans accused of killing a native in retaliation for an attack upon Mrs. Fortescue's daughter, Mr. Mitchell did not say.

He declined to discuss the subject matter at all. He did say that an outline which he prepared, advising subjects for general lines of the inquiry, such as the working of the Hawaiian jury system, the handling of prohibition and narcotic cases, had been followed.

"And then they added some more," Mr. Mitchell said.

Richardson organized his staff into subcommittees, each of which went exhaustively into one subject and made a detailed report. Then the Assistant Attorney General wrote his own conclusions. A summary of the report is being prepared. It will be made public along with the document when the Senate receives it.

Flynn Testifies And Dodges Jail

Denies He Directly Used Position in New York to Enrich Self.

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—Dodging a jail sentence for contempt, William J. Flynn, public works commissioner in the Bronx, reversed his rebellious stand today and answered willingly the questions of the Hostadter investigating committee.

He submitted meekly to examination by Counsel Samuel Seabury and resumed his testimony where he broke off several days ago with a demand to inject a statement of his own before replying to further questions. Supreme Court Justice John Ford had certified him for contempt and stood ready to send him to jail if he did not recant.

Flynn thereupon testified that he felt "no pangs of conscience" in using his public office to recommend the paving of a street on which he built garages that ultimately brought him $30,000 a year in rent, but denied he had directly used his position to enrich himself.

Scottsboro Records Forwarded to Berlin

(Associated Press.)

At the request of the American Consul General in Berlin, the State Department has obtained from Gov. Miller of Alabama records of the court action in the Scottsboro, Ala., case which resulted in the sentencing of seven Negroes to death.

Liberal groups in Germany have protested against the execution of the Negroes, and the State Department forwarded the court records for the information of consular officers in that country.

DENVER KIDNAP CASE IN HANDS OF JURORS

Counsel for 3 Accused Men Labels Bower's Story of Abduction "Fishy."

Denver, March 31 (A.P.).—The Benjamin P. Bower kidnaping case was given to the jury late today after a day of argument in which Bower's story of his abduction was called "fishy" and the alibis of the three defendants were attacked by State's attorneys.

Under the instructions of the court the three defendants, George Reed, Art Taylor and Joe Pannell, may be acquitted or convicted of kidnaping.

No alternative verdicts were given the jurors. The extreme penalty for kidnaping under Colorado law is seven years imprisonment.

Bower, bakery company executive, was kidnaped January 19, and released five days later without payment of the demanded $50,000 ransom.

Charles T. Mahoney, defense attorney, declared in his closing argument that the kidnaping story "looks fishy to me." The kidnapers, had they been after ransom, would hardly have kidnaped two women before going to the Bower home, he declared.

The abductors forced themselves into a car occupied by two women and compelled the women to accompany them to the Bower home.

The story that the kidnapers ordered Mrs. Bower to get $50,000 from Stephen Knight, Bower's employer, was also assailed by Mahoney, who declared "genuine kidnapers would have chosen a victim who could pay his own ransom without appealing to any one else."

Alibis of the three defendants that they were at a drinking party at the home of Reed at the time of the kidnaping were attacked as unsupported by James T. Burke, deputy district attorney.

The fact that a ransom note dictated to Bower and sent to his wife ordered that the money be paid to "the biggst bootlegger in North Denver," clearly indicated the kidnapers were acquainted in bootlegging circles, Burke said. He added the liquor law violation records of the three men made them the logical authors of such a note.

Thousands Return To Work in Mines

Threats to Fill Strikers' Jobs in Pennsylvania Brings Response.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., March 31 (A.P.).—Mine owners and union leaders tonight agreed that the threat of operators immediately to fill the jobs of strikers in the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania had sent thousands of men back to the mines today.

A careful check by several newspapers in both the upper and lower regions bore out their claims that all mines scheduled to operate today were in production. The strike was called March 7 to force equalization of work at all mines. It was denounced by union leaders.

All mines in both regions will close tomorrow on orders of union leaders in commemoration of the granting of an eight-hour day to miners. This is a yearly holiday.

In spite of widespread resumption of work, insurgent leaders went ahead with their plans to establish a general mine board strike headquarters in Shamokin or Shenandoah and to send to Gov. Pinchot a petition signed by 5,000 miners asking him to appoint a commission to investigate the anthracite industry in Pennsylvania.

2 FINANCIAL PROBES PROMISED IN SENATE

Stock Market Hearings to Begin Next Week; Glass Charges Bank Plot.

(Associated Press.)

Two financial investigations were promised yesterday by the Senate banking committee as it began consideration of modifications in the Glass banking revision bill.

Chairman Norbeck, of the committee, announced that hearings would be started early next week on the stock market inquiry ordered by the Senate recently.

Senator Glass (Democrat), Virginia, author of the banking bill and chairman of a subcommittee which drafted it, obtained unanimous approval of the subcommittee for an investigation of what he termed a "banking conspiracy" against the legislation.

Despite the almost united attack on the banking bill by banking interests, the subcommittee is determined to support it. However, it will make some modifications, although these probably will not meet all the criticisms of the bankers.

Because of the controversy hovering over the measure, there is doubt of its enactment at this session.

Administration leaders who have sponsored the stock market investigation noted carefully yesterday's crash in stock market prices. The administration is convinced that a group of professional short sellers has been deliberately driving down prices. There was no inclination yesterday, however, to attribute the latest collapse in security prices to bear raiders entirely.

Next week's work by the banking committee on the stock market inquiry will be principally of a preliminary nature, including the employment of counsel and experts. There is a determination to go through with the investigation, although Senator Walcott (Republican), Connecticut, who sponsored it, has given assurance that it will not seek at sensationalism.

Senator Glass is just as determined to find out the facts of what he believes was an organized conspiracy by the Nation's banking interests against his bill. His subcommittee has full authority to make the study into his complaint. No time has been set for this.

"The committee is determined," said Senator Glass, "to find out who instigated this concerted attack on the bill."

The Virginia senator took a parting shot yesterday at James Francis Burke, former Republican member of the House, who protested against provisions of the bill in behalf of the Pittsburgh Clearing House.

Senator Glass said that Mr. Burke said he supported the Federal Reserve act after changes were made in the legislation. He said yesterday to newspapermen that the record showed that Mr. Burke voted against adoption of the final report on the legislation.

Pittsburgh, March 31 (A.P.).—James Francis Burke, counsel for the Republican national committee, said tonight that he is "more amused than offended at what Senator Carter Glass said about me in Washington."

The Virginia Democrat today asserted the Pittsburgher had testified falsely before the Senate banking and currency committee when appearing as a witness against the Glass bill amending the Federal Reserve act.

World Fight Seen On Tariff of U. S.

Connally Pictures Nations Intensifying Battle for Trade.

(Associated Press.)

A world-wide economic war on the United States as a result of the Smoot-Hawley tariff law was pictured to the Senate yesterday by Senator Connally (Democrat), Texas.

Carrying on the political debate which has revolved around the Democratic tariff bill to strip the President of tariff-making powers, Connally said

"The whole world is in economic arms against the people and the commerce of the United States in retaliation for the tariff law."

When Connally concluded, Senator Fess proceeded to read a long list of articles on which he said the Texan has voted to increase the duty.

3,150 Will Get Jobs In Cleveland Plants

Cleveland, March 31 (A.P.).—Three companies here will provide work soon for 3,150 men, most of them former employes, it was announced today.

Ford Motor Co. will hire 1,600 in its assembly plant; New York Central Line will call back 1,300 to its locomotive shops in Collinwood after a two-week layoff, and Greyhound Bus Lines will employ 250 as drivers.

Shot Through Trousers, Duelist Escapes Injury

Bucharest, Roumania, March 31 (A.P.).—Mihail Sturza, prominent journalist, was shot through his trousers by Grigoire Filepescu, chief of the Roumanian Fascists, in a pistol duel today, in which neither was wounded.

Afterward Filepescu, widely known as a sportsman and duelist, took on Georges Bratianu, Liberal leader and head of one of the most famous families of politicians in Roumania. In this duel there was no damage at all.

The duels arose from an article in the newspaper Miscare. The article, written by Sturza, became a source of contention between Filepescu and Bratianu. The encounters today were watched by a crowd of astonished peasants, as well as members of some of Roumania's most aristocratic families.

EJECTED STUDENTS MAKE PLEA FOR QUIZ

Group of Senators Told of Kentucky's Barring of "Relief" Body.

(Associated Press.)

Affirming charges of a "reign of terror and starvation" in the Kentucky coal fields, spokesmen for a number of Eastern college students ejected from that State yesterday pressed before a group of senators a plea for a Federal investigation.

As an answer to their declarations they had been prevented by force from making the inquiry they set out for, Senator Logan (Democrat), Kentucky, told them he had been advised that any college which desired could send students into Kentucky to investigate.

Bob Hall, of Columbia University, leader of the students, headed the delegation that appeared before the senators, including Costigan (Democrat), Colorado, coauthor with Cutting (Republican), New Mexico, of a resolution for a senatorial inquiry, and Copeland (Democrat), New York.

Tells of Ejection.

W. B. Smith, attorney of Bell County, Ky., and a group of deputy sheriffs and a crowd of about 250 met the students at Cumberland Gap, where they entered the State, Hall said, and asked them to go back.

The students declined, he continued, and told Smith their object was to study "the conflict in the Kentucky mine fields."

He added as explanation for the senators that "here the miners charge a reign of terror exists and that starvation is the level of living," continuing with the remark he "felt these charges are true."

"We were not able to make the investigation because of the illegal acts of officials who forcibly prevented us," Hall said, urging a Federal investigation on these grounds:

Actions of officials; violations of Constitutional rights; actions of coal mine operators, and the consequences of the three on the miners.

Other Students Speak.

Hall, Miss Eleanor Curtis, of Columbia University; Gabriel Carritt, an Oxford graduate; Leonard E. Mins, of Columbia; Joseph M. Lebott, of New York University; Herbert E. Robbins, of Harvard, and a group of others spoke before the senators.

Little Rock, Ark., March 31 (A.P.).—A delegation of five students and instructors of Commonwealth College, labor leader training institution at Mena, Ark., addressed a small crowd on a downtown street today in behalf of their relief mission to the Kentucky coal fields and then left for Memphis, Tenn., the next stop in their itinerary.

In a space cleared for them by two policemen assigned to the task by Mayor Horace Knowlton, each member of the delegation, headed by Lucien Koch, 24-year-old director of the college, spoke briefly of their plans to enter Harlan and Bell County mining sections in Kentucky to bring aid to "starving miners."

Limiting of Narcotics Is Approved by Senate

(Associated Press.)

The Senate yesterday ratified a convention limiting the manufacture and regulating the distribution of narcotics. It was signed by 43 nations at Geneva July 13, 1931.

Senator Robinson (Democrat), Arkansas, said it is "believed to represent a distinct forward movement" in controlling the traffic in drugs. He explained that its principal provision is that no shipment of narcotics be received in a signatory country without a certificate showing its necessity for medicinal use.

HOARDED MONEY'S RETURN CONTINUES

Simultaneous Increase in Gold Reserve Hailed as Encouraging.

(Associated Press.)

A continued return of hoarded money, another increase in the country's gold stock were hailed here yesterday as encouraging factors in the week's financial affairs.

The Federal Reserve Board in its weekly review said that money in circulation in the Nation had decreased $44,000,000, making the total circulation on March 30 amount to $5,436,000,000. The additional shrinkage accounted for a $195,000,000 decrease in circulation since President Hoover began his antihoarding campaign.

Money in circulation includes all of the money outside of the Treasury not held by Federal Reserve agents and the shrinkage is attributed chiefly to return of hoarded funds to the banks from which they found their way back into the Treasury. The total, however, was $816,000,000 greater than it was on the same date a year ago.

The monetary gold stock of the Nation on March 30 amounted to $4,388,000,000 an increase of $7,000,000 in the last week. This increase followed increases for the three previous weeks, last week of $7,000,000 and the two weeks before $12,000,000 each.

Brokers' loans increased $1,000,900 during the week to $525,000,000 but still were just a third as large as they were a year ago when the loans amounted to $1,875,000,000.

The Federal Reserve Board also reported that the daily average volume of Federal Reserve Bank credit outstanding during the week was $1,599,000,000, an increase of $3,000,000 in the week and of $680,000,000 compared with the same week in 1931. The decrease in money in circulation and of monetary gold brought a decrease in the total reserve bank credit for the week which dropped $10,000,000 to $1,587,000,000.

Tribesmen Oppose Islands Freedom

Petitions Against Measure Are Signed by 2,000 Mohammedans.

(Associated Press.)

Petitions opposing independence of the Philippines and signed by some 2,000 "datus," or headmen of Moro tribes, have been received by Secretary Hurley.

Whether he should submit the petitions to Congress, before which Philippine independence legislation is now pending, is under consideration.

Hurley said yesterday he was fearful "of the consequences" if the names of those who oppose Philippine independence should be made public. In order to avert trouble between the Christian and Mohammedan Filipinos, he said, he may forward to Congress publicly only the text of the petitions and offer the names of signers in executive sessions.

The Moros are Mohammedans living in Mindinao and the Sulu Archipelago.

Chicago Summer Opera To Cease Performances

Chicago, March 31 (A.P.).—There will be no summer opera in the outdoor Garden of Ravinia this year, Louis Eckstein, impresario and owner of the North Shore Opera Company, announced today his decision to abandon the summer performances because of "existing economic conditions."

He hopes that Ravinia opera may be resumed in 1933. The first interruption in the pavilion's twenty years follows a season in which Mr. and Mrs. Eckstein spent $187,884 to absorb the deficit. Other guarantors contributed $91,945.

Couzens Bus Bill Hearings Closed

Rail and Farmer Groups Indorse Measure for I. C. C. Authority.

(Associated Press.)

The Senate interstate commerce committee yesterday closed its hearings on a bill by Chairman Couzens (Republican), Michigan, for Federal regulation of interstate buses and trucks.

Mr. Couzens said the committee would take up the bill in executive session in about ten days to decide upon a report to the Senate. At the closing hearing, the bill was advocated by J. A. Farquharson, representing the 21 railway labor organizations, and William Hirth, of Columbia, Mo., president of the State Farmers Association.

Mr. Farquharson told the committee that the railroads would eventually be forced into Government ownership unless other forms of transportation are regulated, Mr. Hirth said that "when we get to the point where every trucker is a law unto himself when he crosses a State line, something has to be done."

TEARING DOWN ROSS SCHOOL ADVOCATED

pair for a year or more, witnesses said.

Engineers testified that the Ross, an eight-room structure built in 1905, only cost $35,000 originally. They thought it would not be good economy to spend more than that amount to repair it, especially as a new school of the same size could be erected for $80,000.

Members said the matter was altogether an "engineering problem" and there was little for them to do but accept the report, on which all local authorities appeared agreed. Supplemental estimates sent to Congress by President Hoover called for appropriations of $160,000 from unexpended balances for repairs to both the Ross School and Wilson Teachers' College.

1,000 Jobless Tie Up Traffic.

Warsaw, Poland, March 31 (A.P.).—About 1,000 dismissed snow-shovelers flabbergasted the police of Warsaw today by flopping on the trolley tracks in front of city hall and refusing to budge until they were employed by the city. They remained there for half an hour, tying up traffic, until the police applied force after coaxing had failed.

THOMAS HITS STAND OF HOOVER ON BONUS

'Hardly Good Taste to Veto Bill in Advance of Hearings,' View.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover's action in "vetoing" a soldiers bonus bill before its passage by Congress was challenged in the Senate yesterday by Senator Thomas (Democrat), Oklahoma.

"The President saw fit to veto in advance a bill not yet passed," Thomas said. "It is hardly good taste to veto a bill in advance of hearings on it or its passage."

The Oklahoman said the demand for cash payment of the bonus did not become audible until after Congress appropriated $2,000,000,000 for "loans to big business."

"There were no commitments for loans to life insurance companies, railroads and banks," Thomas added.

Criticizes Hyde.

The Senator also referred to Secretary Hyde's criticism of loans to farmers made by his department under the reconstruction finance act.

"It is bad taste for departments of the Government to criticize laws passed by Congress," Thomas said.

Representative Fish (Republican), New York, on leaving the White House yesterday, said he had informed President Hoover he believed the possibilities of the adoption of new bonus legislation by the House had been shunted aside by the Chief Executive's recent statement opposing such legislation.

He characterized proposals by Representatives Patman (Democrat), of Texas, and Rankin (Democrat), of Mississippi, that new currency be issued to make new bonus payments as "too absurd to discuss."

Attack on Bonus Plan.

"I understand the Secretary of the Treasury has suggested if such notes are issued they carry the picture of Representative Patman on one side," Fish said. "My amendment would be that they place Rankin's picture on the other side.

"Rankin's statement that all that is necessary is to issue new paper money was inconceivable to me. The same principle would apply to balancing the budget, and if his argument bore any weight we would only have to issue new money to balance the budget."

Fish said he had told the President it was his opinion that over one-half of the veterans in the House were opposed to additional bonus legislation, adding he believed that "any attempt to appropriate $2,400,000,000 for this purpose in the present national emergency would knock the props from under the entire program of national economy and would destroy economic confidence."

Condition of Vestal Held 'Satisfactory'

(Associated Press.)

The condition of Representative Albert H. Vestal, of Indiana, confined to the Naval Hospital following a heart attack, was described as "satisfactory."

Capt. Percival Rossiter said the Republican whip "passed a comfortable night." "Mr. Vestal's condition is as satisfactory as could be expected;" Capt. Rossiter said. "He is getting along all right." Representative Vestal went to the hospital Wednesday and is expected to remain for several weeks for rest and observation.

Federal Jobs Service Called Waste of Funds

(Associated Press.)

Miss Frances Perkins, New York industrial commissioner, testified before the Senate commerce committee yesterday that the functioning of the Federal employment service "involves a wicked waste of the taxpayers' money."

Urging approval of the Wagner bill for a national employment system, vetoed by President Hoover last year, Miss Perkins said the present system of which she is a part, is a duplication of State service and therefore "simply wasted effort."

Kellogg, With White Spats, Pays State Department Call

Spring came to the State Department yesterday when the first pair of white spats of the season made their appearance outside the office of Undersecretary of State William R. Castle, jr.

The spats shod the delicate, aristocratic feet of none other than Frank Billings Kellogg, erstwhile Secretary of State of the United States and now American member of the Permanent Court of International Justice, otherwise known as the World Court. Mr. Kellogg was paying a call to his former assistant.

The vision of Mr. Kellogg in white spats startled the old habitues of the seat of American Weltpolitik. That the doughty David who had railed against the nefarious cult of "white-spatism" should have fallen a victim of the very disease he had preached against was, indeed, a sad and gloomy thought. They were filled with a wild surmise. Had he gone completely "white spat?" Would he have a vacant stare and a chilly hand for those with whom he once had labored?

Mr. Kellogg's hearty grip, his joyous air and his abounding friendliness was an answer to all that.

The best golfer-Secretary of State the United States has ever had was in rare form. At three score and sixteen he was as young and vigorous as he ever was in his tenure of office as Cabinet member.

"What do you think of the World Court?" some one asked him.

"Do you think that a member of the court could answer that question?" he parried with all his old-time fire.

The former Secretary of State sadly recalled the death of Aristide Briand and the part he had played in the signing of the now famous pact of Paris, or Kellogg-Briand pact by which the names of the two statesmen will forever be linked.

Mr. Kellogg will leave shortly for The Hague to attend the spring meeting of the court. The other members of the court as it is now constituted include the presiding justice, M. Adatci, of Japan; the vice president, Senor J. G. Guerrero, of El Salvador; Senor Altimira, of Spain; Senor de Bustemante, of Cuba; W. J. M. van Eysinga, of Holland; Henri Fromageot, of France; Sir Cecil Hurst, of Great Britain; D. Negulesco, of Roumania; Baron Jacquemyns, of Belgium; Count Rostworowski, of Poland; Dr. W. Ship Cut and Stamp Rise Seen Road to Prosperity

By JOHN J. DALY

As rates of foreign and domestic postage increases, on account of the new tax, the steamship lines slash fares to Europe, the scale of reduction ranging from 10 to 50 per cent.

Now, all any one needs to do, wanting to take a trip abroad, is to stop writing letters and buy steamship accommodations with his postal savings.

It is computed that an increase in first-class postage rates, from 2 to 3 cents, will bring about an increase in revenues amounting to $135,000,000.

The new steamship schedule brings the price of the average ticket to Europe within the reach of all—about $100 for a one-way trip.

* * * *

An increase in oceanic travel, at this time, aside from the fact that it would save several steamship lines from the embarrassment of bankruptcy, would bring prosperity to Europe.

Those European nations that are so anxious, even overly anxious, to get money to pay their debts to Uncle Sam would receive the money to pay these debts. Should they pay the debts, the American money that went to Europe out of the postal savings would come home again, bringing prosperity with it. Thus, all hands—including Uncle Sam, who lost in the first instance—would be benefited.

America, losing $135,000,000 in revenue which it might have got from increased postage, but did not get because people stopped writing first-class letters and went to Europe instead, would probably double its revenues at the customs, the customers bringing back knick-knacks from Europe, all taxable.

* * * *

It is easily seen, from this, that an increase of ocean travel would return prosperity to Europe. Europe, having money, would pay its debt to Uncle Sam. America, losing the revenues from increased postage, would more than make up for it in reduced rates of steamship travel, and all would be happy again!

It is probably the first sign of prosperity coming around the corner.

The wonder is, with every one trying to find a way out, that no one thought of this before. Though it looks like the old Navy game, of "now you see it and now you don't," it is just as simple as trying to get a passport vised.

MAIL PILOT KILLED IN FOG ENCOUNTER

Saves Pouches by Turning Off Ignition Before Crash Near Cleveland.

Cleveland, March 31 (A.P.).—Pilot Forest Malick, 24, gambled his life against the weather and lost today.

Malick, flying the night mail from New York to Cleveland, fell to death in a farmer's field near Bedford, Cleveland suburb, early today when he ran into a blinding fog, rain and snow.

Carrying 1,000 pounds of mail, he left the Newark, N. J., airport at 10:15 p. m. yesterday. Shortly after midnight he arrived at Bellefonte, Pa., and climbed out of his ship to ask about the weather the rest of the way.

He was told it was thickening, but he had flown the night mail on the New York-Cleveland run for the last eight months and decided he could make it through.

At 2:30 a. m., only a half an hour from the end of the run, he was reported over the airport at Parkman, Ohio. A few minutes later he ran into an early morning storm, and farmers, hearing a plane flying low with its engine "missing," called police of Bedford and nearby towns. Several hours later his body was found in the wreckage of his plane.

He was flying only a few hundred feet from the ground because of the low ceiling and apparently did not have time to use his parachute, which was still strapped on his back. He saved the mail, however, by switching off the ignition, thus preventing a fire.

Malick formerly played baseball with the University of Purdue. He made his home in Newark, but was a native of Seymour, Ind. He had joined the United Air Lines after receiving his pilot's training at the Army station at Selfridge Field, Mich.

STRIKE BEGUN TODAY BY 75,000 MINERS

Part of West Virginia, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana Are Affected.

Chicago, March 31 (A.P.).—Approximately 75,000 members of the United Mine Workers in the bituminous operations in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and part of West Virginia will be jobless tomorrow.

Midnight tonight was the hour for suspension of operations in the entire unionized Illinois field, throwing between 43,000 and 46,000 men out of work. Failure of the joint scale conference of miners at the Illinois Coal Operators Association to agree on a new contract brought the suspension.

In Indiana, the deep vein operations centered in the western part of the State around Terre Haute and Linton met the same fate. The scale conference was adjourned two weeks ago and neither side since then made any moves. Four thousand or so miners gain livelihoods in the deep shaft mines.

The Indiana strip mines planned to continue work under the existing scale.

In the Ohio fields and the union operations in the West Virginia Panhandle, some 25,000 diggers were thrown out of work by a strike, effective tonight at midnight, called by the district United Mine Workers' officials after failure to reach a settlement of the differences in the Hocking Valley field, where operators effected a reduced scale.

No trouble was expected in any of the suspended bituminous fields.

In Illinois, both members of the miners scale committee and the Illinois Coal Operators Association insisted that the suspension was neither a shutout nor a strike, but "merely" a discontinuance of operations until a new contract was signed.

The subcommittee of Illinois operators and diggers continued its deliberations.

Ironically, tomorrow is a miners' holiday, in celebration of the signing, 34 years ago, of the first agreement, including an 8-hour day.

Living Above Income, Accused Man Ends Life

San Francisco, March 31 (A.P.).—Leo Harkins, 30, of Honolulu, who inherited the income from a $300,000 estate last year, shot and killed himself here today while facing a charge of having failed to pay a $900 bill incurred at a dude ranch near Reno, Nev.

Frank Thompson, attorney for Harkins at Honolulu, said his client was suffering from alcoholism and lately had been spending far more than the income from the trust fund.

PARLEY IN BRUSSELS SLASHES SHIP FARES

North Atlantic Conference Lines Agree to Cut of 20 Per Cent.

Brussels, March 31 (A.P.).—Steamship lines in the North Atlantic conference agreed to reduce transatlantic passenger fares 20 per cent today in line with a similar cut by American shipping companies.

Delegates to the conference accepted the American proposal and then adjourned until another meeting planned for some time in April, probably in London.

Curtailment of the present sailing schedules and of the number of liners in the service is expected to be considered by that conference in an effort to further relieve the economic situation brought about by a falling off in ocean trave..

Simultaneous with the action of the Brussels meeting, the French, Hamburg-American and North German Lloyd lines announced a 20 per cent reduction in first-class fares on their vessels in the North Atlantic service and a 10 per cent cut in their third-class rates. The 20 per cent slash also applied to second-class in the German lines and to the cabin class on the French ships.

The United States, Cunard and White Star Lines previously had announced similar reductions. The proposal for lower fares, which came from the American shipping interests, who are not members of the North Atlantic Conference, encountered opposition from most of the European lines.

A dispatch from Paris quoted a high official of the French Line as saying the company regarded the reduction as uneconomic and unjustified, but that the French line was forced into it by the action of the others. He estimated that his line would lose almost 100,000,000 francs ($4,000,000) a year as a consequence.

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—An additional 10 per cent reduction in third-class passenger rates was announced tonight by the Cunard and Anchor Lines.

The new rates bring third-class passage to Europe down to $64.50 on express steamers. The round-trip fare is $116. The rates are somewhat lower on smaller ships of both the Cunard and Anchor Lines.

Six Capital Students On Harvard Honor List

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, March 31.—Six students at Harvard College, Cambridge, Mass., from Washington, D. C., are among the limited body of leading scholars whose names appear on the dean's list of honor, made public today. This year the total list of honor students represents but 21.1 per cent of the undergraduate enrollment.

Included in the Washington honor delegation are Samuel Spencer, junior at Harvard; J. L. Burling, J. T. Black, A. E. Phillips and T. E. Naughten, all sophomores, and C. L. Barber, freshman. Barber's achievement was made more impressive by the fact that the freshman class trailed the seniors, juniors and sophomores in honor student totals.

Hut of Recluse Yields Bonds Worth Thousands

Ridgway, Pa., March 31 (A.P.).—Securities worth thousands of dollars were found in the cold, dark shack where Alfred Carlson, 65, died after years of self-imposed privation. Carlson's body today is in a casket that cost $1,000. For years he had bought only overripe fruit and stale bread for food.

A search of Carlson's hut brought to light $35,000 in Liberty bonds, building and loan stock and other investments. He had been employed as a night watchman at a shop until a few years ago. The man was not married. He is believed to have a brother and sister in Sweden.

Creditors' Groups Quit in Moratorium.

Budapest, Hungary, March 31 (A.P.).—The moratorium which prevents creditors from pressing debtors has forced two of the oldest creditors' protective associations of Hungary to suspend and dismiss all employes. They are national and textile protective associations, both of which have been in business more than 50 years. Together they dismissed 126 workers.

COOLIDGE SETTLES IN INSURANCE 'SLUR'

St. Louis Agent Drops Suit on $2,500 Payment and Apology.

St. Louis, March 31 (A.P.).—An apology and a check for $2,500 received from former President Calvin Coolidge today stopped a $100,000 damage suit against the former President by Lewis B. Tebbetts, St. Louis insurance man, who claimed his business reputation was injured by one of Coolidge's radio utterances.

In a radio speech last October, former President Coolidge said:

"Beware of the so-called 'twister' and 'abstractor' or any agent who offers to save money for you by replacing your policy in another company."

Tebbetts said that his reputation as "the leading advocate in the United States of the so-called term life insurance policies" was injured by the address.

J. Porter Henry, attorney for Tebbetts, said Everett Sanders, the former President's attorney, conferred with Tebbetts last month and it was agreed to drop the suit if Mr. Coolidge would apologize and reimburse Tebbetts for his legal expenses. Today a check for $2,500 was received with the letter from the former President. Mr. Coolidge's letter to Tebbetts follows:

"Since making my radio address on October 6, 1931, in which I advised regarding the substitution of new life insurance for old, facts have come to my attention which indicate that you think some of the statements which I made might be construed by your friends and acquaintances as reflecting upon you and the plan of insurance you are advocating.

"I had no knowledge of the controversy relating to the plan of insurance you are advocating and therefore my statements could not have had that comprehension or intent, and any such construction would be entirely incorrect. I assure you that no personal offense was intended."

The New York Life Insurance Co., of which Coolidge was a director, was jointly named in the summons.

Gas-Electric Motor Car To Make Long Rail Run

Chicago, March 31 (A.P.).—A new phase in railroading will be introduced tomorrow on the Chicago Great Western Railroad, a gas-electric motor car being put in long distance main line service. Its regular run of 246 miles between Chicago and Oelwein, Iowa, with a round trip of 492 miles every 24 hours, will be one of the longest continuous runs ever established for any rail motor car.

By substituting for steam trains, the car will bring about a substantial saving for the management. It is capable of 63 miles an hour on a level stretch of track, and will make a cut in running time possible.

ALIENS DENIED WORK AT MARYLAND TRACK

ger said today. He asserted that they held positions that could not be filled by local help.

The inspection last year at Bowie resulted in a number of Canadians voluntarily leaving the country, Mr. Fouch said.

It has been general practice for years among Maryland track employes to go to Canada for work during the racing season, and the reverse has been true of Canadians, said Joseph B. Boyle, general manager at Bowie. However, in the last two or three years, there has been a decrease in migratory track labor, racing officials agreed.

Applicants at Bowie today were asked by immigration inspectors to give their birth place, names of parents, schooling and general business experience.

About eight years ago the Canadian government barred Americans from employment in the parimutuel departments at race tracks in that country, and, although citizens of the United States had little difficulty obtaining work at Canadian tracks, it is the belief in racing circles here that Canada this year will impose strict regulations.

New Hampshire Trout Are Shipped to Rapidan

Nashua, N. H., March 31 (A.P.).—A consignment of 320 fully grown trout was shipped today by the United States Fish Hatchery here to the Rapidan River camp of President Hoover in Virginia. The shipment is in the custody of James F. Harrington, a messenger of the Federal Bureau of Fisheries.

The trout will be released for the enjoyment of the President and his guests during their occasional weekends at the camp.

WHITES REPORTED LIVING WITH INDIANS

American Scientist Returns From Expedition to Inner Brazil.

Rio de Janeiro, March 31 (A.P.).—Further light on the links of modern civilization with the mysterious Matto Grosso, of inner Brazil, was shed today in a report by Christian Lamarche, American scientist, who said he believed many white men were living among the Indians there.

Lamarche has just arrived here, en route to New York, after several months spent in exploring the vast plateau of Matto Grosso, with headquarters at Goyaz, capital of the Brazilian State of Goyaz.

Lamarche said that in January he met Paraguayan hunters near the headquarters of the Tapajos, who told him they had several times met white men among the Indians.

Lamarche said he believed one of the white men might have been Col. P. H. Fawcett, the British explorer who vanished in the Matto Grosso seven years ago. Stephan Rattin, a Swiss trapper, recently arrived with a story he had met Fawcett in the interior as a hostage held by the Indians.

The Paraguayan hunters told Lamarche that the Indians consider white men as bringers of good luck. Such hostages are given a comfortable living by the Indians, but risk death from their adopted or a rival tribe if they attempt an escape.

U. S.-Panama Claims Body to Meet Today

(Associated Press.)

Representatives of the United States and Panama will meet today with Chairman Cruchaga Tocornal, of Chile, at the Pan-American Union to inaugurate the Panama-United States claims commission.

The meeting will be largely formal in character, since the United States, at least, has not named a permanent commissioner and several months are to elapse before the dead line falls for inclusion of claims to be considered. The commission will meet again in October.

Panama will be represented by Minister Horacio Alfaro, the United States by Joseph R. Baker, of the State Department. It is not expected that Mr. Baker will permanently represent the United States, since he had a part in preparing American claims. The Panamanian elections which will be held before the next session also suggest the possibility of another Panamanian commissioner when the actual task of considering the claims is begun.

Official figures are unobtainable now of the amount of claims to be adjudicated.

Nevada to Investigate Fraudulent Sweepstake

Reno, Nev., March 31 (A.P.).—Gov. Fred B. Balzar today ordered an investigation by the Nevada attorney general of "fraudulent" race track sweepstake lotteries he said were being operated in Eastern cities with Nevada as a "background." The Nevada constitution prohibits the conducting of lotteries of any kind and a sweepstakes is a lottery, the governor asserted.

One concern, incorporated in Nevada on January 5, 1932, was declared to be selling tickets on a sweepstakes derby, which state that the derby will be run here on June 22. No permit has been issued for a race meet here by the State Racing Commission.

PAY CUT REPLACED AS ECONOMY ISSUE

ciency and part of the Veterans' Administration.

The bill approved yesterday would make consolidation of public works activities discretionary with the President. The measure specifically provides, however, that Army engineers engaged in rivers and harbors work, and all strictly military and naval construction activities, be left outside the new setup. A minority report will be filed opposing the latter provisions.

The economy committee worked late without reaching agreement on any of a number of reorganization projects Chairman John McDuffie said they are considering.

Agricultural appropriation conferees, whose deliberations may set a precedent for pay increase and filling of vacancy provisions in all other appropriations bills, concluded their sessions for the week but failed to reach agreement on the latter issue.

Restrictions Seen Doomed.

As the pay increase and promotions ban was struck by the House from the Postoffice and Treasury bill, after inclusion in previous supply measures, predictions were that the conferees' report would follow the Senate lead and leave out restrictions. The Buchanan compromise is said to involve substantial rewriting of House provisions for nonfilling of vacancies without consent of the President.

Representative Simmons in his attack on expenditures savings claimed by the Democrats charged that party's representatives with "legerdermain in bookkeeping."

"The appropriations committee has reduced the budget estimates by $113,708,821, and Democratic orators have pointed to it with pride as proof of their desire to reduce taxes," he said.

"Of these reductions, however, items aggregating $69,100,000 are merely a deferment until deficiency appropriations at the next session of Congress, which will come after the elections."

Veterans Join Drive.

"This leaves over $200,000,000 yet to be cut from appropriation bills," he added, referring to the Democratic $243,000,000 savings estimate. "Where are they going to get it?"

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, in joining the pay-cut opposition, made known their leaders, after conferences with labor officials, will call on House members in key positions in the pay-cut drive.

Predicting "there will be no cuts," Representative Thomas H. Cullen (Republican), New York, said the Tammany delegation will stand as one against a slash.

French Election Dates Are Set.

Paris, March 31 (A.P.).—The dates for the parliamentary elections were officially set today for May 1 and May 8.

BABY STILL UNFOUND AFTER MONTH HUNT

Brooklyn Detectives Claim New Lead May Result in Childs Return.

Hopewell, N. J., March 31 (A.P.).—A month of searching throughout the world for the kidnaped Charles Augustus Lindbergh, jr., ended tonight with apparent proof of his safety and whereabouts still lacking.

Thousands of "tips" have been investigated. Automobiles in all parts of the country have been stopped on suspicion. Hundreds of houses have been searched. Many a suspect has been questioned. Babies by the dozens have been found bearing a striking resemblance to the missing boy.

Hope that the blue-eyed boy may still be returned to his parents has been revived in the past week by the statements of three prominent residents of Norfolk, Va., that they had made contacts with the kidnapers.

Morton Burnstine and Samuel Krasnow, of the Central Detective Agency, a private bureau in Brooklyn, visited the Lindbergh estate tonight and conferred with a representative of the famous aviator. When they left three hours later, they said they hoped to conclude negotiations for the return of the child shortly.

They said they believed they had information of "excellent character" and Burnstine went further and asserted, "With the information we have the Norfolk angle won't amount to a row of pins." They insisted both the kidnapers and the baby were north of Norfolk.

They said they obtained their "lead" after a series of raids had been conducted on several houses in Brooklyn last week. One of the houses was a narcotic den, they said, and a few days after it had been raided, two suspicious characters came to their office at midnight and gave them information which they said led them to believe they would soon establish communications with the kidnapers.

"From 50 to 60 persons other than the Norfolk citizens have offered to act as intermediaries between the Lindbergh family and the kidnapers," a police bulletin said today.

Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, spokesman for the Virginia group, said in Norfolk that no new move had been planned by the intermediaries; that no arrangements had been made for "a new contact with the kidnapers," and that it was impossible to answer a question as to whether there is any hope "negotiations with the kidnapers will be concluded within four or five days."

To most of the queries the naval officer replied: "I don't know" or "I can't answer that." But he did say at the time contact with the supposed abductors of the infant was made assurance had been given that the child was well. Just when this contact occurred he declined to reveal.

He said the activities of the negotiators had not extended to Philadelphia, where a prominent club woman said she had been approached in confidence by a woman who believed she had a good clew to the whereabouts of the missing baby.

Meanwhile Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh continued a lonely vigil in their hilltop home, surrounded by a skeletonized police force.

Norfolk, Va., March 31 (A.P.).—Admiral Guy H. Burrage at a conference with newspapermen tonight said "indirect" threats have been made against at least one of the three men negotiating for the return of the infant son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

He would not say if all of the intermediaries of which he is one, or whether one or two of them had been threatened, nor did he disclose the nature of the threats.

Police Nab Man Declared "Dead"

Bigamy Charge Is Laid to Husband, 60, After Insurance Quiz.

Cleveland, March 31 (A.P.).—Declared legally dead nineteen months ago, Fred D. Howell, of Cleveland, was "born again" today at 60 to face a bigamy charge. Howell confessed, police said, that he deserted his wife in 1917 in Syracuse and married a second woman here without obtaining a divorce. "I didn't like the way she acted," Howell said of his first wife, "so I left her."

An investigation by a life insurance company resulted, detectives said, in finding Howell here after the company had paid off a policy to the first wife, Mrs. Bertha Howell, of Syracuse, N. Y. Investigators said that Howell left the second wife after an argument two weeks ago, going to live near a hospital where he was a fireman.

Howell admitted that he was married first in Waverly, N. Y., December 6, 1895. He was married the second time here, three years after he disappeared from his Syracuse home. A daughter, now 8 years old, was born of the second marriage, while Howell and his first wife are the parents of a son, Ralph, 36, and a daughter, Ethel, 30, who live with their mother in Syracuse.

Airmail Route Is Abandoned.

Mrs. Peabody Says Group Would Sponsor Third Party Candidate.

(Associated Press.)

Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, prohibitionist, yesterday enunciated "firm conviction" that the 12,000,000 women she counts in her ranks will sponsor a third party candidate in 1932 rather than vote for wets or wet platforms.

"We are not in favor of a third party," she said. "We do not believe both candidates and platforms will be wet, but if they are we will rise up and defend the Constitution."

As general chairman of the woman's national committee for law enforcement, she is preparing actively to sponsor a "prohibition fair" here late this month.

During the fair the committee will hold a "constitutional convention" to celebrate the Washington Bicentennial and to discuss current political questions in the light of the First President's sayings.

Platform Plank Opposing Repeal or Modification Is Adopted.

Portland, Me., March 31 (A.P.).—Thirteen delegates to the Republican national convention—unpledged, but favorable to President Hoover—were elected and a platform plank opposing repeal or modification of the eighteenth amendment was adopted by the Maine State Republican convention here today. The prohibition question raised the only discordant note of the convention, but a move by those favoring resubmission to strike out the "dry" plank was lost on a standing vote.

Recommendation of changes in the primary law to "tend to restoration of party responsibility and insure selection of candidates in sympathy with the party and its platform" and a promise of "drastic cuts" in State expenditures before new methods of taxation were considered, were among the other planks.

S. M. H. Richardson, Assistant United States Attorney General, keynote speaker, told the 1,500 delegates, "The world is looking to us to solve this depression and the one agency on earth which can solve it is the Republican party."

Praise for President.

Touching on prohibition, he said members of the party "ought to be proud of our President for complete obedience to the Constitution" and that nullification "is mob law in its bitter, paralyzing essence."

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York and former Gov. Alfred E. Smith were charged with having "looked the other way when official wrongdoing came to light" by Mrs. George A. Wyeth, of New York City, in referring to the Seabury investigation in that city.

Raymond Fellows, of Bangor, chairman of the convention, speaking of the State election in September, said the size of the victory is the only question.

The fight over the prohibition plank came in midafternoon with only three delegates—all of them opposed to the plank—speaking.

Chase Urges Dry Changes.

"Intellectual bankruptcy" for the party was seen by Edward E. Chase, of Cape Elizabeth, who is expected to run either for governor or representative from the First Congressional District on a wet platform. "Prohibition has bred corruption of Government officials, and a change is imperative," he said.

Elimination of the plank was seen as a necessity by Mrs. Katherine Allen, of Penobscot County, a former State senator.

Approval of Chase's stand was given by Dugald B. Dewar, of Calais, who lost the race for the nomination for United States senator two years ago, when he ran on a repeal platform.

Book Is Published By Stanwood Cobb

"Discovering the Genius Within You" Is Work by Educator.

Stanwood Cobb, Washington educator and traveler, is the author of "Discovering the Genius Within You," a book recently published by the John Day Co., of New York.

"Every man has the capacity to excel along some line," is the doctrine of the volume. Mr. Cobb does not concede that it is natural that any man should fail. He has studied and analyzed the lives and works of eminent men and women, and it is his conviction that the qualities for which they are famed are present in average people. The difference between genius and average intelligence, he insists, is one of degree, not of kind.

Mr. Cobb quotes Ralph Waldo Emerson to the effect that "our chief want in life is somebody who shall make us do what we can." People should make conscious choice of their goals, practice constant self-improvement, and count each gain a victory. The individual who expresses his best creative instincts is a success. A former president of the Progressive Education Association, Mr. Cobb is well known in Capital teaching circles.

Entertainment Planned By St. David's Society

Nationally known musicians, Dr. Mostyn Thomas, of New York; Prof. L. Powell Evans, of Atlantic City, and Wilfred Smith, of Washington, supported by the St. David's Welsh Choir, directed by Dr. Griffith Evans, of Washington, guarantee a musical treat. The public is invited. A free-will offering will be taken.

construction of the eighteenth amendment."

Such a move, Mr. Smith said, would eliminate the necessity for the so-called nuisance levies, upon which he said an agreement "is apparently in sight."

For the final one-third, Mr. Smith accepted the additional taxes recommended by President Hoover and the Treasury and agreed to by the House.

With reference to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Mr. Smith said it would be a "long while before anything really beneficial will grow from this effort."

His recommendations were predicated upon the theory, Mr. Smith said, in conclusion, that Congress would not provide for the soldiers' bonus at this session.

"If they do," he warned, "and it is to be provided by immediate taxation, there is no such thing as a balancing of the budget."

SENATOR ALBEN BARKLEY.

ENTRY of Senator Alben Barkley (Democrat), of Kentucky, into public life was not an accident. He early began to dream of the part he would play in the making of his country, and by the time he was studying law in college the dream had become a conviction.

It may be that the influence of Judge W. S. Bishop, of Paducah, helped build up the young man's mental levees which kept the river of his purpose to its course; it may be the strength of the current took him to the judge's office and his association with that character who is known throughout the world as the remarkable and lovable Judge Priest of Irvin Cobb's many stories.

Young Barkley was admitted to the bar in Paducah in 1901. He persuaded the most charming girl in Kentucky to share his lot in 1903, and with that inspiration he won election as prosecuting attorney two years later. At the end of his four-year term the voters decided he should be a judge of the McCracken County Court.

He served as judge until elected to the House of Representatives in the Sixty-third Congress. He served fourteen years in the House in which he succeeded Ollie James.

In 1926 he was elected to the Senate for a six-year term beginning March 4, 1927. Politically dry, he practiced in private life his dry principles. He was a regular Democrat, however, and when Gov. Al Smith was nominated by the Democrats for the Presidency Senator Barkley made a speech in support of him and subsequently was named chairman of the Smith campaign in Kentucky.

At the Houston, Tex., convention he received more votes for the Democratic vice presidential nomination than any other candidate except Senator Joseph E. Robinson, of Arkansas.

Senator Barkley is expected to be an important vice presidential candidate at the forthcoming national convention in Chicago in June. He is being urged by the supporters of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, as the "keynoter" of the convention as well as their favored candidate for Vice President.

He is tall. He has a sense of humor. He makes a good, rousing speech on the stump. He is not a radical, but he is inclined to the liberals rather than the side of the ultra-conservatives.

Parts of Female Statuettes Found in Caves in China

Graham, Smithsonian Collaborator, Sends Large Collection of Unusual Artifacts to Museum; Evidences of Clowns Are Discovered.

David C. Graham, Smithsonian Institution collaborator, has sent to the National Museum here a large collection of artifacts gathered during his exploration of ancient tombs in western China, chiseled out of solid sandstone and long reported to have been the habitat of a vanished race of primitive cave dwellers.

There are thousands of these tombs scattered through Szechwan Province and along the Tibetan border, and the Smithsonian explorer found that they were actually Chinese tombs dating from about the beginning of the Christian era. The popular belief is that they were the dwelling places of aborigines who occupied the country before the coming of the Chinese, but Graham was unable to find any supporting evidence for this belief.

Of special interest are the images of human beings. Some of these may show the extraordinary persistence of custom over thousands of years. One figure, for example, appears to be that of a clown or comedian. It suggests, the finder says, that the cave builders had reached a cultural stage where they were devotees of the theater.

"The left eye," Graham reports, "is half closed, while the other is wide open. The face is contorted, the mouth is drawn out of shape and the tongue protrudes. A bit of plaster adheres above the right eye, but there is nothing to indicate that the entire face was whitened. On the Chinese stage today it is customary for clowns to whiten themselves around the eyes. A second possible stage figure is a strange human being having large tusks and a long tongue hanging down his chest. The Chinese say this figure still persists in local theatricals and has been known on the stage for hundreds, if not thousands, of years.

"We may assume that the people who constructed these caves admired beautiful women, for the artifacts include many fragments of female figurines. A number of heads in our collection show undeniable beauty and unquestioned skill on the part of the artist. Some have jewels on their hats. In most cases the features are rather dimly indicated, but there is a smile in each case and the eyes and noses are distinctly Mongolian. In this they resemble present-day Chinese women and, according to Chinese standards, at least, both grace and beauty are recognized."

Apparently it was fashionable for girls to be slender. Nearly all the figurines found by Graham were of this type. The only exception was an image of a girl with a double chin and her hair arranged with bangs cut off just above the eyebrows, a popular form of coiffure among girls of the locality to this day.

Hyde Held Playing Politics on Grain

Is Attempting to Make 'Scapegoat' of Traders, Chicagoan Says.

Chicago, March 31 (A.P.).—Peter B. Carey, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, today charged that Secretary of Agriculture Hyde is playing politics by attempting to make a "scapegoat" of organized grain traders.

In a controversy over trading regulations of the board of trade, Carey declared that Secretary Hyde had been "misinformed" and "does not understand the technical side" of the grain industry. Mr. Hyde last week declared that the board of trade acted contrary to the interests of the farmers in reinstating No. 1 and No. 2 yellow hard wheat for Chicago futures trading.

In a letter to the Secretary, Carey said the action had political motives, "especially in view of the oncoming election when it might be considered profitable politically for the Department of Agriculture, with the enormous expenditure and waste of public money, to have a football which it could kick around for the diversion of the minds of senators and voters."

Col. Dan Sultan to Talk On Wild Jungle Life

Col. Dan I. Sultan, U. S., one of the engineers who helped to survey the Nicaraguan Canal route, will describe some of the strange and beautiful plant, bird and animal life along the proposed waterway in a lecture before the members of the National Geographic Society in the Washington Auditorium this evening.

With motion pictures and colored lantern slides, Col. Sultan will journey through the little-visited jungle lands of southern Nicaragua, a region fertilized by volcanoes, torn by civil strife, and yet a producer of coffee, cacao and bananas. During his travels in the wilderness Col. Sultan came upon vines that yield water when cut, a plant that stings, and a bird with a "featherless tail," except for two plumes, which it uses as a rudder when flying.

$300,000,000 Due Today in Dividends

Phone Company to Pay $42,000,000 More Later in Month.

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—In spite of a record number of dividend reductions and omissions over the past few months, Wall street estimates that approximately $300,000,000 will be received by investors in connection with the April 1 disbursements.

This is considerably more than was distributed in any previous month this year, and the amount will be augmented later in the month when several large corporations send out their quarterly dividend checks.

Dividends will be paid over the month end on about 2,000 stock issues, including United States Steel common, Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, Standard Brands, Montgomery Ward, Texas Coorporation, Standard Oil of Ohio, and Union Pacific Railroad Co. Two of the largest corporations will not pay their dividends until later in the month, these being American Telephone & Telegraph and General Electric. Telephone will distribute about $42,000,000 to its 645,000 stockholders, and General Electric will disburse about $7,211,000 on its 28,845,000 shares of common stock.

POLLARD SIGNS BYRD ROAD PLAN MEASURE

Bill, Hailed as $3,250,000 Economy Gesture to Tax Payers, Becomes Law.

Richmond, Va., March 31 (A.P.).—Virginia's new road plan designed to save taxpayers $3,250,000 in local road levies, became a law late today as Gov. Pollard affixed his signature to the bill passed by the recent General Assembly.

It is the answer to a cry from localities for tax relief.

Under the new law, effective July 1, a secondary highway system of more than 40,000 miles of county roads will be established and maintained by the State Department of Highways, at State expense, and local road levies will be abolished in Virginia counties. Its proposal by former Gov. Harry F. Byrd has caused it to be known as the "Byrd plan."

The State will discontinue the gasoline tax return to the localities and will divert this revenue to the construction and maintenance of the State roads through the administration of the highway commission.

Cities Will Benefit.

Cities will benefit through a provision for $1,500 a mile of city streets traversed by State highways for maintenance plus $500 a mile for new construction. The provision is applicable to all towns of 3,500 or more population.

The bill carries an optional clause making it possible for any county to withdraw from the operation of the bill by popular vote in a special election upon due notification by a petition bearing the signatures of 25 per cent of the qualified voters of the respective county.

Counties voting to exempt themselves would receive a gasoline tax return equal to the amount received during the past year, but would not participate in the $2,000,000 supplementary fund.

The secondary system includes chiefly the farm-to-market roads, with each county guaranteed that it will receive road expenditure at least equal to the amount of gasoline tax it received last year.

Inventories Scheduled.

County road equipment will be inventoried and appraised and the State will buy these if the county chooses to sell.

The existing set-up of the primary system, including the eight construction districts, will not be disturbed, and county payments on interest and sinking funds for road bonds that may be outstanding or any taxes to effect such payments will not be affected by the new law.

Counties adjoining cities of the first class which have suburban street construction problems are permitted to levy taxes for such construction with those portions of the street within the highway system to be maintained under cooperative supervision of the highway department.

Any road fund balance on July 1 will remain in the local treasuries to be applied to general county purposes.

Gov. Pollard said he believed few if any of the counties will withdraw from the operation of the new law. State Comptroller E. R. Combs said the last gas tax returns will be mailed to the counties June 1.

The committee will have general supervision of a new camp expansion and improvement program, under which extensive development of camp facilities is under way.

Many of these items are the gift of John C. Letts, retired merchant, who was largely instrumental in establishment of Camp Letts, and for whom it is named.

Former University Officials Accused

Warrants Issued for Two Iowa Men on Charges of Embezzlement.

Iowa City, Iowa, March 31 (A.P.).—Warrants were issued today for the arrest of two former officials of the University of Iowa on charges growing out of a special audit of the university's financial records.

One charge of embezzlement was lodged against W. J. McChesney, former treasurer of the university and former bank president here. Charles A. Brown, for eighteen years labor foreman in the department of buildings and grounds, faces two counts of forgery and one of uttering a forged instrument, all growing out of alleged pay roll padding.

Brown was placed under arrest, but authorities were unable to locate McChesney. The warrants were sworn out by County Attorney F. B. Olson, acting for Attorney General John Fletcher. The charge against McChesney concerns the handling of interest on university funds. Fletcher in a statement listed nine items of alleged irregularities.

Brokers' Bank Loans Rise to $525,000,000

(Associated Press.)

Loans to brokers and dealers held by New York Federal Reserve member banks for the week ended March 30 were announced by the Federal Reserve Board yesterday as $525,000,000, an increase of $1,000,000 as compared to the preceding week.

This compares with total brokers' loans of $1,391,000,000 as of April 1, 1931.

Of the current week's total, $82,000,000 is for the account of out-of-town banks and $5,000,000 for the account of "others."

The regular weekly statement of the Federal Reserve System, issued yesterday, shows a decrease of $44,000,000 in money in circulation, the largest decline since the campaign against hoarding was launched last month.

Total circulation as of March 30 was $5,436,000,000, which is $816,000,000 over a year ago.

United States gold stocks increased $7,000,000 last week to $4,388,000,000.

BUTLER ASKS FOOD UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Senatorial Candidate Flays Officials for Talking Only While Idle Starve.

Chambersburg, Pa., March 31 (U.P.). Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler tonight called on "courageous governors" to declare martial law for the prevention of food riots in sections of their States where people are facing starvation.

"It's about time the legislatures, Congress and other debating societies get through playing politics and appropriate money right now to feed the hungry people of this Nation," he shouted as he faced more than a thousand persons, assembled to greet him as a candidate for the United States Senate.

"Fortunately, our forefathers who founded this Government put into it a method by which courageous public officials, Presidents of the United States and governors of the States, can come to the rescue of their people," Gen. Butler said.

"A status of martial law was provided under our form of Government for use in national catastrophies. We are now in the midst of a national catastrophe, and I feel certain that there are governars of our States who will take advantage of this constitutional and legal method of saving our people.

"If legislative bodies do not provide means for feeding our people, those having the power to declare martial law can properly do so. Commandeer the supplies necessary to save our people, and let the debating societies decide later or at their political leisure how to pay for it.

"This speech may kill my candidacy for the senatorial nomination, but I don't give a damn, because I mean every word of it. The trouble with this country lately has been too damn much talk and not enough action."

Nebraska Unemployed Shun Offer for Work

Lincoln, Nebr., March 31 (A.P.).—Lincoln's offer to hire 200 men three days each week on the city streets has been received without great enthusiasm by unemployed residents here.

Street Commissioner John Wright said he had been unable to employ 200 men in any one week and that today only 38 showed up when he might have used 100. The 38 were recruited after social welfare society officials had spent an afternoon calling on persons who had received charity.

Hoover Presents Collier Trophy

Head of Packard Company Receives Award at White House.

The Collier Trophy, outstanding award of American aviation, was presented yesterday to the Packard Motor Car Co. by President Hoover at the White House for the company's pioneer work in the development of the Diesel Aircraft Engine.

Alvan Macauley, president of the Packard Co., accepted the trophy for his concern.

Among the group attending the brief presentation exercises was Harold Pitcairn, who received the trophy last year for his work in the autogyro field. Others attending were: Amelia Earhart Putnam, F. Trubee Davison, Assistant Secretary of War for Aviation; Irving Glover, Assistant Postmaster General in charge of Air Mail; Clarence M. Young, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics.

396,141 Jobs Found In National Campaign

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—The united action for employment campaign tonight was within less than 4,000 jobs of having placed 400,000 persons in wage earning positions since February 15. From 148 communities in 34 States came reports today of 9,941 wage earners put to work, bringing the total for the campaign to 396,141.

Illinois led the States for the day with 1,939 jobs; Pennsylvania was second with 1,538 and Nebraska third with 1,006. Thirty-five of the 148 communities reporting had not contributed to the job-finding activities before.

District as Game Haven Is Step Nearer Reality

The District Commissioners yesterday reported favorably on an amendment to the bill to prohibit the killing of wild birds and wild animals in the District and to establish a game and bird sanctuary of the Potomac River and its tributaries.

The amendment proposes to eliminate the killing of wild ducks, geese, or other water fowl on any waters of the District. A similar bill was introduced in the Seventy-first Congress, but contained a clause permitting hunting in the marshes.

SISTERS CONTINUE TO INDICT PASTOR

More Details of Improper Relations With Girls Told in London.

London, March 31 (U.P.).—Miss Sylvia Harris, 22 years told, pretty and blonde, raised her voice to a high, tremulous pitch in Consistory Court at Church House today when she declared she had been "warned" against the Rev. Harold Francis Davidson, on trial for immoral conduct while "rescuing" girls from a life of vice in London.

Despite the warning, Sylvia told the court that Dr. Davidson had pestered and "made a fuss" over her and had attempted to visit her at her place of employment.

She also said the rector of Stiffkey had repeatedly called Miss Barbara Harris, the 17-year-old sister of Sylvia, such endearing names as "Darling, queen of my heart." Dr. Davidson was charged with immoral relations with Barbara, who had testified previously.

Testimony on Third Girl.

The name of Rosie Ellis, who Dr. Davidson was charged with taking on a trip to Paris, was brought into the trial today and it was indicated that about 60 witnesses would be called in the next two weeks, which are expected to produce more sensational details of Dr. Davidson's social service.

Several witnesses so far have been friendly toward the rector, one druggist, who knew him well, saying that he never saw anything improper in the rector's actions. But Percy Malyon, fiance of Sylvia, told in detail of the rector's attempt to caress Sylvia, who remarked that "it was enough to get me the sack." She is a domestic servant.

Earlier in the day, Barbara had completed her testimony by saying that she usually called the rector "uncle" and that he had "many other nieces." She also introduced a letter which she said she wrote to the Bishop of Norwich, February 9, complaining about the rector's conduct.

Letter of Complaint.

"I've been waiting to do this a long time," the letter said. "I mentioned it to the Rev. Davidson and he told me I would not be believed if it was my word against his.

"I am thinking that if he is let off, he will do just the same, and I am sorry for girls in the future. You will notice he only helps girls, never boys. Also girls generally 16 to 17 years old. * * * A lot of people will stick up for Davidson because they are afraid of their pasts. Others might stand up for him because they believe him eccentric, as I believed at one time."

The letter then described her relations with the rector and added:

"I was 16 when he met me. * * * It is very hard to be good once you have been bad. I know he has the key to a lot of girls' fists. * * * He said he would divorce his wife and marry me, on the excuse that his wife was unfaithful and that her last child was not his."

Boy Denies Confessions In Dorothy Lutz Death

Philadelphia, March 31 (A.P.).—William Brown, 16-year-old Negro on trial in conection with the killing of 7-year-old Dorothy Lutz, took the witness stand today to repudiate four confessions, which police said he made, and to deny that he attacked and choked the child.

He testified he did not know the child, had never been in the vacant house in north Philadelphia, where her body was found last month, and said police mistreated him to obtain the four confessions. A ring found beside Dorothy's body was identified by two Negro women as having been worn by Brown last January.

Argentina Bars Sale Of All Foreign Drafts

Buenos Aires, March 31 (A.P.).—The government today prohibited sales of all foreign currency drafts and explained that the measure was taken to prevent speculators from obtaining exchange for private sale higher than the official rate of 3.88 pesos per dollar.

The limit on foreign exchange purchase, which has been 1,000 pesos daily since government control was imposed several months ago, was reduced this week to 200 pesos ($50).

Association Urges That Citizens Training Be Continued.

Continuation of appropriations for R. O. T. C. training, C. M. T. C. encampments and maintenance of the national defense "on the plane on which it has been established" was urged in resolutions, directed at Congress, by the Association of Military Colleges and Schools at its closing session yesterday at the Washington Hotel.

In the event that these units of national defense are eliminated by Congress, the association asked the War Department to award commissions to military school graduates who ordinarily would have received the commissions only after attending camp.

If Congress approves the military reduction, it will mean the discontinuation of camps this summer, it was pointed out.

Officers Elected.

The following new officers of the association were elected: Lieut. Col. A. M. Hitch, of Kemper Military School, Boonville, Mo., president, succeeding Col. Roy F. Farand, head of St. John's Military Academy, Delafield, Wis.; Maj. Gen. John A. Lejeune, former commandant of the Marine Corps and now head of the Virginia Military Institute, vice president, and Col. H. E. Jones, of Morgan Park Military Academy, Chicago, secretary-treasurer.

The new president named the following executive committee: Col. Farrand, Brig. Gen. L. R. Gignalliat, Culver Military Academy, Culver, Ind.; Brig. Gen. M. F. Davis, New York Military Academy, Cornwall, N. Y.; Col. Thomas D. Landon, Bardentown Military Institute, Bardentown, N. Y., and Col. H. B. Moore, of Greenbrier Military School, Lewisburg, W. Va.

Committees Named.

The following committees were named: Defense council, Col. Hitch, Brig. Gen. Gignilliat, Brig. Gen. M. F. Davis; public relations, Col. Sandy Beaver, Col. C. C. Chambers, Father Joseph E. Burke; scholastic standing, Col. C. B. Endsley, Col. Roy W. Wonson, Charles W. Newhall, Dr. Charles H. Young, Col. Guido F. Verbeck; relations with War Department, Col. R. P. Davidson, Brig. Gen. Gignilliat, Col. D. C. Pearson, Col. William Cowper; annual dinner, Col. C. B. Richmond, Col. Sandford Selers, jr., and Col. M. H. Hudgins.

Speaking at the morning session yesterday, Dr. Thomas H. Briggs, professor of secondary education at Columbia University, declared that nothing learned in school is worth while unless it can be applied to affairs of life after school days are over.

Dr. T. Luther Purdon, director of guidance and placement at the University of Michigan, told the association that a great amount of the failures in school and after life can be avoided by intelligent adjustment of the problems of the students.

BRITAIN ANNOUNCES BALANCED BUDGET

Coincident with publication of the budget figures, the treasury disclosed that it had repaid on Tuesday $30,000,000 of credit obtained in New York during the crisis last autumn, and also had repaid the balance of the credit obtained from French banks at the same time, namely 900,000,000 francs, in each case retaining the right to reborrow until its credits would normally expire in August and September.

A credit of 2,500,000,000 francs from the French public was not repaid because the treasury has no power to force French holders to accept premature payment.

The final figures for the year are as follows, as compared with Snowden's estimates:

Revenue.	Actual. Pounds.	Estimate. Pounds.
Income tax	287,367,000	272,000,000
Surtax	76,700,000	73,000,000
Estate duties, &c.	65,000,000	83,000,000
Stamps	17,070,000	20,000,000
Excess profits, corporations and land tax, &c.	3,350,000	3,000,000
Customs	136,152,000	131,770,000
Excise	119,900,000	121,230,000
Miscellaneous	65,424,000	80,700,000
Expenditures.	Pounds.	Pounds.
Interest on national debt	289,492,000	289,400,000
Payments North Ireland	6,347,000	6,350,000
Other fund services	3,052,000	3,000,000
Total supply services	439,200,000	451,829,000
New sinking fund	32,508,000	32,600,000

The income tax exceeded the budget estimate by more than £15,000,000, indicating the heavy payments by the average business man, and the estate duties fell far below the estimate because of the few rich men who died, their estates were much smaller than had been believed.

The customs revenue exceeded the estimate due to antidumping duties and the general 10 per cent tariff duty effective for one month.

Expenditures included £32,508,000 toward the national debt sinking fund so that Britain not only paid her current expenses but redeemed a part of her £7,000,000,000 national debt during a year of acute depression.

The cost for supply services was below estimate, chiefly because unemployment did not reach 3,000,000 as had been expected.

The floating debt is now £611,955,000, as compared with £594,325,000 a year ago.

several others spent months in Washington hospitals as a result of the Bladensburg shooting.

Under the system through which she was placed in the alleged vice dens of Maryland, the girl declared, she was taken to a place as "hostess."

All of her earnings were turned over to the management and half of them were given back to her. Of this amount returned to her, she gave Renzulli half, she testified.

Samuel Levin, counsel for Renzulli, pleaded with the court for mercy, saying that since the Mann act charges had been placed against him, he had become reconciled with his wife and that he had two children to support.

The case involving Renzulli and the Lutz woman jointly, which comes to trial next week, alleges four counts of transporting a woman to Baltimore for immoral purposes.

INDUSTRIES CONTROL INDORSED BY WILBUR

U. S. Supervision Is Urged to Preserve Nation's Natural Resources.

(Associated Press.)

To save America's natural resources from waste and depletion, Secretary Wilbur yesterday urged legislation to permit producers to control production by agreements among themselves under Federal supervision.

The Interior Department head expressed to a Senate judiciary subcommittee his general approval of a bill by Senator Nye (Republican), North Dakota, under which the Federal Trade Commission could give legally binding effect to trade practice agreements adopted by an industry.

Addressing himself to the need of the "natural resource industries" for such legislation, the Secretary said the department is concerned particularly with oil and gas. He also mentioned timber. Other witnesses pleaded the cause of coal.

Conserving of Resources.

"As to those industries producing from our irreplaceable reserves," Wilbur said, "there should be authority in some body to pass upon reasonable agreements designed to conserve these resources through the avoidance of waste and the correlation of production to consumption and to insure a continuity of production and subsequent employment."

He added that such a measure should provide for rendering an agreement inoperative if it produces coercion on a member of the industry or results in exorbitant prices.

The Secretary said his department is "all the time conscious of the fact that the methods by which we are controlling these natural resources are not only inadequate, but wasteful."

"They are not bringing the returns they should," he told the senators.

"Since there is such a large public ownership of oil, gas and timber, it seems the Federal Trade Commission can wisely represent the public and preserve some order out of this chaos."

Wilbur recalled that President Hoover in his last annual message recommended changes in the antitrust laws to meet present-day conditions.

Adjustments Advocated.

Senator Steiwer (Republican), Oregon, urging the need of the timber and other natural resource industries for the right to control production, persented an amendment specifying that they may make "reasonable agreements to adjust production to consumption."

Among the witnesses testifying in support of it were Wilson Compton, secretary and manager of the National Lumber Manufacturers Association; E. J. McVann, traffic manager of the property owners' committee, comprising bituminous coal operators; W. M. Ritter, director and treasurer of the National Lumber Manufacturing Association and owner of bituminous mines in western Pennsylvania; J. F. Callbreath, secretary of the American Mining Congress, and Marvin Lee, petroleum geologist from Wichita, Kans.

Charles F. Abbott, executive director of the American Institute of Steel Construction, favored the bill.

The banks which the four confessed robbing and amounts obtained included:

First National Bank of Mazon, Grundy County, Ill., $13,000.

State Bank of Mundelein, Ill., $2,700 on one occasion and $10,000 in a second holdup.

Tazewell County National Bank, Delevan, Ill., $6,500.

Maquon State Bank, Knox County, Ill., $4,000 currency and $28,000 in securities.

Ringwood State Bank, McHenry County, Ill., $2,000.

York State Bank, Du Page County, Ill., $5,000.

The men confessed to an unsuccessful attempt to hold up the Kirkland State Bank in De Kalb County, Ill.

The gang, police said, usually operated by taking an attache of the bank captive and forcing him to give them entry to the institution in the morning just after the time lock of the vault had been sprung.

African Diamond Mines Close.

Amsterdam, Holland, March 31 (A. P.).—The De Beers diamond mines in South Africa closed today in accordance with an announcement a month ago, but the diamond cutting industry in the Netherlands is keeping its skilled men on the pay roll in anticipation of a demand for large-sized stones.

HOUSE IS EXPECTED TO SEND TAX BILL TO SENATE TODAY

stock exchange tax. The tax was strongly opposed by the New York delegation. When the House adjourned Wednesday it had been agreed that consideration of the stock exchange tax should be resumed yesterday with twenty minutes more of debate. Representative Thomas H. Cullen (Democrat), New York, leader of the Tammany delegation, wanted debate extended, and Representative Charles R. Crisp (Democrat), Georgia, acting chairman of the ways and means committee, who had charge of the bill, agreed to an extension of twenty minutes.

Beaten Before Start.

The New Yorkers took the floor and opposed the stock exchange tax of one-quarter of 1 per cent with a 4 cents a share minimum, but they were beaten before they started the fight. It was with the support of Representative Crisp and the ways and means committee that an amendment offered by Representative Thomas L. Blanton (Democrat), Texas, to increase the tax to 1 per cent was voted down.

The stock exchange transactions tax was estimated by the ways and means committee to produce $75,000,000. The vote by which it was adopted was 207 to 39.

Other Taxes Adopted.

Following its adoption the House adopted other taxes proposed by the committee, voting down opposition and substitutes. The taxes approved included one-eighth of 1 per cent tax on bond transactions, estimated to yield, $13,000,000; 5 cents a $100 on futures on produce exchanges, including cotton and grain, estimated to produce $6,000,000; a tax of 50 cents on each $500 value or fraction thereof in real estate conveyances—with an exemption of the first $100—to yield, $10,000,000; revision of the depletion allowances made in the present law, $12,000,000; an 8 per cent tax on oil pipe lines, the tax to be paid by the person who paid the transportation charge, $15,000,000; increase in the gift taxes, with $50,000 exemption and a maximum of 33½ cent over $10,000,000; various administrative changes, including lowering of the loss deduction limit, to yield $100,000,000; a 10 per cent tax on firearms and ammunition, except pistols, to yield, $4,500,000.

When the day's work had been completed it was estimated that the House had put into the budget-balancing tax bill, the greatest peacetime levy in history, something like $255,500,000, which, added to the $743,500,000 total reached the day before brought the total to $999,000,000.

LaGuardia Disputes Figure.

Whether the estimates on the revenue from the various taxes are accurate only time will tell, and much will depend on the course of business. Representative Fiorella H. LaGuardia (Republican), of New York, for instance, disputed the estimate of $75,000,000 for the stock exchange tax. He estimated it would produce almost twice that much.

Not all of the differences in estimates, however, are in favor of a balanced budget. Some say that the estimates offered by sponsors of this or that tax are too optimistic. That is why the tag-end of the bill was held over for consideration today. House leaders wanted to get the benefit of the estimates of Treasury experts on the probable revenue production of the various taxes before sending it to the Senate. They were determined to put additional taxes into the bill if the Treasury experts decided they were needed to meet the figure.

Johnson to Seek Test.

Representative Royal Johnson (Republican), South Dakota, is going to try to force another test on the 2.25 per cent manufacturers' sales tax which was stricken out. This effort will come when the House finishes consideration of the bill in committee of the whole and reports it back to the House proper with recommendation that the bill as amended be passed. This is a formality, inasmuch as the same men who passed on the bill sitting in committee of the whole must pass on it sitting as the House, but it is an important formality for various reasons. No record votes are taken in committee of the whole. Record votes may be had in the House. Representative Johnson said he would demand a sales tax record vote. Although the sales tax lost by a vote of 223 to 153 last week, Mr. Johnson believes that when it comes to voting for the record there may be a change. But even he is expecting the record vote to upset the previous decision.

There will be other record votes sought in the House. Representative John W. McCormack (Democrat), Massachusetts, who led the fight of the Atlantic States against the Midwestern embargo oil tariff, served notice that he would demand a record vote on that provision.

Crisp Wants Record Vote.

Representative Crisp wants a record vote on the amendment proposed by Representative Philip D. Swing (Republican), California, increasing the surtax on incomes to something like the war-time rates. Representative Henry T. Rainey (Democrat), Illinois, has said he would demand record votes on other amendments, but in view of subsequent developments it is believed he may be content with the votes others are trying to force. Mr. Crisp has said that he would like to see a record vote on the $2-a-ton tax on coal imports proposed by Representative Patrick J. Boland (Democrat), Pennsylvania. Admittedly the tariff is designed as an embargo.

monia from the exposure, and they planned to take X-ray pictures to see if there were any fractures.

The child was brought to the surface at 8:40 p. m. after miners and other volunteer workers had struggled their way through a stubborn rock ledge.

Two doctors went down into a 22-foot shaft sunk beside the drill hole at 8:30 o'clock, waited there until the workers dragged the little body loose from its rocky prison and carried it up a ladder to safety.

The mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Collins, leaned from the side of an ambulance that had been waiting at the scene nearly all day, and wept openly as the little boy's cry of "Daddy—Mama" reached them.

Workers said the boy was found in a sitting position in the drill hole, which was just wide enough to catch his body and prevent it from falling to the bottom of the 250-foot cavity.

His knees were doubled up and his arms were pinioned above his head. He had been in that position since 9:30 o'clock this morning, when he tumbled into the hole while playing near the mine.

The father, a mine prospector, said the child had formed the habit of following him from the nearby home to the mine lease.

Father Praises Son.

"Gee, but he's a gritty one!" the father said, when the cry arose that the miners had reached the boy.

Shortly after efforts to slip a noose over Gerald's body failed and the rescue workers found they could not drag him out of the hole, a pick and shovel brigade went to work sinking a shaft parallel to the hole.

A steam shovel was moved to the scene after the hand workers had gone down five feet, but soon this machinery was rendered inadequate by the rocky nature of the subsurface stratum.

Workers brought a compressed air drill and a dozen men, working in shifts of two or four, took turns at the task. They worked at such speed and with such energy that each shift had to be relieved at minute intervals.

When the shaft was sunk to a depth of 22 feet, shortly after dark, a tunnel was opened to the drill hole, about two feet away.

With the way opened, the men had to loosen the rocks and dirt that imprisoned the boy before they could lower him into the tunnel, move him out to the shaft and then raise him to the surface.

Increases for Members of Communist Party Also May Be Effected.

(Copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press.)

Moscow, March 31.—A three-fold increase in the pay of Soviet workers who are members of the Communist party is under consideration by the party's political bureau as wages go up 15 to 18 per cent tomorrow in the light and heavy industries.

There will be an average 20 per cent increase in the engineering and technical personnel in both light and heavy industries. The industrial pay raises are designed to keep pace with demands made upon the workers by the scheduled increase of 36 per cent in industrial production.

Communists from the highest government officials to factory workers, now limited to meager salaries, would be allowed a maximum income of 900 rubles, or $450, instead of the present maximum of 300 rubles—$150—under the party's plan.

The proposal is designed partly as an efficiency measure. Thus party members holding important posts would be relieved of difficulties of living within their salaries or taking outside work to augment their incomes. Lesser workers would be enabled to improve their living conditions.

The raises are planned in accordance with a policy outlined nine months ago by Joseph Stalin, head of the political bureau as well as of the Communist party, to abolish the system of "equal wages for all."

Since the revolution, members of the party have been limited to the smallest incomes and plainest lives under Lenin's watchword for the Communist state, "Each according to his ability and to each according to his needs."

Not all the party members get 300 rubles a month, and only the highest officials, such as commissars and heads of important government trusts, would receive the proposed new 900 ruble maximum.

The new proposal is intended to provide greater inducement for the workers to improve themselves and to advance the work of the party government.

TARIFF RISE DENIED BY IRISH MINISTER

Report of Split in Cabinet Over Reply on Oath to King Also Scouted.

Dublin, Irish Free State, (Friday) April 1.—After a prolonged and fruitless discussion last night, the new cabinet of Eamon de Valera decided to discuss again today its reply to the recent British note insisting that the oath of allegiance to the king and land annuities must be retained.

Before it adjourned, the cabinet emphatically denied it had split over the issue, or that there was serious dissension, although such rumors were current in antigovernment quarters.

It was evident, however, that attempts at full agreement on the note up to this time has not been achieved, but owing to secrecy of officials, the grounds for differences have not been learned.

Sean Lemass, minister of industry and commerce, denied last night reports that the Irish Free State was about to place a 33 1-3 per cent tariff on all imports of articles which can be manufactured in the Free State.

Simultaneously it was learned that a deficit of £639,234 ($2,416,806 at the present rate of exchange) had been disclosed in returns for the financial year ending tonight.

The Irish Free State's national revenue was reported as £25,496,419, more than £1,000,000 over last year, but expenditure was £26,135,653. It had been generally expected that the deficit would be larger.

Meanwhile, the whole tariff question is under consideration, Mr. Lemass said, but no decision has been reached.

The Exchange Telegraph Agency had reported that the executive council, of which Eamon de Valera is the new president, had adopted a 33 1-3 per cent tariff scheme, with duties on imports from Great Britain and the dominions to be fixed at 25 per cent. The report said the plan contained a provision for protection of Free State industries against the growth of trusts.

Let's Talk About Quality...

There's been such a to-do about price this Spring that some people have forgotten there are such things as durable fabrics, carefully chosen GENUINE furs, and expert workmanship. Erlebacher insist they still come FIRST! For example, this coat is custom tailored, Forstmann's Corsair Blue Chackra, the black satin cape is bordered with exquisite SILVER FOX that was born, "not made!" The very new rumba sleeves complete four distinctive fashion points that are decidedly Spring, 1932, vintage.

TAXES AND THE BONUS.

The House is making its way toward balancing the budget. The imposition of one special tax after another brings cries of pain from the parties affected. The proposed tax on stock transfers and the threat of other taxes affecting Wall street caused a slump in the market; but the revenue to be derived from the stock transfer tax is not large, and therefore can not be a crushing burden.

The amendment taxing dealings by citizens on foreign stock exchanges is a precaution against the shifting of stock transactions to other countries and a consequent evasion of the American tax.

An increased tax on automobiles, trucks and accessories is inevitable. Vigorous protests are going up from automobile manufacturers, who rightly insist that they are taking risks in expending large sums to stimulate trade and encourage public confidence. Nevertheless, the budget must be balanced, and motor cars must bear the tax.

The increase of first-class postage to 3 cents is equitable. Business can stand it, although it is distasteful.

As one special tax after another is voted by the House it becomes apparent that the net result is a "sales tax," levied upon selected items instead of being levied generally upon manufactured goods. The industries and interests bearing these taxes complain bitterly against what they describe as discrimination. There is a justification for this complaint in many cases, and the House would have done better if it had applied a general sales tax. But after the Democratic-insurgent blunder scrapped the sales tax, special taxes were the only recourse.

Changes in the House list of taxes may be expected in the Senate, and probably additional alterations will be made in conference. As a whole, however, the tax bill promises to develop into law largely as it is passed by the House.

Uncertainty in regard to new taxes is even worse than the imposition of a tax. The public nervousness is made clear by the action of the stock market. American business fears that the bonus will be granted, in spite of President Hoover's announcement that he is absolutely opposed to it. The public fears, in other words, that despite the good work of Congress in balancing the budget, all beneficial effects will be nullified by enactment of a bonus law that will not only unbalance the budget but compel Congress later on to impose still heavier taxes.

Members of Congress could do no better service at this juncture than to come out boldly against the bonus bill, so that the public can be reassured that it can not pass. Business will recover its composure in spite of the heavy budget taxes if it can be sure that Government solvency has been established; but it will remain unsettled and uneasy so long as the threat of the bonus hangs over the country. Every legislator who now declares himself against a deficit-making bonus bill is making a stroke for the early return of confidence and good times.

AMBASSADOR MELLON.

Ambassador Mellon will sail for London today to begin a diplomatic career at the age of 76. When Mr. Mellon came to Washington on March 4, 1921, to become Secretary of the Treasury he had already passed the age at which many servants of Uncle Sam are retired. Yet he served in that key position longer than any other man in modern times, and now enters upon an entirely new line of duty for his country.

It is in keeping with a well-established American custom to send men who have distinguished themselves outside of the diplomatic fields to the most important posts in the foreign service. The selection of Mr. Mellon as Ambassador to the Court of St. James is particularly appropriate because of his intimate acquaintance with the far-reaching financial and economic problems that are interwoven with this Government's relations with the nations of Europe. It is typical of this age that a distinguished and trusted statesman-financier should be assigned to the foremost diplomatic position.

Europe is at the crossroads of financial stability. Momentous issues concerning German reparations, the financial stability of the Balkan countries and the stabilization of the currency in several nations will be decided during the next year. Officially, the United States will take no part in these discussions, but it may be assumed that Ambassador Mellon's seasoned judgment will be frequently sought. As for those financial and economic problems in which the United States is directly interested, Mr. Mellon may be relied upon to protect American interests. He goes to London with the full confidence of the people on both sides of the Atlantic.

LABOR STRIKES.

One striking thing about the existing depression has been the absence of serious labor disputes. Wages have been reduced in many industries, several million men have been dismissed, and others have been put on part-time schedules. Yet the number of strikes in the last three years has been negligible. Not a single strike growing out of the depression has attained national significance.

In recent months some labor organizations have become more aggressive. The strike of 25,000 miners in the Hocking Valley field, which is scheduled to begin today, is a disturbing influence. But the chances that it will result in improvement of conditions for the miners are extremely flimsy. The insurgent strike in the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania has broken down, and most of the miners are rushing back to take their jobs before they are filled with new men. In fact, the general experience of striking workers in recent months gives no encouragement for resort to this means of ending a labor dispute.

There seem to be two reasons for the desuetude into which the strike has fallen. First, business and industry in the United States have made a habit of paying high wages whenever possible. Second, the strike as a weapon in the hands of labor has proved ineffective.

The spirit of cooperation which has existed between capital and labor during this period of hard times is remarkable. For the most part wages have not been cut unless such action became absolutely necessary to keep industry on a sound footing. The example of railway employes throughout the United States agreeing to a 10 per cent "deduction" in pay will stand out as a landmark in the history of industrial relations. This cooperative spirit is the most notable development in the organized labor movement during recent years.

Because employers are willing to pay high wages in times of prosperity in order to create a large market for their products the incentive to strike during such periods is substantially weakened. In times of depression, when labor unions have reason to be dissatisfied, the strike is rendered ineffective by a great surplus of labor. Most unions hesitate to call a strike when they know that several million unemployed men are anxious to take their pobs.

The important point is, however, that the employer and the employe is each more reasonable in his attitude toward the other. It would be unfortunate, indeed, if the steady development of this spirit of mutual helpfulness should be interrupted by rash action in these trying times. Labor organizations and industrial leaders ought seriously to contemplate the long-range consequences of labor feuds, and the unions would do well to consider the prospects for failure of any strike at the present time.

THE MODERN JEFFERSON.

To Gov. Ritchie of Maryland goes the distinction of being the foremost advocate of Jeffersonian democracy in public life today. While his brother Democrats in Congress are proposing bond issues running into many millions for relief of the unemployed, Gov. Ritchie continues to demand that local governments shoulder their responsibilities. All good Democrats give lip service to Jefferson. But it is the common practice to ignore him utterly when party policies are being formulated.

A paragraph from Gov. Ritchie's address before the National Democratic Club of New York is worthy of consideration by those bureaucrats in Congress who pretend to respect the sound logic of Jefferson. He said:

> The responsibility of emergency relief for the unemployed of any community rests primarily on that community. The American ideal of self-reliance and self-help inevitably puts it there. When we depart from this idea by transferring the obligation to city, State or Nation, on any basis save only in return for honest work, we always risk and chill, if we do not deaden or destroy that spirit of individual and collective enterprise and self-initiative which brought our country to its high estate, and which is still our greatest hope for the future. There is, moreover, always the danger—I almost said the certainty—that such responsibilities when once shifted from the community to government may never be transferred back to the community again, but will remain a charge upon the public treasury, and will increase and multiply, and thus add to the burdens of a people already taxed almost to death.

This sound reasoning was ignored by the Democratic leaders in the House when they decided to raise $132,000,000 for construction of State roads through Federal taxation, instead of leaving the States to levy taxes for their own needs. Senator Wagner (Democrat), of New York, trampled Democratic principle into the mire when he proposed a $1,100,000,000 bond issue for employment relief projects. Even the Democratic Senate leaders tried to secure the enactment of a $750,000,000 dole bill, in spite of the fact that the States and local communities are taking care of the unemployed in their own way.

In this era of rampant bureaucracy, it is encouraging to hear one Democrat pointing out the pitfalls of centralization. Evasion of responsibility in times of crisis invariably leads to loss of authority and prestige. Local government in America is facing its supreme test. If municipal, county and State governments default, bureaucratic domination from Washington will be strengthened. In reality the plea for Federal handouts during this time of depression amounts to a surrender of precious rights that are now exercised by people through their local representatives.

A STIMULUS TO TRAVEL.

By voting to cut all passenger rates from 10 to 50 per cent the transatlantic steamship conference has taken a courageous step toward reviving interest in travel. During the last year passenger revenue collected by the great steamship lines operating between American and European ports has shrunk to a fraction of its former volume. Many vessels have been laid up, while others have been operated at enormous losses. The natural temptation would be to increase fares to make up these deficits, but the ship owners realize that such action would only further curtail the demand for their services.

With the new rates in effect tourists may reach Europe for less than the round-trip fare to California by rail. The new fares will apply to tourist and third-class as well as to the more luxurious accommodations. Last August all lines operating across the North Atlantic cut the rates for suites and high-priced staterooms. But the result was disappointing. The new rates which are to take effect during the first part of April are a bid for the patronage of people with moderate incomes who may take advantage of the low prices to travel abroad.

The success of this venture will doubtless depend upon the turn of business events during the next few months. If the depression resists all efforts toward reconstruction it will require more than low rates to lure the people into foreign travel. On the other hand, if conditions begin to improve, people will be in a mood for vacations at bargain prices. At any rate, the steamship companies have taken an aggressive step forward. Their courage may make a strong appeal to other groups that are confronted with the problem of recapturing lost trade.

The genius of Representative Patman for making obligations disappear is one of the great unused resources available to Congress. Why not set him at work on the public debt, instead of letting him waste his time on the soldiers' bonus?

The speed with which the House began adopting the substitute tax program indicates that the tax fight is all over but the groaning, and that can be done by the public.

Sixty days in jail ought to give a Communist a chance for reflection, but perhaps he will need more.

Secretary Hyde needn't brag that his department is the prize financial boob. The House is not through yet.

Gov. Roosevelt can't understand why he is not supported by Al Smith, but Jack Raskob, he understands.

BACK TO THE LAND

From the Saturday Evening Post.

For several years it has been known that the movements of population between city and country were undergoing significant changes, but the full extent and meaning of these shifts have not been clear. Recently published figures of the Department of Agriculture make fully evident, however, the great proportions of the present back-to-the-farm movement, although the suspicion prevails that this is only a temporary unemployment impulse, a relief journey, or, as one authority says, a return for a bite to eat rather than to till the soil. But even if those who are returning to the farm are there only until industrial prosperity resumes, the very fact that they have gone back for the time being deserves general notice.

From one predominantly agricultural State, where large numbers had formerly left the farm for the zinc mines, oil fields and other representative industries, it is reported that in the last two years the total number of cultivated farms has increased at least 8 per cent and tilled acreage even more. General conclusions can not be drawn from the experience of any one State, as conditions differ widely. But Government figures show that for the country as a whole a marked change became apparent in 1930. During that year the farm population actually gained, after losing ground for ten to twenty years. Half a million fewer people left the farms in 1930 than in 1924, and the movement from towns and cities to farms in 1930 was the largest since 1924.

Naturally, the genuineness or permanence of this back-to-the-land movement is being viewed askance. Under present conditions, those seeking the land will not find the same security as in former eras.

No one doubts that the small farm home may be made a supplement to other means of livelihood. In many cases farm homes do enable the owners to withstand with less suffering the recurrent periods of partial or total unemployment in other occupations. But whether any large movement back to the farm as a fully sustaining unit is capable of a successful outcome is quite another question.

Yet the continuance of these movements of population will be awaited with the keenest interest. This is so because most people feel that the present utilization of land and distribution of population are far from satisfactory. This conviction persists despite the extreme depression which agriculture has suffered and the great overproduction of foodstuffs. Gov. Roosevelt recently told the New York Legislature that there is a definite overpopulation of the larger communities, and added that the idea behind this statement is not any mere back-to-the-farm movement.

"It is based on the fact that the pendulum has swung too far in the direction of the cities and that a readjustment must take place to restore the economic and sociological balance."

POST HASTE.

"Whanne that April with his shoures sote
The droughte of March hath perced to the rote."—Canterbury Tales.

If this slashing of travel costs continues it will soon become a question as to whether we can afford to stay at home this summer.

The funambulistic Japs being somewhat in disfavor just now, the House balancing act easily takes headliner place.

Efforts to dry-clean the rich may result in a lot of us poor folks having to soak our megaphone radios and 6-year-old buses.

New York has a brilliant plan to avoid losing her 5-cent subway fare—by taxing each fare 2 cents.

The 104 telephone companies of the United States showed an increase in operating income last year of a little more than 1 per cent. Not a heavy gain, but it was the only group to show any increase. Evidently a good many hurried explanations had to be made.

All old Ed Howe asks is "please don't vote for a candidate merely because he is clever at knocking."

Maine force has now been added to the metaphysical arguments behind Gov. Roosevelt's candidacy.

At least the House debacle has made apparent the onus of a bonus at this time.

"Completion of Municipal Center must wait years." So the Capital must continue to revolve around the Willard lobby.

Tempering the belligerent reply of President de Valera is not so much due to veneration of crown and sovereign as regard for the crowns and sovereigns England exchanges for Irish products.

They're off! In other words the auto race is on. Your sales resistance will be taxed, as the only thing left, to avoid becoming owner of a new car for that Sunday outing.

You are not supposed to notice that a cross-eyed and lop-sided sales tax assembled piecemeal is a sales tax.

It certainly demonstrates war-time bravery for an able-bodied vet with a job to demand a bonus payment now.

DARING.

They're not paying fancy money for the ordinary labor,
They are cutting down the wages for the work that all can do,
Now the rate is down for old tasks
But they're paying well for bold tasks,
And a youth will be rewarded for what's difficult and new.

There seems little in the future for the common order taker,
And but little for the fellow who says, "Tell me what to do."
But the youngster with ambition
Who'll defy old-time tradition,
Will find fame and fortune waiting when he works his problem through.

Oh, the ruts of life are crowded with a squirming mass of workers,
But there's room afar aplenty for the daring pioneers,
And the brave and the undaunted
Who will find the new things wanted,
Will be welcomed by the Nation and be honored down the years.

Time to Clean Up the Neighbor's Children Is After You Wash Your Own.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MANY of the sorrows that now beset us can be traced to the fact that we have become a race of statesmen.

The great war made us aware of geography and the events that followed made us conscious of world finance and world politics.

This increase of knowledge did us more good than harm while times were prosperous, but it proved a curse when conditions changed.

There were two reasons for the evil effect of it.

In the first place it afforded us an alibi. It is the immemorial custom of man, established by the first of the species, to shift the blame to other shoulders. And the man who can blame others for his troubles will not look for faults in himself.

In the second place, this new knowledge gave us a kind of proprietary interest in the world's affairs. We became partizans of this or that leader, this or that nation.

The business of other peoples monopolized our thoughts. And it is axiomatic that a man who pays too much attention to his neighbor's business pays too little attention to his own.

Blaming the world for our troubles keeps us from finding and correcting the faults in our own system, and by keeping our nose in the world's business we lose the knack of keeping it on the grindstone where it belongs.

It isn't in human nature to be keenly interested in two things at the same time. No man can serve two masters. You will search in vain for a man who gives sufficient attention to his own business while meddling in the business of others.

If Americans could save the world while saving themselves, that would be an ideal arrangement. But it can't be done. One or the other must be neglected.

That being true, the wisest course for Americans is that adopted long ago by the French. Let them return to the way of their fathers, think only in terms of America, and let the rest of the world go hang.

If you, as an individual, can do nothing to benefit other nations, and if these other nations resent all meddling by outsiders, why not purge your mind of matters that don't concern you and resume the selfish business of buttering your own bread?

Bonus Must Wait.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Full payment of the bonus at this time would cost the taxpayers in excess of $1,000,000,000 more than it will cost them if the bonus is paid in 1945, as originally planned. Such a cash drain on the Government now would be almost suicidal. If, as Mr. Patman proposes, the bonus is paid by starting the printing presses and issuing fiat money, the national credit will suffer the usual evils of inflation. The American Legion knows this and is standing by its agreement of last September not to urge bonus payment now. The whole movement is being pushed in Congress by a group of inflationists.

The President is right. The budget must be balanced and the national credit must be protected. The bonus must wait.

Can Not Control Itself.

Los Angeles Times.

Speaker Garner would appear to be definitely eliminated as a presidential possibility by this debacle, in which his leadership is overwhelmingly repudiated. He is faced with a dilemma—either he must admit that he can not control the Democratic party or that it can not be controlled. In the first case he must give way to some one who can control; the second admission is equivalent to saying that the party is not to be trusted to carry on government under any circumstances. Since Garner's own Speakership is presumably due to the judgment of his colleagues that he can control the Democrats if anybody can, it seems to be fairly plain that the Democrats are incapable of responsible organization.

The voters of the country are unlikely to put any such party in power, especially in a time of national crisis.

Doing Without.

Minneapolis Journal.

There is only one way by which the individual may live within his means, and that is by doing without the things he would like to have, but can not afford to buy. The same rule applies to governments, national, State or local. Prosperity will not return, with any assurance of its permanency, until we, the people, are willing to do without a great many of the things that our Federal and lesser governments have been doing for us.

Mob Leaders.

New York Times.

The Democrats at Washington are fairly crying aloud for some one to come and rescue them from the pit into which they have fallen. Speaker Garner may try to do it. Gov. Roosevelt could also help. He recently made an impassioned plea for leadership in our public life. It is no time for him, or for any other influential Democrat, to imitate the French politician who saw his adherents becoming a mob, and who said sorrowfully: "I must follow them because I am their leader."

Certainly.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Here You Have the Strength of Murderers' Row, Compiled by "Box Seat," the Mathematical Sleuth.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: While we are talking about the baseball season's pennant chances, some figures in regard to the murderers' row strength of the three likely contenders may be worth printing.

In the line-ups submitted you may look for a change or so as the campaign gets started, but as regards increase of hits it is, in the ordinary run of baseball chances, not apt to matter much. So as to give each player credit for every ounce of offensive ability he may possess at this stage of his career, his best average in the years 1929, 1930, 1931 is selected.

For the Philadelphia five we have Simmons, Haas, Foxx, Bishop, Cochrane, whose respective best averages for the three-year period are 390, 323, 354, 294 and 357.

For New York, Chapman, Combs, Ruth, Gehrig, Joe Sewell, with averages of, respectively, 316, 345, 373, 379, 315.

For Washington, Myer, Manush, West, Cronin, Reynolds, 303, 355, 333, 346, 359.

So that, averaging the three groups, we have the murderers' row summary:

Macks	344
Yanks	346
Griffs	339

If these figures give anywhere like a good betting slant on the punch of the three clubs, it does really look as if the Griffs ought to be able to more than make up for what they lack in that respect by speed on the bases and smart fielding.

Decent Citizens Must Be Aroused to Duty—Neglect in Voting.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Our people must be awakened. Not to frantic mobs, but to solidarity among righteously determined citizens.

We are reminded repeatedly that only about 50 per cent of our people went to the polls and voted in the last national election. Is it any wonder we are bogged down? What private individual could get along with such half-hearted action?

There should be awakened such zeal for good citizenship that every decent, respectable person would become unbearably uncomfortable whenever he found himself inclining to shirk jury duty, tax paying, or any other obligation to his country.

There should be a wholesale harking back not only to the "faith" of the fathers, but to their spirit of Godly manhood.

Disabled Veteran Says President Has Been Misled by Veteran Racketeers.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: President Hoover has been misled into believing that the veterans are opposed to full payment of the adjusted compensation. Prominent veteran political racketeers went to Detroit last year and sold us out by creating a smoke screen in favor of beer to offset the veterans' real need.

Thousands of our disabled veterans are living in single rooms, unable to purchase the necessary substantial food required for their physical, social and economic recovery.

The Administration favored a dole to the railroad and bankers in advocating creation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Are we unreasonable in pleading for payment of a just debt?

Mr. Parkinson Would Tax Rubber, Silk and Coffee.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I like your editorials regarding the course the Democrats are taking in the House of Representatives relative to the balancing of the budget. They are fair, logical and timely.

It occurs to me that if the Democrats desire to put into operation the principle of tariff for revenue only, they should tax the imports of rubber, silk and coffee, which now come in free of duty. Such a tax will, of course, be borne by the consumer, but it will do two things: Carry out a traditional Democratic principle and raise the necessary money to balance the budget.

WOOD OUTLASTS STEEL.

Reports concerning the collapse of the roof of the Sixtus wing of the Library of the Vatican at Rome attribute it to the disintegration of the mortar in the masonry surrounding the ends of the oak beams or to the weakening of the ends of the beams by worms.

However, the structure was 350 years old and it had been realized for about five years that some of the galleries containing books were obsolete and dangerous, according to an article in Time. In fact, the work of removing the old oak beams from the roofs of the building around Belvedere Court has been going on for several years. The steel trusses which modern engineers are inserting in place of the worm-eaten oak beams of the Vatican Library roof are by no means a permanent repair. "Steel," says the article, "rusts quicker than worms eat oak. The wooden beams had lasted nearly 350 years. Steel beams, unless they can be protected by constant painting, will not last 150. (As every contractor knows, cast and wrought iron are many times as rust-resisting as steel, but they have not the tensile strength necessary for building members.)"

Under suitable conditions wood will outlast iron and steel, as rust seems to be more destructive than rot or other forms of wood disintegration. It was only recently, after enduring for almost 1,000 years, that it was necessary to replace the wood beams of the roof of Westminster Hall in London.

SHANGHAI CHINESE ATTACK JAPANESE

New Rioting Is Held Menace to Peace Negotiations; Parley Continues.

Shanghai, March 31 (A.P.).—Ill-feeling between Chinese and Japanese civilians, stirred by an attack of Chinese ruffians on a Japanese man in the heart of the International Settlement, threatened further trouble for the peace negotiations here today, just as they made definite progress.

The Japanese, who was walking down Edward VII street, was seriously injured by the Chinese crowd that set upon him. Apparently only a quick rescue by the French police saved him from death.

Japanese consular officials said they considered the incident a grave illustration that the Japanese here could not walk through the streets without danger of attacks from the Chinese. They planned to protest the attack to the French authorities, under whose jurisdiction it occurred, urging precautions against a recurrence.

A breakdown of the peace parleys, expected in some quarters, over the major issue of withdrawal of Japanese troops from the Shanghai area had been averted. But the delegates still had many questions to decide before complete harmony could be reached.

Mutual concessions were made today before the conference adjourned until Saturday, giving the delegates time to refer the difficulties to their home governments.

The Japanese agreed to withdraw into four separated districts, as follows:

1. The Woosung zone, including the railway yards and docks.
2. Hongkew Park, including a small sector of Chapei extending a mile east of the Woosung Railway.
3. The Yangtzepoo district, including the present Japanese headquarters at the Kungdah cotton mill and the adjacent area, extending a mile outside the settlement boundaries.
4. The vicinity of the Kiangwan race course, east of the village of Kiangwan.

The Chinese, on the other hand, refused to concede the Woosung district, although they agreed to permit the Japanese to use a strip of territory between the Woosung Railway yards and the northwest edge of the settlement. They also objected to the Japanese occupying the Kiangwan district and any portion of Chapei west of the railway.

House Body Waits Local Relief Data

Approval of $600,000 for Unemployment Aid Is Being Delayed.

The House District appropriations subcommittee still is awaiting further expense data from local relief organizations before approving $600,000 for local unemployment aid, Chairman Clarence Cannon announced yesterday.

The subcommittee has completed marking remaining provisions of the bill, Representative Cannon said. He said the Community Chest had declined to furnish names of contributors of $25 and more, while the large majority of the local charity groups have not filed requested data on employes salaries.

G. U. Law School Debates Tonight

Fourth of Prize Series to Be in Form of Trial of Agency Case.

The fourth prize debate of the Georgetown University School of Law will be held at 6:10 o'clock tonight at the law school between representatives of the four law clubs. Instead of a formal debate, the contest will take the form of the trial of a case involving a question in agency.

The speakers, who serve as counsel, are James S. Ryan, the Gould Law Club, and James C. G. Bernhardt, the Carroll Law Club, for the appellant and John E. Farrell, White Law Club, and William B. Stohn, Butler Law Club, for the appellee.

Lieut. York Takes Desk In Engineer Department

Lieut. Robert E. York, recently transferred to Washington with the rank of assistant District engineer commissioner, was at his desk yesterday. It was the first time in several months that three officials of the engineering department were on the job at the same time as Maj. John C. Gotwals, engineer commissioner, returned to part-time duty Wednesday.

Capt. Howard F. Clark, the second engineer commissioner to be named, who will succeed Capt. Hugh P. Oram, recently named director of inspection, is expected the latter part of this month. Maj. Paul A. Hodgson, who is to succeed Maj. D. A. Davison, will not arrive until the middle of the summer.

CENTRAL EUROPEAN AID IS LEAGUE'S AIM

Council Will Meet in Special Session in Interest of Economic Recovery.

Geneva, March 31 (U.P.).—The economic and financial rehabilitation of the central European states as a step toward alleviation of Europe's business difficulties will be considered at a special session of the League of Nations council, summoned today to meet on April 12.

The council will consider:

1. Report of the league's financial committee, which, it was learned, includes a vigorous attack on the world tariff system on the ground that it strangles trade.
2. The steps necessary to prevent financial collapse of Austria, Hungary, Greece and Bulgaria.
3. The French plan for a Danubian economic union, which the financial committee indicated as a probable means to economic improvements, and which will be the subject of conferences in London next week among France, Great Britain, Italy and Germany.

Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the League of Nations, announced the council had been summoned because of the urgent financial situation in the Balkans, where several nations have been threatening to declare moratoriums if they are not aided. The larger powers have important financial and political interests in the central European states and the financial committee recommended loans and other measures to aid the stricken states.

The committee's report also held that the tariff system now in effect throughout most of the world had steadily intensified the economic crisis since last September and greatly increased the "risks of default" on foreign and internal obligations of some countries. The report said the creditor countries should be impressed by their moral obligation to buy goods abroad, as well as to collect debts, thus preventing "the progressive strangulation of world trade."

Washington Clinic Ended by Dentists

Dr. Tinker Speaks and Calls Sessions Most Successful.

Dr. Edward T. Tinker, of Minneapolis, nationally known authority on crown and bridge work, closed the Four-State Postgraduate Clinic at the Mayflower by the District of Columbia Dental Society yesterday with an all-day clinic. Dr Tinker's talk was illustrated by lantern slides and motion pictures.

Dr. Arthur D. Weakley, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the clinic, which brought more than 400 dentists to Washington, was delighted with results obtained. He declared it the best meeting of the kind ever held in Washington and said that the new methods of handling the clinic, whereby the whole group is able to spend the day with the clinician instead of breaking up into groups for short talks, was largely responsible.

A number of informal dinners and small parties were given for individual visitors last night, but the clinic officially ended with the conclusion of Dr. Tinker's talk.

New V-8 Ford Car Is Seen by 25,000

Capital Agents Take Orders for 200 Autos During Day.

Despite extremely unfavorable weather, nearly 25,000 persons yesterday went to the Ford Motor Co. at John Marshall place and Pennsylvania avenue to see the new eight-cylinder Ford cars, on exhibition for the first day.

Officials said the orders for 200 automobiles were taken at the first day's business. This represents 60,000 labor hours, they stated. As 5,000 persons had viewed the models on private display Wednesday, nearly 30,000 persons have already looked the new eight over in Washington.

Dealers expect to have models on display early next week. Persons from Detroit who have driven the cars said last night that they could speed at 85 miles an hour in high gear, and were capable of 60 miles an hour in second speed.

Sixth of Japan's New Cruisers Put on Duty

Tokyo, March 31 (A.P.).—The 10,000-ton cruiser Atago was completed at the naval dockyard at Kure today and incorporated into the navy.

It is the sixth of Japan's group of eight 10,000-ton ships. The seventh, the Maya, is now undergoing trial runs and is expected to be commissioned soon, while the eighth, the Chokai, will be completed within two months. All the ships carry ten 8-inch guns and have a top speed of 33 knots.

CHINESE ARE NEAR GOAL IN MANCHURIA

Irregulars Within 30 Miles of Changchun; Tokyo Troops in Clash.

Harbin, Manchuria, March 31 (A.P.). Chinese irregulars are within 30 miles of their objective, Changchun, the new Manchurian capital, it was learned today, while farther north in Kirin Province the irregulars were fighting Japanese around Hailin.

The Rengo (Japanese) News Agency today reported that Japanese forces had captured the railroad station at Hailin from Chinese irregulars, killing 150 Chinese and themselves losing 3 dead and 5 wounded.

Japanese forces in the south, around Nangun, were reported in sharp skirmishes with irregulars who were marching on the capital.

Japanese Plane Missing.

A few days ago tanks, infantry and air forces had been ordered into the Nangun district and apparently had engaged the advancing Chinese.

A reconnoitering Japanese plane which left Harbin for the south of Kirin yesterday was reported missing today, and Japanese military authorities feared it had been forced down in hostile territory.

The rebels around Nangun were reported to be 7,000 strong, and the Japanese under Lieut. Gen. Ren Mori were consolidating their forces with those of the Chinese governor, Hsi Hsia, of Kirin Province to meet the advancing force.

Soviet Held Massing Troops.

Tokyo, March 31 (A.P.).—An official war department communique from Harbin, Manchuria, today told of a concentration of 30,000 Soviet troops at Vladivostok, Siberia.

The report added that the Soviets were confiscating property of the inhabitants of maritime provinces who were suspected of "White Russian" sympathies, and that fortifications and food stores were being reinforced and replenished.

Under new regulations citizens of Vladivostok were being drilled for gas attacks, and heavy motorized artillery was passing through the streets of the city every day.

The former naval arsenal on the Russian island at the entrance of Vladivostok Harbor was reported working at capacity, while fortifications were being strengthened with additional heavy guns.

First Philippines Treasurer Is Dead

Frank A. Branagan, 74, Is Victim of Pneumonia at Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, March 30 (A.P.).—Frank A. Branagan, 74, first American treasurer in the Philippine Islands and a veteran in Government service, is dead. He fell a victim of pneumonia yesterday.

He returned to this country last year, after 31 years of service in the Orient. In 1895, Mr. Branagan, who was born in Steubenville, Ohio, joined the staff of the State Department at Washington as chief of the Bureau of Accounts. In 1898 he went as fiscal attache to the Paris Peace Commission, in which the Spanish-American peace treaty was signed.

In 1900, when William Howard Taft was appointed Governor of the Philippine Islands, Mr. Branagan was selected to accompany the party and to assume the duties of the first American treasurer to the Philippine Islands. He became secretary of commerce of the islands in 1908.

FAR EAST SITUATION BRINGS NEW THREAT

Progress of Negotiations Is Being Watched Here as Soviet Prepares.

Conditions in the Far East are causing considerable disquietude here on account of the growing imminence of clashes between the Japanese and the Soviet troops there. The Japanese puppet state of Manchoukuo is the objective of several guerilla bands of Chinese troops and on the fringes of the Manchurian province additional movements of Soviet troops, material and food supplies have been authoritatively reported.

Secretary Stimson continues to follow, from his sick bed at Woodley, the progress of the negotiations in the Far East. The League of Nations special committee of inquiry, of which Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy is the American member, is still pursuing its activities but it will be sometime before any report will be ready.

Danger Area Growing.

To the north of the Shanghai region, where the committee is at present installed, the danger area is constantly growing. From Siberia it was learned that the Soviet army officials there are quietly strengthening the fortifications of the Red government and additional troops are already on the way from Moscow and the Western Siberian districts.

Activity of Japanese airplanes in the vicinity of the jointly-owned Chinese Eastern railway where Soviet Russian officials and Chinese officials carry on the administration of the road, are believed to be causing them growing anxiety.

The Soviet forces in the Far Eastern province of Vladivostok are dangling on the end of the Transsiberian Railroad, but they are taking no chances on being starved into surrender in the event of any threatening military attack against the Soviet Pacific port. For the past fortnight shipments of grain and other foodstuffs have been reported to such an extent that officials of the new state of Manchoukuo have declared a temporary embargo on the shipment of any more grain out of their lands to Vladivostok.

Soviet Ships Foodstuffs.

Nevertheless, the Soviet export agency of Hleb has circumvented the embargo enough to send out 4,000 tons of wheat and it has also arranged with the agents of a Japanese shipping firm at Dairen to tranship before the end of April the cargo of foodstuffs to Vladivostok.

In the province of Priaumur extensive military "digging-in" moves are afoot. The Soviet engineers have superintended this activity.

The Soviet administration of the Chinese Eastern Railway has concentrated almost the entire rolling stock of the company in Siberia with the result that severe hardships have been worked upon the farmers and merchants along the line who are unable to move their crops out. These freight cars have been shunted into Soviet territory in the event that any emergency requires a sufficient supply of flatcars and freight trains to bear Soviet military equipment to any threatened point.

W. W. POOLE LEAVES SUICIDE NOTE IN CAR

Quotes Classics Before Fatal Leap Off Bridge Near Zoo.

A certificate of suicide was issued late yesterday in the death of Wallace W. Poole, 25, whose crushed body was found by work-bound Zoo employes beneath the Calvert Street Bridge. The body of the young man, whose father lives at Poolesville, Md., was turned over to a Barnesville, Md., undertaker.

Notes found in Mr. Poole's clothing and in his automobile formed the basis of the suicide conclusion of Deputy Coroner A. Magruder McDonald. The note in the machine read, in part:

"He who dances must pay the fiddler. I've taken the fun where I've found it and now I must pay for my fun. Shakespeare says all who live must die, passing through life to eternity, and I suppose he's right. However, let he who is without sin cast the first stone."

The letter concluded with instructions for the notification of Mr. Poole's father and a sister, Miss Virginia Poole, of 1437 Clifton street northwest. The note in Mr. Poole's clothing contained directions for finding his machine which was parked in front of 2803 Woodley road northwest.

Police could find no one who saw Mr. Poole near the bridge or make the leap. The body was found shortly before 7 o'clock by the Zoo workers who notified police. An Emergency Hospital ambulance also responded and the interne with the ambulance pronounced Mr. Poole dead. Park Policemen Maurice Rainey and B. G. Beckman reported they passed the spot where the body was found about an hour before, but saw no sign of anything unusual.

Mr. Poole, it was learned, had been living recently at Poolesville, which was named for his family. He was employed here as a salesman for the American Automobile Association. He was unmarried.

STEEL MAN KILLED BY 'RADIUM WATER'

Costly Medicine He Took as Tonic Proves Fatal to Eben M. Byers.

New York, March 31 (U.P.).—From "radium water" at $2.50 an ounce, which he drank steadily for two years, Eben M. Byers, nationally known sportsman and steel manufacturer, absorbed so much radioactive substance that he died today at Doctors Hospital.

The case, first of its kind on record, has attracted not only the attention of the medical world, but an investigation by the Academy of Medicine and the New York Health Department.

As a coincidence, thought not in connection with the Byers death, the Federal Pure Food and Drug Administration yesterday issued a warning against the use of "radioactive drugs" because of injury that has followed their absorption.

The Federal statement said, however, that an investigation of so-called "radio waters" revealed generally that only a few of the products actually contained radium in any appreciable quantity.

U. S. Urges Caution.

"Radium in active dosage is potent for harm," the department pointed out, "and it should be administered with great caution."

Byers was brought to the New York hospital about a month ago. His case was diagnosed at once as one of radium poisoning, but his condition was so grave at that time that efforts to eradicate the poison were futile. The county medical authorities have not yet made a report as to cause of death.

In the course of the poisoning the radium particles passed through the blood vessels and into the bones, causing great suffering. Byers' jaw was particularly affected, and several operations failed to arrest the poison's progress.

Byers told his physicians that he was in the habit of drinking two or three 2-ounce bottles of the radio water daily. He paid $5 for each 2-ounce bottle. Although he was suffering from no particular ailment, he felt that the water "toned him up" and kept him active.

Contained Radium.

Tests of the water convinced examiners that it actually contained a microscopic quantity of radium salt, formed by the use of radium gas in "charging" the water.

The case is similar in some respects to that of workers in factories where radium paint is used. This is the first death on record, physicians said, where radium has been taken in liquid form with fatal results.

Byers, head of the A. M. Byers Steel Manufacturing Co., was 52 years old. He had lived in Pittsburgh all his life, although he had two summer homes, one in Aiken, S. C., and the other at Southampton.

In 1902 and again in 1903 he was runner-up in the national amateur golf championship matches, and in 1906 he won the championship. Besides his interest in golf, Byers was devoted to horse racing, and owned a large stable at Belmont Park. He was graduated from Yale in 1901.

Movie to Illustrate Washington Parks

Showing Will Be Given by Architects Tonight at National Museum.

The first official showing of a moving picture illustrating the park system of Washington will take place at the New National Museum, Tenth street and Constitution avenue, tonight at 8 o'clock. Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, Director of Public Buildings and Parks, will make an introductory address.

Frederic A. Delano, president of the American Civic Association, will preside. An exhibition of the plan of Washington, illustrated by architects' drawings, paintings and models, will be thrown open for view after the showing of the picture.

Arrangements for the evening are under the auspices of the Washington Chapter, American Institute of Architects; District of Columbia Section of the American Society of Civil Engineers, Parks and Reservations Committee, Washington Board of Trade, Women's City Club, Committee on National Capital, Garden Club of America, Committee of 100 on the Federal City, American Civic Association. An invitation to all park lovers to attend is extended by the committee on arrangements.

Democrats Plan To Push Road Bill

Aim to Force Action on Relief Plan After Tariff Move.

(Associated Press.)

A determined effort by Democratic senators to force action on the House bill for a $135,000,000 emergency road construction program is to be made as soon as the pending tariff bill is voted.

The road measure is a Democratic project for relieving unemployment by making possible State road construction with Federal funds entirely. The bill carries $120,000,000 to match available regular Federal aid allocations, the new funds to be repaid by the States gradually out of future Federal aid money. Some Republicans have predicted its veto if passed.

Sponsors of the bill were confident they could place the bill on the calendar despite the refusal of the Republican steering committee to give it preferred place. When it comes up Senator Wagner (Democrat), New York, intends to try amending it to add his $375,000,000 direct relief bill.

Mme. Schumann-Heink In Wisconsin Hospital

Stevens Point, Wis., March 31 (A.P.). Under orders from physicians for a complete rest, Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, the opera and concert singer was in a hospital today suffering from a combined attack of bronchitis and laryngitis. She spent a comfortable night, the doctors said, but they declined to say how long they thought she would have to remain in the hospital.

She was admitted yesterday following her arrival to visit Ferdinand Ray, husband of her granddaughter.

Anthracite Coal Price Is Lowest in 10 Years

A new spring price list on domestic sizes of Pennsylvania anthracite coal, announced yesterday by representative Pennsylvania hard coal dealers, brings the mine price of this leading household fuel to the lowest point in 10 years, Gen. Brice P. Disque, executive director of the Anthracite Institute, declared.

He pointed out that improvement in mining and preparation of the coal has added so greatly to the heating value of each ton placed on the market that prominent coal men feel that anthracite at the new prices represents the lowest heating cost at any time since before the war. The new prices, as announced, f. o. b. mines, are: Broken, $6; egg, $6.25; stove, $6.50, and chestnut, $6.35.

RETIRING MINISTER 'BARES' METHODISM

'Expose' Made by Veteran Cleric at New York Conference.

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—The Rev. Dr. Benjamin Clark Warren, 72, climaxed 50 years in the pulpit today by enlivening the annual conference of New York Methodist ministers with what he called an expose of the "inside story of Methodism."

The elderly preacher, who recently announced his retirement in the Methodist Episcopal Church at Cold Spring, N. Y., held forth in the Park Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church for an hour and urged the general convention to curtail the appointive power of its bishops.

While his fellow clerics sat stunned, he gave instances in which he said he had been threatened with discipline by the bishops, shunted to small churches and generally subordinated because of his nonconformist teachings and writings.

At length Dr. Christian F. Reisner, pastor of the Broadway Temple Methodist Church and chairman of the church advertising committee of the New York Advertising Club, interrupted.

"I think it would be well for the conference to realize," he remarked, "that if this gets into the newspapers it will get out all over the country."

An ensuing debate on whether Dr. Warren should be permitted to talk beyond the time limit finally led Presiding Bishop Charles L. Mead, of Colorado, to put the question to a vote. It was overwhelmingly decided that Dr. Warren should be given an additional hour for his parting address just preceding the report of the evangelistic committee.

The minister said later he was twice put under pressure for his unorthodox views. Once he wrote a book entitled "In the Land of the Romberg," a denunciation of wealthy parishioners, and again he was advised to leave the pastorate of the Union Methodist Episcopal Church because he spent too much time with the young people.

Illinois Town, Without Funds, to Close Schools

Bloomington, Ill., March 31 (A.P.). Bloomington public schools will close Friday, school officials announced today, and whether they will reopen depends upon a vote April 11 on a proposal to increase the educational tax levy.

The proposed increase would raise the levy from $1 to $1.24 per $100 valuation. Sponsors of the plan say it would materially bolster the school income which has been reduced by lowered property valuations. The same proposal failed to pass March 7.

GROCER WOUNDED DURING ROBBERY

While police were investigating this case, the attempted hold-up of Richards was reported. Richards, who lives at the Tuberculosis Hospital, said he was walking at Fourteenth and Upshur streets northwest, when a shabbily-dressed man came up to him, produced a pistol and demanded his money.

An automobile passed by and the holdup man ran into a clump of trees and disappeared.

Fifteen minutes later, Miss Duffy, walking in front of her home at 4126 Seventh street northwest, about four blocks away from where Richards was stopped, and in the same block where Lane lives at 4142 Seventh street, was overtaken by a man.

She said he grasped her arm. She screamed and broke away, running into her home. The man escaped.

Descriptions furnished police by the three all tallied in general. They said he was 5 feet 8 inches tall, about 25 years old, weight about 135 pounds. He was shabbily dressed in a dark overcoat and hat, and a blue suit. Richards, however, said the man was wearing a light overcoat. All said the person who attempted to hold them up was unkempt and needed a shave.

Four persons who saw the slayer of Riedel late yesterday afternoon partially identified Holt as the perpetrator of the crime. Two other witnesses said Holt was not the man.

Holt was arrested early Wednesday morning with three other persons, after Detective Sergt. Howard E. Ogle chased and halted the machine they were riding in. A hand-to-hand struggle followed with the arrest of Holt and the escape of the others. They were later taken into custody.

Detective Sergt. Harry Wilson, head of the homicide squad, said last night that the partial picking of Holt as the killer of Riedel was insufficient to form the basis for his being charged with that crime. Other witnesses will view Holt today.

The others held are Roland M. Golden, 45; Oscar E. Loving, 22, and Miss Fern Gardiner, 26-year-old telephone operator. More than 80 victims and witnesses in recent holdups have looked at the quartet, but failed to identify any of those held.

Two .38-caliber pistols were found on the street, at Eleventh and P streets northwest, where the fracas resulting in the quartet's arrest occurred. During the fray, Holt wrestled Ogle's gun away from him and attempted to fire it, but the detective prevented its discharge. The crew of a passing street car then came to Ogle's assistance. Later with a detail from the Second Precinct, the detective arrested the others in an apartment house.

Mr. Riedel was shot and instantly killed in his shop on the night of February 6. At the time, the slaying was attributed to the "sniper" who was supposedly active at the time. Holt generally answers the descriptions given by persons who saw the man in the neighborhood, and later emerge from Riedel's bakery after several shots were heard.

TRADE COMMISSION TO RETAIN WORKERS

Order Laying Off 100 Clerks Recalled as Congress Assures Funds.

After receiving assurance of House leaders that sufficient salary funds would be made available, the Federal Trade Commission yesterday countermanded the order which would have furloughed 100 employes without pay, beginning today.

The 100 workers were cheered yesterday when the recall order was issued following a promise from Congress that funds would be provided.

The original furlough order came when the Bureau of the Budget had rejected a request for a $70,000 deficiency appropriation. The employes are being retained on the basis of the House promise, William E. Humphrey, chairman of the commission said.

The deficiency was created when the commisison undertook investigations into the building materials, cement and chain store industries ordered several months ago by the Senate, which did not, however, provide funds for them.

As was customary the commission used money already available for other work and then asked for a deficiency appropriation. The Bureau of the Budget refused this and was sustained by the House appropriations committee.

Because of this situation the commission decided to furlough enough workers from April 1 to make up the deficit. In addition to the deficiency for the present year the commission is also faced with a $390,000 reduction in funds for the next year, if the House sustains the ppropriations committee. If these funds are not available, the commission's work will suffer and there would be dismissals, Chairman Humphrey said.

Georgetown Tour To Be Made Today

Historic Places Will Be Visited; Another Trip Set Tomorrow.

The third annual tour of Eighteenth Century Georgetown, which will visit four notable houses and pass by all the famous homes in that section, where many of the Nation's historic personages lived or visited, will be held this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon. The tour, which is open to the public and will be of especial interest to visitors from other cities in Washington, is held every half hour, and is made by buses which start from Peck Memorial Chapel, at Twenty-eighth and M streets northwest.

The houses visited will be Decatur House, the Dumbarton House, built by Charles Carroll and now owned by the Colonial Dames of America; the old Russian Embassy and the Foxall House, and stops of some duration are made at each house so their interior and furnishings can be viewed by the tour parties. Guides, who are members of old Georgetown families, accompany each bus on the tours and point out the historic houses en route.

The tour is held under auspices of a group of prominent Georgetown residents for the benefit of St. John's Church, O street and Potomac avenue, the second oldest Episcopal church in Washington, which was built in 1794. President Thomas Jefferson headed the list of subscribers and Francis Scott Key was a member of its first vestry.

Robinson's Hands Off in Arkansas

Taking No Part in Party Selection of Delegates at Home Today.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Joe Robinson, of Arkansas, who was the vice presidential nominee with Alfred E. Smith in 1928, is taking no hand in the decision to be made today by the Arkansas State central committee in the selection of delegates to the national convention.

"I am leaving the decision," Robinson said yesterday, "entirely in the hands of the committee, with the hope that it will work out whatever is necessary in the interests of party harmony. I am busy with my work here in Congress and have taken no part in politics either of my State or in the Nation. I am most interested in party harmony."

Robinson was indorsed for President by the Senate of the Arkansas Legislature. Because of his active campaign in 1928 as vice persidential nominee and as leader of the party in the Senate, he is regarded as a potential Democratic presidential candidate.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR HEATING PLANT

Huge Project Will Serve 22 New Federal Buildings in Triangle Area.

Contract for the gigantic heating plant that will serve 22 of the new Government buildings has been awarded to the Combustion Engineering Co., of New York, a subsidiary of the International Combustion Engineering Corporation, it was learned yesterday at the U. S. Treasury Department.

The contract, the largest awarded in the boiler field this year, calls for four boilers of 25,000 horsepower and 10,000 nominal boiler horsepower. The plant will consume 60,000 tons of bituminous coal a year and 75,000 tons when contemplated buildings are added to the Federal building development. These buildings will include all those in the triangle and the municipal center.

The plant will be housed on D street between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets southwest. Underground tunnels and steel pipings will connect the buildings to be supplied with heat, and an emergency line will be run to the west heating plant which is to supply Government buildings west of Seventeenth street northwest.

The boilers will be 100 feet in height, and 50 feet in diameter and length. Two additional boilers will be purchased within the year to supplement the four now under construction. The entire plant will manufacture a billion pounds of steam in a year, and will represent the largest single heating plant in the country.

Work of constructing the boilers is expected to take eight or nine months. The plant will be strictly a heating one, all electricity for the buildings to be supplied by the Potomac Electric & Power Co. The design for the plant is the work of the United Engineers and Constructors of Philadelphia. Plans for the power house are being drawn by Paul Crat, designer of the Pan-American Building. Cost of the building and plant will be $5,000,000 it is estimated.

Congress Support Is Urged by Mills

Treasury Secretary Speaks at Reception of New York Society.

"The citizens of the United States should be patriotic enough to support any measures that Congress takes in order to keep the Federal loan value of this country up to par, even to paying taxes that Congress may impose on the people," according to Ogden L. Mills, Secretary of the Treasury, in an address delivered at a reception and ball given by the New York State Society last night at the Willard Hotel.

Maxwell Fassett, special assistant to the Attorney General of the United States, introduced the following speakers, who gave short addresses that were broadcast over a nation-wide hookup of the National Broadcasting System: William R. Vallance, of New York, spoke on the New Yorkers that have held positions in the State Department; John Taber, representative from New York, spoke on the fundamental principals and conditions in the United States today; Francis D. Mills, Colgate University and industries of New York State, and John Lord O'Brien, Assistant to the Attorney General of the United States, paid a tribute to the men from New York who have held positions of note in the Government.

He also paid a tribute to the work that New York University is doing in the educational line. A dance was held after the reception.

Driver of Truck Held After Pedestrian Dies

A truck driver was held for action of the coroner's jury under $1,500 bond last night, after a man he had struck at Second and East Capitol streets northeast, died in Casualty Hospital. The victim, a colored man, had not been identified late last night.

Adolph R. Dietz, 25 years old, of 1522 Twenty-third street southeast, operator of the truck, was attempting to make a left turn into East Capitol street at the time of the accident, according to police. The colored man's skull and left leg were fractured and he suffered internal injuries. He died at 5 o'clock, five hours after being admitted to the hospital.

—A New Record for Interest Payments

Today is interest day for savings depositors of the American Security and Trust Company, and thousands of accounts in the Savings Department have been credited with the interest due for the six months' period ended March 31, 1932.

These credits totaled $215,024.75, an amount which established a new high mark in the long record of semi-annual interest payments made by this bank to its savings depositors.

Again this emphasizes the growing favor with which the Washington public has accepted the savings account as a safe and convenient plan for the accumulation and profitable employment of surplus funds.

If, however, you are not sharing in these interest payments, open a savings account at any one of our five banking offices and keep it in a healthy condition. You will then be prepared to share in the next distribution which takes place on October 1, 1932.

MR. TWITCHELL MAKES A PROPOSAL TO AL CAPONE.

Mr. Al Capone,
In or About the Cook County Jail,
Chicago, Ill.

Dear Al.—Has anything happened to you? Are you sick or anything? I ask this, because you have not as yet made an offer to find the solution of the Federal debt problem if Washington will release you. Something along this line was generally expected from you, Al.

Since you have not made the offer, I am asking if you would consider the idea. It seems to me that you are the one man who could get us out of this mess and balance the budget as easy as rolling off an indictment.

* * * *

Most of the money (the ready cash, I mean) in America today is in the hands of the racketeers. It is the only money that is growing all the time, safe from all taxation. In fact, racketeers are to all intents and purposes immune from taxation. The rest of us are expected to come across, revealing all the intimate details of our business, trade or profession and come across regularly with a percentage of all receipts.

* * * *

The racketeers are not bothered with these messy details, however, under our system of government, and so it seems to me that you are in a position, if Uncle Sam would make a bargain and set you free, to go out and get enough money from the racketeers to pay all the government debts.

Furthermore, it is to their interest that the government be put on its feet. The government is very considerate of them, to the exclusion of practically every other class, and might even be said to have been their best friend and sincerest critic.

Well, anyway, Mr. Capone, here is your chance. You can be the big man of the hour. I judge from the feeling at Washington that a man who can find the money to put Uncle Sam back on the road to financial security can have anything he wants, and that a little thing like a pardon would be nothing. I can give you a long list of prominent men who have been let out of some of our best Federal prisons for less. What do you say? Yours truly,

ELMER TWITCHELL.

His springtime call so pleasing;
His pipings are delightful, but
I'll bet his pipes are freezing.

In the egg rolling contest on the White House lawn they rolled four Democratic congressmen a mile and a half before realizing the mistake * * * if any.

New York State is to plant 20,000,000 trees. But the big job will come when it tries to teach the people to live in 'em.

TOO MUCH.

A radio program was broadcast from a speeding express train the other night. This is all right with us, provided it doesn't lead to the broadcasting of those pinochle and contract bridge games in the smoking cars.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

Boys Are Often Embarrassed by Blemished Complexions.

MY columns of the last few days dealing with the subject of acne were for boys as well as girls. Because boys are often embarrassed by blemished complexions as well as girls. An inferiority complex due to a pimply skin has been known to affect boys as well as girls. I am writing this for boys whose skins embarrass them. I want them to feel free to write to me. Many letters from young men come to me, but the majority of them are in an apologetic vein. I don't know why this is. It is the most natural thing in the world for nice young men to wish to present a wholesome appearance.

Elsie Pierce.

For a wholesome appearance is a business as well as a social asset. Haven't you known some one who didn't attract or who failed to land a job because of a blemished skin? I have.

Girls feel free to write to an expert to learn the best method for treating pimples, blackheads, dandruff, &c. Or they can drop in nonchalantly at the nearest beauty parlor for advice and treatment. But all too often the boy of the family endures embarrassment of pimples heroically and does nothing about the condition for fear of being criticized if he shows an interest in his "complexion."

The treatment for blackheads and acne for boys is precisely the same as the local care for girls. This treatment was outlined yesterday and the day before and I hope all the boys and girls for whom it was intended read it. If you missed it, do write to me.

Remember that the health rules and fundamentals of cleanliness, fresh air, proper diet and exercise are all as important for the young men of the family as for the young women.

Remember, too, that scrupulously clean hands will serve you well. If your work makes it necessary for you to soil your hands with automobile grease, oil, grime or dust of one kind or another, do keep a good soap and nail brush handy and wash your hands as often as possible.

Also try to avoid touching your face or your hair except when treating scalp or face. That's one way to avoid infection, you know.

Oily skin, oily hair, dandruff, blackheads and pimples are the skin and scalp difficulties from which many young men suffer. If any of these embarrass you, write to me and I shall be happy to help you. I hope you won't feel shy or backward about doing this. Surely young men have a right to that clean, attractive look that makes for a pleasing appearance.

My diet, health rules and exercises are good for all the family. A self-addressed, stamped envelope will bring them to you.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Jeune fille frock of white, with tulle overskirt and peplum edged in red grosgrain ribbon roses. (Seen in a New York shop.)

NEW YORK, March 31.—And now, if you please, bar dresses.

'Course you mustn't be shocked, if Paris just doesn't take prohibition seriously. You would understand if you could see young Americana abroad. And Paris has decided that there has to be some sort of a dress for bar wear, something less formal than a "cocktail gown," which one supposedly wears for before-dinner cocktails, and is going to dine in, and something slightly more formal than afternoon street wear.

Be yourself! I'm tied in double bow knots myself! But honestly, now, here's the around-the-clock of the Paris couturiere this season—from noon on:

Luncheon ensemble; noon to 8 o'clock.

Afternoon ensemble; walking or shopping.

Afternoon gown; matinee or bridge.

Bar dress; tea or, er—tea.

Cocktail gown; cocktails and informal dinner or theater.

Or Sunday night frock; formally informal, for cocktail and dinner.

Formal gown; special dinners, opera, premieres, galas, &c. (Scarcer than the back of miladi's bodice, my deah!)

And that, is that—may be. If Mme. Moderne doesn't get quite, quite fed up with it all and go back to something like the one or two piece, knee length frock of postwar days, topped off with an inevitable cloche.

We hope not, but then, bar dresses are almost too much for our sense of humor!

* * * *

How about the young miss between 14 and 16? She has to have very special attention, we know. Therefore we offer you this dress of white flat crepe for her, the bodice incrusted and covered with tulle, and the tulle following the skirt line and hanging free and longer at each side. Peplum and overskirt are edged in red moire roses. Or white, if one has graduation in mind.

* * * *

What kind of a costume slip, or underskirt, or what, is best to wear under today's dresses with their tight hips and their fullish skirts? The wrap-around ones, while they suit the hip part, don't suit the full skirt of today's dresses, and gathers are impossible. Well, Dah-ray to the rescue, of course, with an underskirt that is just right for the new dresses, and has to be cut and sewn a certain way to hang correctly. Underskirt for a dress or an evening frock, or a dress—like the six-in-one dress. For, as a matter of fact, this week's leaflet tells you how to make a special underskirt and guimpe combination for that very dress, the guimpe designed so that the sleeve sets of that dress can be sewn right to it, with very little trouble and a certainty of the sleeves setting properly. So-o-o-o better send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's leaflet telling you how to make a new style underskirt and guimpe arrangement—for this six-in-one dress, or any other.

* * * *

A fichu capelet of purplish blue tulle, pleated and crossed over under the bust and tied in the back is a very attractive finishing for a blue or white evening gown. Paris abounds in such fancies, and this color is particularly smart for spring.

* * * *

Did I forget to say I sketched this fichu today?

Au revoir.

The Homemaker

Plans and Recipes for the Week-End.

A DANGEROUS day, this—and I'm rather wondering what these girls of mine will be up to. Once I called "Mr. Lyon" at a number which happened to be the Zoo. They had left a message on my desk—it was all quite simple and regular. But something tells me that my strategy in getting even was adequate—they haven't bothered much since then; but one always wonders, and one is glad to retain some ability to "cook" up things other than menus and foodstuffs, such as beef-liver timbales for tomorrow night's supper and braised shoulder of veal for Sunday's midday meal.

SUNDAY'S DINNER.
Grapefruit Cup
Radishes Spring Onions
Braised Shoulder of Veal with Stuffed Tomato Cups
Pan-Roasted Potatoes
Coleslaw with Dressing
Strawberry Shortcake
Coffee

SATURDAY'S SUPPER.
Beef-Liver Timbales with Mustard Sauce
Country Fried Potatoes
Shredded String Beans
Apple Sauce
Ginger Snaps
Coffee

Beef-Liver Timbales with Mustard Sauce.

2 tablespoonfuls butter
¼ cupful stale breadcrumbs
2-3 cupful milk
1 cupful cooked chopped liver
2 tablespoonfuls parsley
2 eggs
½ teaspoonful salt
Dash of pepper.
½ teaspoonful onion salt

Melt butter, add crumbs and milk, cook, stirring constantly, for five minutes. Add liver, parsley and seasonings. Beat eggs and add to mixture. Pour into well-greased timbale molds. Set molds in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven 20 minutes.

Mustard Sauce.

2 tablespoonfuls butter
1 teaspoonful flour
2 tablespoonfuls prepared mustard
1 teaspoonful lemon juice
1½ teaspoonfuls Worcestershire sauce
¾ cupful stock (may be made with bouillon cubes)

Brown the butter, add the flour and the seasonings mixed with lemon juice, lastly, add the stock. Cook, stirring constantly, until smooth.

Apple Sauce.

Wash and core ten tart apples, but do not peel them. Cut in quarters and cook until tender in about a cupful of cold water. Stir to keep from sticking. Add one-half cupful of sugar, one tablespoonful of lemon juice and a little nutmeg or cinnamon. Cook until soft and press through a sieve.

Ginger Snaps.

½ cupful molasses
½ cupful sugar
1 egg
2 teaspoonfuls ginger
1 teaspoonful cinnamon
1 teaspoonful soda
1 teaspoonful cream of tartar
3 tablespoonfuls flour

Beat all together and let stand over night. In the morning add enough flour to roll. This makes about three dozen. No shortening is required. Bake in a quick oven.

WHAT TO DO WITH LEFT-OVERS

Do you ever wonder how to use left-over meat, fish, vegetables, fruits, &c.?

If you do, and who doesn't, you will surely welcome the numerous suggestions and the variety of recipes for tasty dishes contained in our newest folder. All are essentially inexpensive, appetizing and simple, to meet the present day need for economy.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

THE PLACE OF POTATOES.

DR. J. H. KELLOGG makes the following statement:

"The city of Manchester, England, is policed by big Irishmen who were raised on a diet of buttermilk and potatoes. If the American people will eat three times as many potatoes and one-third as much meat or none at all, and will consume one quart of milk a day the result will doubtless be the addition of 2 inches or more to the average height, and a notable reduction in the death rate."

Not many people will agree with these statements made by the doughty proponent of a nonmeat diet, in spite of his rare good health and his great endurance at a time of life when most men are worn out. His opponents will notice that his statement about meat—"one-third as much or none at all"—is more conservative than usual. He says further, "Every adult should eat at least a pound of potatoes a day." This is not quite as formidable as it seems, since the dish, as served, is four-fifths water. Children and even older babies thrive on a diet that contains a good deal of potato. For them it may be served as a puree or soup, or even as a modifier for milk.

In a recent veterinary meeting most of those present advocated giving potato to dogs as a part of their diet. They digest it well if it is boiled and the animal must bite and chew it, or even if it is baked, but not if it is supplied as any form of mashed potato.

Analysis of this vegetable shows that in addition to water it contains calories (principally as starch), vitamins and minerals. Potassium is one of the minerals.

The ash from potatoes is rather strongly alkaline, and is capable of neutralizing a considerable amount of acids, whether these are made by the body or supplied by other foods.

A physician thinks of potatoes in the diet as a means of neutralizing uric acid in gout and in urate kidney stones and other acids in some forms of acidosis. So much for the advantages.

He thinks of possible harm from a diet rich in potatoes in diabetes, obesity and those cases of low blood pressure associated with starch indigestion.

I was very much interested in some historical facts relating to potatoes, as given by Dr. Kellogg. The humble spud is a world citizen, with a varied international history. It has played a prominent part in world politics.

Probably its original home was Ecuador, but the general opinion is that Europeans of the sixteenth century credited it to North America. The honor of carrying it to Europe belongs either to Sir Walter Raleigh or to Sir Francis Drake.

For 300 years it was supposed to be poisonous. Pamphleteers accused it of being the cause of leprosy, and others of causing fever. Frederick the Great tried by persuasion and coercion to get the Germans to use it, but in this he failed. A Frenchman, Parmentier, by dint of advertising and ballyhoo that makes Barnum seem a saint, put it over in France. Louis XVI helped by wearing a potato flower as a boutonniere, and Marie Antoinette dressed her hair with potato blossoms. Finally the Irish adopted the much-abused vegetable, giving it their name.

MARRIAGE OF COUSINS.

Doubtful writes:

1. I am going to marry my first cousin. Is there any reason for believing that children born to us would be abnormal mentally or physically?

2. A doctor claimed that I had tuberculosis of the right lung. The symptoms were preceded by an attack of pleurisy and were: Intermittent pain just below right shoulder blade; slight afternoon temperature—99 to 99.4. There was no loss of weight or cough. I have been troubled with slight attacks of rheumatism. Could the above symptoms be rheumatic? X-ray does not show any tubercular lesions.

REPLY.

1. You are not true to your name if you are to be judged by your opening statement. Children of first cousin marriages are normal if the parents are free from inheritable diseases and defects—physical, mental and personality.

2. They could.

THRUSH MOUTH.

M. H. writes: What is thrush mouth?

REPLY.

Thrush is a disease of the mouth. It affects, principally, bottle-fed babies. It is due to infection of areas of lining of the mouth with the thrush fungus. The fungus thrives on clots of sugared milk retained in the mouth. As a rule, it is not a serious disorder, and it can be prevented or cured.

Advice on Gardening

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

EARLY APRIL IN YOUR GARDEN.

APRIL is a busy month for the enthusiastic gardener. All four corners of the garden will be demanding your attention. If you have a young dogwood that shows signs of having been winter killed, cut it back to the ground. It will almost always send up new shoots.

In April you lawn will be benefited by being covered with an inch of good loam, mixed with peat moss and a little pulverized sheep manure.

Do not neglect to lift, divide and replant your perennials as early as possible. Remember that each small division of a clump of chrysanthemums should make a blooming plant by the autumn. When dividing Michaelmas daisies use only the outer portions.

April is the month in which to start small plants of Japanese spurge for ground cover effects.

Periods of warm weather—almost continuous this winter—have made many plants start to grow earlier than usual this year; but even so uncovering must proceed slowly, for young shoots may be killed by late frosts.

In April examine your roses. Go over each bush for signs of scale, cut off diseased or winter-killed wood and spray.

Plant Japanese anemone as soon as danger from frost is over.

Do not neglect to apply bonemeal to your perennials, but be careful not to disturb those which have not yet started into growth.

If, when beginning garden operations, you find the soil in your garden remains in a solid mass when squeezed in the hand, it is too wet to be worked; it should fall apart before garden operations are commenced.

This is the time to prune all vines and tie them up to their supports.

If you find nests of tent caterpillars, destroy them at once. You can burn them or paint them with a heavy coating of creosote.

Box and privet hedges should be pruned for the first time before they start into growth.

Culbertson on Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON

THE BELEAGUERED CITY.

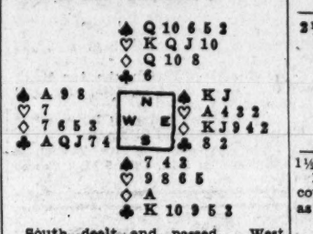
IF one were in a beleaguered city and were allowed to send out—by wireless, for example—a short message to one's friends, one would consider very carefully what to say. The precious opportunity would not be squandered on passing out information that was trivial or irrelevant.

The Contract player is very much in this position. He is beleaguered by his adversaries. He is afforded (in the bidding) an opportunity of "telling the world" what he holds, and this opportunity is very restricted; except where he is able to "force," each chance of bidding that he gets may be the last. It behooves him, then, to make sure that his precious opportunities are not frittered away.

Now, one chance that must never be lost is the chance of showing a biddable suit. To bid notrump, where one has a suit to show, is unpardonable. One is not only giving vague information, but one is also giving wrong information; for the notrump bid not only says: "I have a certain distributed stretch," but it also says, in so many words, "I have no biddable suit." A final declaration at notrump is often to be sought, but it should be built up on a basis of precise information as to the suit strength that is held.

Here is an example of the penalty paid through failure to observe this axiom.

Neither side vulnerable.



South dealt and passed. West opened the bidding with one club. North overcalled (incorrectly) with one heart. (The proper bid, here, is one spade.) East now bid two notrump. South passed and West raised the notrump bid to three. This closed the bidding.

Three notrump can be made with ease at Double Dummy, but in play East was set 1 trick. Far different would have been the story had he shown his diamonds. The correct bidding is:

South	West	North	East
Pass	1♣	1♠	2◇
Pass	3◇	Pass	5◇

and game can easily be made. It calls, it is true, for some deep finessing in diamonds, but, as there is everything to be gained by this and nothing to be lost, the play will be straightforward enough.

If East-West were vulnerable, the same risks should not be taken. The cards, as they lie, favor the sporting chance. Vulnerable, East should be content to play the hand at four diamonds.

TODAY'S POINTER.

The Negative One Notrump.

This is one of the most important responses in the Forcing System. It shows from 1½ to 2 honor-tricks in all, with inadequate strength for support in the trump suit. It serves, on the one hand, to keep the bidding open on the other, to warn partner that game is unlikely unless he has well above the minimum strength for an Opening bid.

Example:

Opening Hand Bids One Heart.

Opening Hand bids one heart.

0	♠ 3 2	0
1½	♡ A Q 9 8	2½
½	◇ Q J 7 6	1
½	♣ Q J 2	½
2½ honor-tricks		4 playing-tricks

Response is one notrump.

½	♠ Q J 4
0	♡ 7 6
1	◇ A 10 3 2
0	♣ 7 5 4 3

1½ honor-tricks

In this case the bidding will, of course, end at one notrump, as far as the Declarer is concerned.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

DEAR Frances McDonald: Your column interests me immensely. Never thought I'd have occasion to write asking your advice but I'm doing so to find out what you think about the quandary a number of girls including myself are in.

Now for the question—why is it that our boy friends' mothers dislike us so intensely? We've talked about this so much and simply cannot fathom it. We're all good girls—attractive—come from good families and are all terribly much in love with boys with whom we go out. It all amounts to this—everything is splendid—the boy's parents like us first thing upon meeting us—but the instant our darlings speak of marriage to their mothers, we are immediately disliked and these female parents do absolutely everything in their power to prevent their boys from seeing us as often as they—the boys—would like to. Can it be jealousy? How preposterous! It isn't as though they would never see them again were we to marry them. We girls are not awful people—it would be a different thing if we were the sort that people talk about—but we're not and these boys mean so much to us. When we visit at their homes the mothers make a point of ignoring the girl with whom her adored son is in love. Won't you tell us why that is? We shall all want to hear what you have to say in the matter. It isn't imagination on our part either, it has happened to nearly every girl in our crowd and we want to have these women like us. I've no mother and I thought perhaps it was because I didn't know how to act with mothers. Do tell us what is wrong—and thanks so much.

CONSUELO

Well, mothers are weird things, Consuelo, terribly proud of their achievement in becoming mothers, frightfully loath to relinquish their importance, acknowledge their job complete, and retire to the background. Hence the spectacle of the apron-string mother and her all-important offspring. You know there are thousands of men on earth who have been unfitted for the man's part in life, by doting mothers who deliberately kept them childish, kept them helpless that they might the longer remain dependent, and such men deserve more pity than the world accords them. What they receive is contempt, ridicule and ostracism. For the world cannot stop to analyze the background of the man who quotes mama on all occasions, and who must cut short his golf to help her shop for a new kimona. The world shrugs its shoulders and taps its forehead. And Sylvester is out.

And that explains one situation in which mothers look daggers at their prospective successors. Any girl who aspired to be Sylvester's keeper would find her way barred by mama's icy stare.

But there is another more legitimate situation—a perfectly sane one. And that is the case of the boy who has not yet found himself, who is not yet established, and who really ought not to marry for several years. The mother who has seen him through measles naturally hopes to be able to see him through all the attacks of near love that may afflict him on his way to fame and fortune. Most of the youngsters who come to our Good Will Court ready for divorce, are really fighting over money. The boy married before he was able to finance marriage. And the result is wreckage. This is a fact most intelligent mothers know, and they consider it evidence of a lack of mentality as well as emotional poise for a girl to be trying to rush the procession to the altar. Hence the drop in temperatures.

Our suggestion is that you endeavor to avoid any attitude of possessiveness, and that you try to really adjust your viewpoint so that you can look into the future as his mother is doing. It may postpone the wedding but it will insure the future—and increase his mother's respect for you. After all, if you had raised a son you would hate to see him jeopardize his whole life by marrying practically out of the high chair. Try to see all sides of all your problems—especially those involving your future mother-in-law!

What Today Means

By MARY BLAKE

"ARIES,

IF April 1 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:30 a. m. to 1 p. m., from 5 p. m. to 6:15 p. m., and from 10 p. m. to 11:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 8 a. m. to 9:30 a. m., and from 3 p. m. to 4:30 p. m.

Astrological portents for April 1 indicate a day of unusual and vivid experiences, which will leave mental or spiritual imprints, but nothing of a material nature. Young men in life find truth in the saying that most clouds have their silver linings and conversely most roses have their thorns.

The child born on this April 1 will have an impulsive, somewhat careless nature. It will have both a busy mind and fingers, but its ideas and efforts will not always yield practical returns. It will not lack self-confidence and will, if anything, have a superiority complex. It will be big-hearted.

Born on April 1, you find it difficult to get down to the bread and butter side of life. There is much poetry, music and romanticism in your nature, but few of those traits which go into the making of material-minded or commercial type people. Money is a necessity, not an inspiration with you. You never will know its economic value or be able to drive a good bargain.

You do not need, to be happy, many of the things which other people regard as important. You can do without all the useless trappings and silly veneers with which the ordinary run of humanity adorn their lives. You want simple not complicated machinery to carry out the essentials of living. You do need flowers, books, friendships, love and beauty. People of your temperament and intelligence do not need the world in general.

If you are fortunate enough to find your real "metier" you will love your work. You are carried away by those things which truly interest you. If circumstances compel you to grind out a living at some uncongenial work, your highly sensitive, nervous nature will suffer greatly thereby, and the sprightliness and youthfulness of your spirit will be killed. You are not versatile, and although capable of being almost a genius in some directions, you are almost stupid in others. You love wild life and are fond of all animals.

Successful people born April 1:
Bismarck, German chancellor.
Wallace Beery, film star.
Edward Sothern, ("Lord Dundreary"), actor.
Carl Henry Gustafson, president U. S. Grain Grower Association.
Edwin A. Abbey, artist.

Tracer Letter Mailed For Christmas Seals

Notwithstanding that a stamped and addressed return envelope was inclosed with every mailing of Christmas seals offered for sale to support the health work of the Association for Prevention of Tuberculosis during the annual sale in December, it now develops from a check of the list that several thousand persons to whom seals were sent have neither returned them nor sent payment for those kept.

On this account a final letter and "Christmas Seal Tracer" was mailed yesterday to those not heard from by Mrs. Ernest R. Grant, president of the Tuberculosis Association, the tracer designed to be checked as to whether seals were never received, seals returned, payment sent, or delayed remittance now inclosed.

MR. TWITCHELL MAKES A PROPOSAL TO AL CAPONE.

Mr. Al Capone,
In or About the Cook County Jail,
Chicago, Ill.

Dear Al.—Has anything happened to you? Are you sick or anything? I ask this, because you have not as yet made an offer to find the solution of the Federal debt problem if Washington will release you. Something along this line was generally expected from you, Al.

Since you have not made the offer, I am asking if you would consider the idea. It seems to me that you are the one man who could get us out of this mess and balance the budget as easy as rolling off an indictment.

* * * *

Most of the money (the ready cash, I mean) in America today is in the hands of the racketeers. It is the only money that is growing all the time, safe from all taxation. In fact, racketeers are to all intents and purposes immune from taxation. The rest of us are expected to come across, revealing all the intimate details of our business, trade or profession and come across regularly with a percentage of all receipts.

* * * *

The racketeers are not bothered with these messy details, however, under our system of government, and so it seems to me that you are in a position, if Uncle Sam would make a bargain and set you free, to go out and get enough money from the racketeers to pay all the government debts.

Furthermore, it is to their interest that the government be put on its feet. The government is very considerate of them, to the exclusion of practically every other class, and might even be said to have been their best friend and sincerest critic.

Well, anyway, Mr. Capone, here is your chance. You can be the big man of the hour. I judge from the feeling at Washington that a man who can find the money to put Uncle Sam back on the road to financial security can have anything he wants, and that a little thing like a pardon would be nothing. I can give you a long list of prominent men who have been let out of some of our best Federal prisons for less. What do you say? Yours truly,

ELMER TWITCHELL.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

Boys Are Often Embarrassed by Blemished Complexions.

MY columns of the last few days dealing with the subject of acne were for boys as well as girls. Because boys are often embarrassed by blemished complexions as well as girls. An inferiority complex due to a pimply skin has been known to affect boys as well as girls. I am writing this for boys whose skins embarrass them. I want them to feel free to write to me. Many letters from young men come to me, but the majority of them are in an apologetic vein. I don't know why this is. It is the most natural thing in the world for nice young men to wish to present a wholesome appearance.

Elsie Pierce.

For a wholesome appearance is a business as well as a social asset. Haven't you known some one who didn't attract or who failed to land a job because of a blemished skin? I have.

Girls feel free to write to an expert to learn the best method for treating pimples, blackheads, dandruff, &c. Or they can drop in nonchalantly at the nearest beauty parlor for advice and treatment. But all too often the boy of the family endures embarrassment of pimples heroically and does nothing about the condition for fear of being criticized if he shows an interest in his "complexion."

The treatment for blackheads and acne for boys is precisely the same as the local care for girls. This treatment was outlined yesterday and the day before and I hope all the boys and girls for whom it was intended read it. If you missed it, do write to me.

Remember, too, that scrupulously clean hands will serve you well. If your work makes it necessary for you to soil your hands with automobile grease, oil, grime or dust of one kind or another, do keep a good soap and nail brush handy and wash your hands as often as possible.

Also try to avoid touching your face or your hair except when treating scalp or face. That's one way to avoid infection, you know.

Oily skin, oily hair, dandruff, blackheads and pimples are the skin and scalp difficulties from which many young men suffer. If any of these embarrass you, write to me and I shall be happy to help you. I hope you won't feel shy or backward about doing this. Surely young men have a right to that clean, attractive look that makes for a pleasing appearance.

My diet, health rules and exercises are good for all the family. A self-addressed, stamped envelope will bring them to you.

Elsie Pierce

Elsie Pierce, famous beauty lecturer, will answer any questions on beauty you wish to ask her. Address Miss Pierce, in care of The Washington Post, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Jeune fille frock of white, with tulle overskirt and peplum edged in red grosgrain ribbon roses. (Seen in a New York shop.)

NEW YORK, March 31.—And now, if you please, bar dresses.

'Course you mustn't be shocked, if Paris just doesn't take prohibition seriously. You would understand if you could see young Americana abroad. And Paris has decided that there has to be some sort of a dress for bar wear, something less formal than a "cocktail gown," which one supposedly wears for before-dinner cocktails, and is going to dine in, and something slightly more formal than afternoon street wear.

Be yourself! I'm tied in double bow knots myself! But honestly, now, here's the around-the-clock of the Paris couturiere this season—from noon on:

Luncheon ensemble; noon to 3 o'clock.

Afternoon ensemble; walking or shopping.

Afternoon gown; matinee or bridge.

Bar dress; tea or, er—tea.

Cocktail gown; cocktails and informal dinner or theater.

Or Sunday night frock; formally informal, for cocktail and dinner.

Formal gown; special dinners, opera, premieres, galas, &c. (Scarcer than the back of miladi's bodice, my dear!)

And that, is that—may be. If Mme. Moderne doesn't get quite, quite fed up with it all and go back to something like the one or two piece, knee length frock of postwar days, topped off with an inevitable cloche.

We hope not, but then, bar dresses are almost too much for our sense of humor!

* * * *

How about the young miss between 14 and 16? She has to have very special attention, we know. Therefore we offer you this dress of white flat crepe for her, the bodice incrusted and covered with tulle, and the tulle following the skirt line and hanging free and longer at each side. Peplum and overskirt are edged in red moire roses. Or white, if one has graduation in mind.

* * * *

What kind of a costume slip, or underskirt, or what, is best to wear under today's dresses with their tight hips and their fullish skirts? The wrap-around ones, while they suit the hip part, don't suit the full skirt of today's dresses, and gathers are impossible. Well, Dah-ray to the rescue, of course, with an underskirt that is just right for the new dresses, and has to be cut and sewn a certain way to hang correctly. Underskirt for a dress or an evening frock, or a dress—like the six-in-one dress. For, as a matter of fact, this week's leaflet tells you how to make a special underskirt and guimpe combination for that very dress, the guimpe designed so that the sleeve sets of that dress can be sewn right to it, with very little trouble and a certainty of the sleeves setting properly. So-o-o-o better send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's leaflet telling you how to make a new style underskirt and guimpe arrangement—for this six-in-one dress, or any other.

* * * *

A fichu capelet of purplish blue tulle, pleated and crossed over under the bust and tied in the back is a very attractive finishing for a blue or white evening gown. Paris abounds in such fancies, and this color is particularly smart for spring.

Did I forget to say I sketched this fichu today?

Au revoir.

Plans and Recipes for the Week-End.

A DANGEROUS day, this—and I'm rather wondering what these girls of mine will be up to. Once I called "Mr. Lyon" at a number which happened to be the Zoo. They had left a message on my desk—it was all quite simple and regular. But something tells me that my strategy in getting even was adequate—they haven't bothered much since then; but one always wonders, and one is glad to retain some ability to "cook" up things other than menus and foodstuffs, such as beef-liver timbales for tomorrow night's supper and braised shoulder of veal for Sunday's midday meal.

SUNDAY'S DINNER.
Grapefruit Cup
Radishes Spring Onions
Braised Shoulder of Veal with Stuffed Tomato Cups
Pan-Roasted Potatoes
Coleslaw with Dressing
Strawberry Shortcake
Coffee

SATURDAY'S SUPPER.
Beef-Liver Timbales with Mustard Sauce
Country Fried Potatoes
Shredded String Beans
Apple Sauce
Ginger Snaps
Coffee

Beef-Liver Timbales with Mustard Sauce.

2 tablespoonfuls butter
¼ cupful stale breadcrumbs
2-3 cupful milk
1 cupful cooked chopped liver
2 tablespoonfuls parsley
2 eggs
½ teaspoonful salt
Dash of pepper.
½ teaspoonful onion salt

Melt butter, add crumbs and milk, cook, stirring constantly, for five minutes. Add liver, parsley and seasonings. Beat eggs and add to mixture. Pour into well-greased timbale molds. Set molds in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven 20 minutes.

Mustard Sauce.

2 tablespoonfuls butter
1 teaspoonful flour
2 tablespoonfuls prepared mustard
1 teaspoonful lemon juice
1½ teaspoonfuls Worcestershire sauce
¾ cupful stock (may be made with bouillon cubes)

Brown the butter, add the flour and the seasonings mixed with lemon juice, lastly, add the stock. Cook, stirring constantly, until smooth.

Apple Sauce.

Wash and core ten tart apples, but do not peel them. Cut in quarters and cook until tender in about a cupful of cold water. Stir to keep from sticking. Add one-half cupful of sugar, one tablespoonful of lemon juice and a little nutmeg or cinnamon. Cook until soft and press through a sieve.

Ginger Snaps.

½ cupful molasses
½ cupful sugar
1 egg
2 teaspoonfuls ginger
1 teaspoonful cinnamon
1 teaspoonful soda
1 teaspoonful cream of tartar
3 tablespoonfuls flour

Beat all together and let stand over night. In the morning add enough flour to roll. This makes about three dozen. No shortening is required. Bake in a quick oven.

Do you ever wonder how to use left-over meat, fish, vegetables, fruits, &c.?

If you do, and who doesn't, you will surely welcome the numerous suggestions and the variety of recipes for tasty dishes contained in our newest folder. All are essentially inexpensive, appetizing and simple, to meet the present day need for economy.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

THE PLACE OF POTATOES.

DR. J. H. KELLOGG makes the following statement:

"The city of Manchester, England, is policed by big Irishmen who were raised on a diet of buttermilk and potatoes. If the American people will eat three times as many potatoes and one-third as much meat or none at all, and will consume one quart of milk a day the result will doubtless be the addition of 2 inches or more to the average height, and a notable reduction in the death rate."

Not many people will agree with these statements made by the doughty proponent of a nonmeat diet, in spite of his rare good health and his great endurance at a time of life when most men are worn out. His opponents will notice that his statement about meat—"one-third as much or none at all"—is more conservative than usual. He says further, "Every adult should eat at least a pound of potatoes a day." This is not quite as formidable as it seems, since the dish, as served, is four-fifths water. Children and even older babies thrive on a diet that contains a good deal of potato. For them it may be served as a puree or soup, or even as a modifier for milk.

In a recent veterinary meeting most of those present advocated giving potato to dogs as a part of their diet. They digest it well if it is boiled and the animal must bite and chew it, or even if it is baked, but not if it is supplied as any form of mashed potato.

Analysis of this vegetable shows that in addition to water it contains calories (principally as starch), vitamins and minerals. Potassium is one of the minerals.

The ash from potatoes is rather strongly alkaline, and is capable of neutralizing a considerable amount of acids, whether these are made by the body or supplied by other foods.

A physician thinks of potatoes in the diet as a means of neutralizing uric acid in gout and in urate kidney stones and other acids in some forms of acidosis. So much for the advantages.

He thinks of possible harm from a diet rich in potatoes in diabetes, obesity and those cases of low blood pressure associated with starch indigestion.

I was very much interested in some historical facts relating to potatoes, as given by Dr. Kellogg. The humble spud is a world citizen, with a varied international history. It has played a prominent part in world politics.

Probably its original home was Ecuador, but the general opinion is that Europeans of the sixteenth century credited it to North America. The honor of carrying it to Europe belongs either to Sir Walter Raleigh or to Sir Francis Drake.

For 300 years it was supposed to be poisonous. Pamphleteers accused it of being the cause of leprosy, and others of causing fever. Frederick the Great tried by persuasion and coercion to get the Germans to use it, but in this he failed. A Frenchman, Parmentier, by dint of advertising and ballyhoo that makes Barnum seem a saint, put it over in France. Louis XVI helped by wearing a potato flower as a boutonniere, and Marie Antoinette dressed her hair with potato blossoms. Finally the Irish adopted the much-abused vegetable, giving it their name.

MARRIAGE OF COUSINS.

Doubtful writes:

1. I am going to marry my first cousin. Is there any reason for believing that children born to us would be abnormal mentally or physically?

2. A doctor claimed that I had tuberculosis of the right lung. The symptoms were preceded by an attack of pleurisy and were: Intermittent pain just below right shoulder blade; slight afternoon temperature—99 to 99.4. There was no loss of weight or cough. I have been troubled with slight attacks of rheumatism. Could the above symptoms be rheumatic? X-ray does not show any tubercular lesions.

REPLY.

1. You are not true to your name if you are to be judged by your opening statement. Children of first cousin marriages are normal if the parents are free from inheritable diseases and defects—physical, mental and personality.

2. They could.

M. H. writes: What is thrush mouth?

REPLY.

Thrush is a disease of the mouth. It affects, principally, bottle-fed babies. It is due to infection of areas of lining of the mouth with the thrush fungus. The fungus thrives on clots of sugared milk retained in the mouth. As a rule, it is not a serious disorder, and it can be prevented or cured.

Advice on Gardening

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

EARLY APRIL IN YOUR GARDEN.

APRIL is a busy month for the enthusiastic gardener. All four corners of the garden will be demanding your attention. If you have a young dogwood that shows signs of having been winter killed, cut it back to the ground. It will almost always send up new shoots.

In April you lawn will be benefited by being covered with an inch of good loam, mixed with peat moss and a little pulverized sheep manure.

Do not neglect to lift, divide and replant your perennials as early as possible. Remember that each small division of a clump of chrysanthemums should make a blooming plant by the autumn. When dividing Michaelmas daisies use only the outer portions.

April is the month in which to start small plants of Japanese spurge for ground cover effects.

Periods of warm weather—almost continuous this winter—have made many plants start to grow earlier than usual this year; but even so uncovering must proceed slowly, for young shoots may be killed by late frosts.

In April examine your roses. Go over each bush for signs of scale, cut off diseased or winter-killed wood and spray.

Plant Japanese anemone as soon as danger from frost is over.

Do not neglect to apply bonemeal to your perennials, but be careful not to disturb those which have not yet started into growth.

If, when beginning garden operations, you find the soil in your garden remains in a solid mass when squeezed in the hand, it is too wet to be worked; it should fall apart before garden operations are commenced.

This is the time to prune all vines and tie them up to their supports.

If you find nests of tent caterpillars, destroy them at once. You can burn them or paint them with a heavy coating of creosote.

Box and privet hedges should be pruned for the first time before they start into growth.

Culbertson on Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON

THE BELEAGUERED CITY.

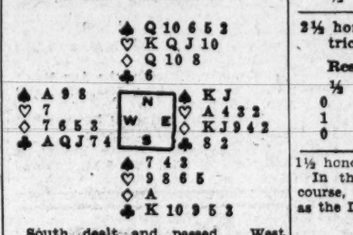
IF one were in a beleaguered city and were allowed to send out—by wireless, for example—a short message to one's friends, one would consider very carefully what to say. The precious opportunity would not be squandered on passing out information that was trivial or irrelevant.

The Contract player is very much in this position. He is beleaguered by his adversaries. He is afforded (in the bidding) an opportunity of "telling the world" what he holds, and this opportunity is very restricted; except where he is able to "force," each chance of bidding that he gets may be the last. It behooves him, then, to make sure that his precious opportunities are not frittered away.

Now, one chance that must never be lost is the chance of showing a biddable suit. To bid notrump, where one has a suit to show, is unpardonable. One is not only giving vague information, but one is also giving wrong information; for the notrump bid not only says: "I have a certain distributed stretch," but it also says, in so many words, "I have no biddable suit." A final declaration at notrump is often to be sought, but it should be built up on a basis of precise information as to the suit strength that is held.

Here is an example of the penalty paid through failure to observe this axiom.

Neither side vulnerable.



South dealt and passed. West opened the bidding with one club. North overcalled (incorrectly) with one heart. (The proper bid, here, is one spade.) East now bid two notrump. South passed and West raised the notrump bid to three. This closed the bidding.

Three notrump can be made with ease at Double Dummy, but in play East was set 1 trick. Far different would have been the story had he shown his diamonds. The correct bidding is:

South	West	North	East
Pass	1♣	1♠	2◇
Pass	3◇	Pass	5◇

and game can easily be made. It calls, it is true, for some deep finessing in diamonds, but, as there is everything to be gained by this and nothing to be lost, the play will be straightforward enough.

If East-West were vulnerable, the same risks should not be taken. The cards, as they lie, favor the sporting chance. Vulnerable, East should be content to play the hand at four diamonds.

TODAY'S POINTER.

The Negative One Notrump.

This is one of the most important responses in the Forcing System. It shows from 1½ to 2 honor-tricks in all, with inadequate strength for support in the trump suit. It serves, on the one hand, to keep the bidding open on the other, to warn partner that game is unlikely unless he has well above the minimum strength for an Opening bid.

Example:

Opening Hand Bids One Heart.

Opening Hand bids one heart.

0	♠ 3 2	0
1½	♡ A Q 9 8	2½
½	◇ Q J 7 6	1
½	♣ Q J 2	½
2½ honor-tricks		4 playing-tricks

Response is one notrump.

½	♠ Q J 4
0	♡ 7 6
1	◇ A 10 3 2
0	♣ 7 5 4 3

1½ honor-tricks

In this case the bidding will, of course, end at one notrump, as far as the Declarer is concerned.

FRANCES M'DONALD

DEAR Frances McDonald: Your column interests me immensely. Never thought I'd have occasion to write asking your advice but I'm doing so to find out what you think about the quandary a number of girls including myself are in.

Now for the question—why is it that our boy friends' mothers dislike us so intensely? We've talked about this so much and simply cannot fathom it. We're all good girls—attractive—come from good families and are all terribly much in love with boys with whom we go out. It all amounts to this—everything is splendid—the boy's parents like us first thing upon meeting us—but the instant our darlings speak of marriage to their mothers, we are immediately disliked and these female parents do absolutely everything in their power to prevent their boys from seeing us as often as they—the boys—would like to. Can it be jealousy? How preposterous! It isn't as though they would never see them again were we to marry them. We girls are not awful people—it would be a different thing if we were the sort that people talk about—but we're not and these boys mean so much to us. When we visit at their homes the mothers make a point of ignoring the girl with whom her adored son is in love. Won't you tell us why that is? We shall all want to hear what you have to say in the matter. It isn't imagination on our part either, it has happened to nearly every girl in our crowd and we want to have these women like us. I've no mother and I thought perhaps it was because I didn't know how to act with mothers. Do tell us what is wrong—and thanks so much.

CONSUELO

Well, mothers are weird things, Consuelo, terribly proud of their achievement in becoming mothers, frightfully loath to relinquish their importance, acknowledge their job complete, and retire to the background. Hence the spectacle of the apron-string mother and her all-important offspring. You know there are thousands of men on earth who have been unfitted for the man's part in life, by doting mothers who deliberately kept them childish, kept them helpless that they might the longer remain dependent, and such men deserve more pity than the world accords them. What they receive is contempt, ridicule and ostracism. For the world cannot stop to analyze the background of the man who quotes mama on all occasions, and who must cut short his golf to help her shop for a new kimona. The world shrugs its shoulders and taps its forehead. And Sylvester is out.

And that explains one situation in which mothers look daggers at their prospective successors. Any girl who aspired to be Sylvester's keeper would find her way barred by mama's icy stare.

But there is another more legitimate situation—a perfectly sane one. And that is the case of the boy who has not yet found himself, who is not yet established, and who really ought not to marry for several years. The mother who has seen him through measles naturally hopes to be able to see him through all the attacks of near love that may afflict him on his way to fame and fortune. Most of the youngsters who come to our Good Will Court ready for divorce, are really fighting over money. The boy married before he was able to finance marriage. And the result is wreckage. This is a fact most intelligent mothers know, and they consider it evidence of a lack of mentality as well as emotional poise for a girl to be trying to rush the procession to the altar. Hence the drop in temperatures.

Our suggestion is that you endeavor to avoid any attitude of possessiveness, and that you try to really adjust your viewpoint so that you can look into the future as his mother is doing. It may postpone the wedding but it will insure the future—and increase his mother's respect for you. After all, if you had raised a son you would hate to see him jeopardize his whole life by marrying practically out of the high chair. Try to see all sides of all your problems—especially those involving your future mother-in-law!

What Today Means

"ARIES,

IF April 1 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:30 a. m. to 1 p. m., from 5 p. m. to 6:15 p. m., and from 10 p. m. to 11:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 8 a. m. to 9:30 a. m., and from 3 p. m. to 4:30 p. m.

Astrological portents for April 1 indicate a day of unusual and vivid experiences, which will leave mental or spiritual imprints, but nothing of a material nature. Young men in life find truth in the saying that most clouds have their silver linings and conversely most roses have their thorns.

The child born on this April 1 will have an impulsive, somewhat careless nature. It will have both a busy mind and fingers, but its ideas and efforts will not always yield practical returns. It will not lack self-confidence and will, if anything, have a superiority complex. It will be big-hearted.

Born on April 1, you find it difficult to get down to the bread and butter side of life. There is much poetry, music and romanticism in your nature, but few of those traits which go into the making of material-minded or commercial type people. Money is a necessity, not an inspiration with you. You never will know its economic value or be able to drive a good bargain.

You do not need, to be happy, many of the things which other people regard as important. You can do without all the useless trappings and silly veneers with which the ordinary run of humanity adorn their lives. You want simple not complicated machinery to carry out the essentials of living. You do need flowers, books, friendships, love and beauty. People of your temperament and intelligence do not need the world in general.

If you are fortunate enough to find your real "metier" you will love your work. You are carried away by those things which truly interest you. If circumstances compel you to grind out a living at some uncongenial work, your highly sensitive, nervous nature will suffer greatly thereby, and the sprightliness and youthfulness of your spirit will be killed. You are not versatile, and although capable of being almost a genius in some directions, you are almost stupid in others. You love wild life and are fond of all anfmals.

Successful people born April 1:

Wallace Beery, film star.
Edward Sothern, ("Lord Dundreary"), actor.
Carl Henry Gustafson, president U. S. Grain Grower Association.

Tracer Letter Mailed For Christmas Seals

Notwithstanding that a stamped and addressed return envelope was inclosed with every mailing of Christmas seals offered for sale to support the health work of the Association for Prevention of Tuberculosis during the annual sale in December, it now develops from a check of the list that several thousand persons to whom seals were sent have neither returned them nor sent payment for those kept.

On this account a final letter and "Christmas Seal Tracer" was mailed yesterday to those not heard from by Mrs. Ernest R. Grant, president of the Tuberculosis Association, the tracer designed to be checked as to whether seals were never received, seals returned, payment sent, or delayed remittance now inclosed.

ARLINGTON TEACHER SALARIES DELAYED

Approval of Loan to School Board Held Up Pending Report on Needs.

Failure of the Arlington County Board in special session last night at the courthouse to approve a loan of $10,000 to the county school board delays the payment of teachers' salaries due today.

This action was taken as explained by the chairman, Harry A. Fellows, following the failure of County School Superintendent Fletcher Kemp to present to the board the full statement showing needs of the school board for payment of teachers salaries and all current bills up to and including the time for the regular closing of the schools as promised at a recent meeting.

The board voted to delay action until its meeting tomorrow and longer if the statement sought is not forthcoming.

"The county schools will not be closed on account of any action taken by the county board, but because the school board has failed to give the statement which the board has asked for," said John C. Gall, member of the board.

Insist On Report.

"We are not refusing to pay teachers' salaries, but will not approve the loan until the statement we ask for is given," said Mrs. Elizabeth MaGruder, member of the board.

Pursuant to the recommendation of Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence W. Douglas and supported by facts contained in a letter from State Auditor T. Cleman Andrews, the board deferred adoption of the county budget until a later date.

In his letter to the board Commonwealth's Attorney Douglas said:

"You are aware that the law requires the action be taken not later than March 31 after prescribed notice.

"In view of the fact that the board has no means of ascertaining the exact financial status of the county until the general audit now being made is completed, and considering the further fact that it is impossible to know what funds must be raised until it has been determined what funds are now in hand, it is respectfully recommended that final adoption of the budget be deferred to a later date.

"It is my opinion that postponement of the immediate final action is fully justified under the circumstances existing at this time."

Letter of Andrews.

Mr. Andrews, in his letter to the board, said:

"The statutes require that the budget must be passed upon and the levy laid not later than the date of your regular meeting in April; and at least one public hearing must be held on the budget and that fifteen days notice of such hearings must be published, together with a synopsis of the budget.

"As matters now stand, I do not see how your body can intelligently determine the budget and levy. No one knows the exact condition of the affairs of your county and no one will be able to know until the audit which we are now making is completed.

"I can not and will not tell you to violate the statutes referred to above, but frankness compels me to say that greater harm might come from the adoption of a budget and levy without complete knowledge of the financial condition of the county than from the violation of these statutes."

Chairman Fellows announced that notices will be given for the public hearings prior to the adoption of the budget.

Cosmopolitan Club Hears Jobs Report

Employment Group Head Tells of Successes in Keeping Workers.

Actual instances of how members of the Cosmopolitan Club have aided in the battle against unemployment were related at yesterday's meeting at the Carlton by Ed A. Rule, chairman of the club's employment committee. Stressing the fact that club members have worked to keep men now employed on the pay rolls of the city's industries, Mr. Rule told how one man, who strained his resources to keep three men, has, since they became acquainted with his efforts, been able to employ five more to carry on increased business.

G. R. Weeks, sales manager for Chevrolet in this district, told of the plans of General Motors for their exhibit here and also told how this vast organization is helping to fight unemployment. The exhibit here will be one of a number to be held in 55 key cities, he said, and General Motors will spend more than $1,000,000 arranging these exhibits.

Lewis A. Payne, chairman of the committee in charge of the "ladies' night," to be held at the Shoreham April 16, gave a glowing report of plans for the evening.

Attendance prizes were won by Anton A. Auth and Michael D. Schaefer.

Kentucky Students Will Give Play Here

"Vengeance Is Mine" Set for Tonight at Powell Junior High.

A drama of the Kentucky Mountains, "Vengeance Is Mine," will be presented by a group of students from the Caney Creek Community Center and School, at Pippa Pass, Ky., in Powell Junior High School, Hiatt place and Lamont street northwest, tonight at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of Columbia Heights Community Center.

The public is invited to attend this play, which was written by a former student of the school, who is now at Yale University, and has written other plays of the East Kentucky Mountains, which have been given in this city previously.

Following the play, an open forum will be held, and an opportunity given for the audience to meet the visiting players, who are now on their Easter tour, with Beechwood, N. J., as their next stop. There are ten members of the school in the play, all of them being mountaineers. The Caney Creek Community Center School was started in 1915, its founder being Mrs. Alice S. G. Lloyd. The play is being presented here with Miss H. W. Cunningham, of this city, as chairman of arrangements.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

THEY have to work as far ahead as a rotogravure editor, these globe trotters who during the winter regale us, stay-at-homes with intimate views and spicy monologues of the far outposts of the world that most of us never reach.

Take E. M. Newman, for example—and since I am taking him, how are you going to help it? Mr. Newman, the tireless traveltalker, announces that he will escort us "Around the World" when he appears here next season. A very early start was necessary to obtain interesting material for this series of traveltalks by reason of the fact that many of the countries to be covered can be photographed satisfactorily only in what to us is midwinter.

To surmount this difficulty Mr. Newman sent his cameraman to Egypt, India, Siam and other tropical places to make his motion and still pictures during January, February and March.

The Newman party is now in China, en route to Japan, the Philippines, Hawaii, the Panama Canal and Europe, following which visits will be made to Iceland, Spitzbergen, the Pack Ice, and then through the fjords of Norway.

These new experiences, together with the still views and motion pictures, will be presented to us next winter in five traveltalks, as usual.

Ann Sten, 22, a Russian actress now in Paris, has been signed by United Artists to appear in American-made films, says an announcement made yesterday by Joseph M. Schenck and Samuel Goldwyn.

According to her sponsors, she has scored successes in German and French motion pictures, and appears with Emil Jannings in his latest feature, "Tempest." She will leave Paris for Hollywood on April 15, so all of you ship news photographers might as well get ready to snap another young woman perched on the rail, with her legs crossed, along about April 20!

All of the advancement in the visual perfection of the modern talking picture is not made in the studios of the producing companies. The skill with which the finished product is projected upon the screen of the theater has a great deal to do with the impression it makes upon the casual observer, sitting out there on his shoulder blades in a luxuriously comfortable orchestra chair.

To the end of a perfected knowledge and improved technique, and through the cooperation of Erpi—which is the familiar trade name of the Electrical Research Products, Inc—the movie operators' local union has been availing itself of a course of schooling in electrical engineering and electrodynamics under the tutelage of Dr. F. L. Brown, of the faculty of Yale University.

I am informed by D. L. Ormes, business representative of the union, that approximately 60 motion picture machine operators have been attending these classes over a period of about two months, the enrollment representing practically all of the first-run and neighborhood houses in the Capital.

And when something unavoidable happens and the screen suddenly goes dark or the sound track fails to function, the hoodlums, no doubt, will continue to whistle and stamp and yell precisely as they always have.

But you have to give the boys in the booths credit for trying.

Speaking of instructive experiences the Kiwanis Club at its regular luncheon in the ballroom of the Raleigh Hotel yesterday at 12:30, was addressed on the subject of motion picture and stage exploitation by Hardie Meakin, manager of the RKO-Keith Theater in this city.

Mr. Meakin outlined the purposes, methods and results of successful exploitation and even managed to discover certain advantages to the production, distribution and exhibition of motion picture entertainment that have accrued from the depression.

His remarks were roundly applauded—which amounted to practically nothing when he sat down and discovered that his coffee was cold!

Beginning this Sunday, April 3, the Rialto Theater will inaugurate a weekly broadcast through station WRC, from 1:15 to 1:30 p. m. This feature will consist of a "request" program of pipe organ music, with John Salb, organist at the Rialto, presiding at the console. Mr. Salb will also broadcast on Thursday nights from 11 to 11:30.

Any old favorite song or instrumental number that is desired to be heard will gladly be played if requests are addressed to Mr. Salb at the Rialto Theater, Ninth and G streets, Washington, D. C. The requested numbers will be put on in the order of receipt and will be carried over from one session to the next if so numerous as to make that necessary.

Outrider Norman Pyle, of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer exploitation forces, was joined in suite 541 at the Willard last evening by "Bill" Ferguson, one of the head men of the New York home office, and, during an invigorating interval of open house, plans were laid—or maybe hatched is the word—for a hurricane campaign to establish "The Wet Parade," following "Tarzan" at the Columbia, in the public consciousness as "the picture of the age."

In my simple and untutored way I gather from the superlatives that clogged the rooms that this picturization of the Upton Sinclair work is "more than just a picture; it is a complete survey of modern life, touching in vivid drama upon the problems of the present day, the morals and manners of an age that threatens at the moment to translate itself into an era more magnificent than any America has ever known, or to—collapse."

Hot diggety! How about that 4 per cent beer, Senator, to stave off the collapse?

Speaking of the Loew houses, as nobody was, much, such huge crowds are expected to storm the portals of the Palace today to see Jean Harlow, the original platinum blonde, both on the screen and in the flesh, that announcement is made that the doors will be thrown open to the public at 10:30 a. m. Come early and get crushed in the rush!

Miss Laurette Taylor, who recently revived Barrie's "Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire" and "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals" with such signal success in New York, has certainly gone and done it, according to proceedings in the House as of March 29, reported in that snappy gazette known as The Congressional Record.

Mr. CRISP. Mr. Chairman, by direction of the committee on ways and means I offer the following amendment.

The clerk read as follows:

"There is hereby imposed upon the following articles, sold by the manufacturer, producer, or importer, a tax equivalent to 10 per cent of the price for which so sold: Perfumes, essences, extracts, toilet waters, cosmetics, petroleum jellies, hair oils, pomades, hair dressings, hair restoratives, hair dyes, tooth and mouth washes, dentifrices, tooth pastes, aromatic cachous, toilet soaps, toilet powders and any similar substance, article, or preparation, by whatsoever name known or distinguished, any of the above which are used or applied or intended to be used or applied for toilet purposes."

Mr. CRISP. Mr. Chairman, just a word. This is an amendment which is expected to yield $25,000,000. Of the one hundred and seventy-odd witnesses who appeared before us, the only one who suggested this tax was Miss Laurette Taylor, and she stated that the women would cheerfully pay this tax, and it would not slow up business.

Mrs. KAHN. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. CRISP. I yield to the gentlewoman from California.

Mrs. KAHN. I want to say to the acting chairman of the ways and means committee that speaking for the women of the country there will be no opposition on their part to paying this tax. [Applause.]

Ladies, please; it's all right to speak for the Jean Malins, but think how tough you are making it for the Julian Eltinges!

And by the way, there's apt to be almost as much mud-slinging out at Bowie today as there is around Democratic National Committee headquarters!

'BERKELEY SQUARE' TO BE GIVEN TONIGHT

Many Expected to Attend Third Offering of Drama Guild.

The production of "Berkeley Square" this evening at Wardman Park Theater will be the third offering of the Drama Guild of Washington for this season. As in its other productions the Drama Guild will strive to offer the finest performances possible with strictly Washington talent.

"Berkeley Square" is a fantasy type of play and offers a strong contrast to the melodrama and the comedy which featured the first two productions. In "Berkeley Square" the leading character, Peter Standish, comes into possession of his ancestral home in the aristocratic section of London. Upon discovering an intimate diary of an ancestor of the same name who lived toward the close of the eighteenth century, Peter Standish becomes so interested that in a psychic way he translates himself back to the former generation and relives the scenes of that time. The audience, accordingly, is able to see the same characters in scenes 150 years apart.

The leading characters are Peter Standish, with Bernard Barton in this role, and the two Pettigrew sisters, Helen and Kate, with Eleanor Wells and Dorothy Crosby in these roles. Other roles are filled by Grace Peters Johnson, Miriam Hilton, Hester Walker Beall, Lenore Romney, Caroline McKinley, Helen Burton, James Otis Porter, Eldred Wilson, Murray Sheehan, Maurice Jarvis, Ray Montgomery and Thomas Cahill.

In preparing the set which shows a morning room of a house of the Queen Anne period, Col. John Otto Johnson has used authentic furnishings of the period and will have a set correct in all details.

A capacity audience is expected to attend the opening night, with many dinner parties planned preceding the play. The play will be repeated tomorrow evening.

Plumbing Bill Hearing Today.

Hearings on a bill to further regulate the plumbing and gas fitting trades in the District, and impose stiffer license fees, will be held before the Senate District committee at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

GIRL RIDERS READY FOR CIRCUS TODAY

Society Equestriennes Will Be Seen in Events at Fort Myer.

Debutante riders and equestrian gymnasts held a final rehearsal for the Fort Myer society circus yesterday in the Army post riding hall. Primed for the public performance this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and 8:15 o'clock, in the inclosed riding ring, for the benefit of Fort Myer charities and the District unemployed, rodeos will present somersaults, flips and other stunts that will rival a Western thriller.

Stunts that will combine the colorful antics of the Cossacks and the vaulting gymnasts of the Wild West shows are slated in the society event. Executing the intricate tricks of gymnastic horseman requires a long period of training, and then one is ready to emulate an ambitious Cossack doing the Russian Drag.

Turning his horse into the hall lane at a wild gallop, the rider crouches in his saddle, slips his right foot through a strap and drops over backward, arms free, body swinging and head less than a foot from the ground. There he hangs apparently helpless, but with a quick grab he catches some part of the saddle and rights himself, if he doesn't grab too hard and throw the horse off balance, and fall.

Accidents, however, are rare, even though casualties may result from stumbling of the horse, a broken support strap, contact with the flying hoofs of a horse, or being pinned under a falling horse. Coordination with the movements of the horse and agility save the riders from any spills.

FRIDAY APRIL 1, 1932 SPORTS

DEAL TO SEND JOE JUDGE TO BROOKLYN CLUB EXPECTED; EAST'S RACING SEASON OPENS ON MUDDY BOWIE TRACK

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

ABOUT FIRST BASE.

Mr. Shirley L. Povich, Sports Editor, Washington Post.

Dear Mr. Povich—We, the undersigned, desire to commend and thank you for your frank comments in The Post on the Washington Baseball Team. Especially do we commend and agree with you in the good-natured chiding you give Mr. Griffith on the first-base situation of Judge and Kuhel.

We fail to see why Kuhel is given preference, apparently, over Judge, with the possible result of sacrificing this year's prospect of success in order to build up the first-base position for some future year, when Judge undoubtedly has several more years' A-1 baseball in him.

We are all ardent and dyed-in-the-wool Washington fans. We want to see Walter Johnson win. He has been our baseball idol all his baseball life, but when Washington goes out into the open market and pays around $35,000 for Kuhel while two of the best first basemen in any man's league are on the Washington roster—Judge and Shires—then we give up and have to admit Washington apparently has a mania for buying first basemen, or else just desires to stay around second or third place instead of at the top, where they belong.

We, of course, are not attempting to "tell 'em" how to run the team. From a common sense standpoint, however, it would seem that $35,000 spent on a good pitcher, even in these depressing times, would be a wiser investment than a $35,000 first baseman, who can't bat .300. Don't you agree with us?

We are all residents or nearby residents of Washington and as you can see, take our baseball seriously.

If this letter to you should seem like a criticism, we trust you will construe it as a constructive and friendly criticism, as we assure you we have the best interests of Washington at heart at all times. The batting of players like Manush, Rice, West, Reynolds, Cronin and Myer looks mighty sweet to us and we would be lots happier if Washington only had another good pitcher or two for this season.

Again thanking you for your frank and well meaning criticisms in The Post, we are,

Very truly yours,
WILLIAM T. BIRKBY,
SPENCER S. BERRY,
LEONARD J. CHAMBERS,
ANDREW T. OMOHUNDRO.

Women Indoor Duos Reach Tennis Finals

Brookline, Mass., March 31 (A.P.).—Mrs. George W. Wightman and Miss Sarah Palfrey, of Brookline, will meet Mrs. John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Marjorie Morrrill, of Dedham, Mass., in the final round of the women's national indoor tennis doubles championship, as the result of victories today.

Mrs. Wightman and Miss Palfrey defeated Miss Mianne Palfrey and Miss Virginia Rice, of Brookline, 6—2, 9—7, in one semifinal match. Mrs. Van Ryn and Miss Morrill defeated Mrs. H. R. Guild, of Brookline, and Miss Margaret Blake, of Lenox, in the other semifinal, 6—2, 3—6, 6—1.

The semifinal matches of the women's single national indoor tennis tournament, which were to have been played today, have been postponed until tomorrow. Play will proceed in the women's national indoor tennis doubles and the mixed doubles. The singles championship match is now scheduled for Saturday.

2 World's Records Set In A. A. U. Swimming

New Haven, Conn., March 31 (A.P.).—World records toppled three times before the onslaught of a crack field of swimmers competing in the national senior A. A. U. championships in the Yale pool.

George Kojac, of the New York Athletic Club, swam the 150-yard back stroke in 1 minutes 37 2-5 seconds, to clip three-fifths of a second from his own mark, made two years ago.

In an equally brilliant performance, John Schmiller, of the University of Michigan, took the world record in the 300-yard medley race from Clarence (Buster) Crabbe, of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, pretournament favorite. But Crabbe came back in the finals to again lower the mark and win national senior A. A. U. championship. His time was 3 minutes 36 2-5 seconds, two-fifths of a second better than the old mark.

Federal Unionists To Organize Tonight

$5,000 Added Inaugural Feature

Panetian Is Favorite in Six-Furlong Test Today.

Large Fields Named; Crowd Expected Despite Rain.

By WALTER HAIGHT.

THE 1932 Eastern racing season will be opened today on a muddy track at Bowie. Track Superintendent Dick Pending had the racing strip in top shape before the rain came along and spoiled his plans for a lightning track. However, rain and mud has failed to put the damper on enthusiasm and a large crowd is expected to witness the program, greeting the bangtails after four months.

Despite the condition of the track, full fields were drawn in the seven races and indications were last night that most of the horses will face the barrier.

The Inaugural Handicap, $5,000 added, for 3-year-olds and up, is the opening feature and sixteen horses were named overnight for the 6-furlong test, the second Inaugural at that distance in its ten-year history. A starting field of at least eight is anticipated.

Panetian Heavily Backed.

Panetian, champion sprinter during the racing season in Florida, was a heavy overnight favorite despite the fact that he will carry 126 pounds into the competition. He has worked in fine style and many believe him equal to the task. Follow On, Jaz Age, Ululu and Royal Ruffan are regarded as the chief contenders.

With the exception of the sloppy track, Bowie and Bowie officials are ready. More than 2,000 horses are within vanning distance of the track. A big majority of them are in top shape, either primed by winter racing or well drilled as the result of the open winter hereabout.

Three-year-olds have two tests today, the races being divisions of the Promenade. Maiden 2-year-olds, as usual, open the program with the other race being turned over to claiming horses.

Many old Washington and Maryland favorites are in the entries including Bubola, the sensation of the fall season in this section last year.

42 Days of Racing In Maryland.

From the opening here today the racing season will continue for 42 days in Maryland, moving to Havre de Grace April 16 for 12 days and then going to Pimlico for two full weeks, starting May 2, with the $50,000 Preakness the big event of the campaign at Old Hilltop.

The meeting here has an extra day this spring, with proceeds going to aid Maryland's unemployment relief funds. The day was set aside by Gov. Ritchie and the State waived its $6,000 daily tax so that it might go to swell the coffers.

The new road from Laurel to Bowie will aid traffic to and from the track. The W., B. & A. Electric Railway is running trains every 15 minutes from its station at Twelfth street and New York avenue.

Post time for the twelve days will be 2:30 o'clock.

No Davis Cup Play For Rene La Coste

Paris, March 31 (U.P.).—Rene La Coste, mainstay of the team that won the Davis Cup from the United States in 1927, will not emerge from retirement to aid France in the defense of the cup this year, he told the United Press today.

"I am entirely too occupied with my business to spend time in training," La Coste said.

Jean Borotra, who returned from the United States today, said that he too was through with Davis Cup play.

"I most certainly won't play singles again," Borotra said, "and will not take part in the doubles unless it is absolutely necessary."

6,000 See Londos Throw George Manich for Loss

By BOB CONSIDINE.

GEORGE MANICH went the way of all flesh last night, particularly rassling flesh, on Mr. Turner's drycleaned mat at the Washington Auditorium. He was in a bad airplane spin accident, and the malevolent force which brought down the Graf Manich was our old pal and kindergarden spitballer, James Londos.

A gallery of nearly 6,000, radiating the delicate effluvium of raincoats and rubbers, witnessed Londos retain his duly sworn to (and at) title of rassling champion. Manich put up a good show, tossed the royal chassis around with a venom Mr. Londos has rarely run into here, but it was pretty much the same old story, and Londos made his train without difficulty, having gotten off it at the station while it took on coal.

Londos Rough at Start.

Londos looked fresher than usual, roughed it up at the start and actually threw a couple of Rudy Dusek's patented elbow socks. After the customary dead fish handshake he grabbed Manich and threw him three times on the loose plank underneath the mat with resounding wrist heaves. It had Cyclone Burns, the umpire, grovelling around the two athletes ready to count 1-2-3.

But George squirmed away and subjected Londos to some fine agony. An arm lock threw Londos thrice and Burns, optimistic soul that he is, made passes underneath the shoulders of the champion. Londos was up, grabbed a bicycle from his manager, Ed White, and sped around and around the ring until a couple of carpenters appeared on the scene to construct banked turns.

Manich Fades Quickly.

Manich seized the Greek again and grounded him, but Londos, like his ancient predecessor, was gaining new strength every time he hit the mat, and before Jim McGrath, the radio announcer, had time to interrupt his Floyd Gibbons gab with a throat lozenger, Londos was the pursuer and Manich was the cyclist. Londos secured an arm strangle that turned the brawny brown hand of the challenger into a craven white object.

Manich broke it eventually, and bounded up waving fists, but failed to budge the Greek gawd on a series of attempted flying mares and quickly faded. Londos took a couple of easy back drops and then threw our Mr. Manich with thunderous zeal three times on flying mares. Manich, a groggy mass of protoplasm in the center of the ring, was easy prey for Londos' airplane spin. It was 29 minutes from the opening leer to the bone buckling final crash.

Primo Leo Pinetzki won an odd decision over George Hagen in 13 minutes. It was different from anything seen here for a long time. The boys had calumped around the ring a great deal, with Pinetzki's size 14 feet stamping down the mat as thin as an

Garrison Finish Wins For A.G.O. Team, 33-29

After leading until all but three minutes of playing time had elapsed, the Department of Labor quintet faltered in its game with the War Department A. G. O. Team, lost the game, 33 to 29, and with it the championship of the Federal League. The Laborites lost three men on personal fouls in the hectic trio of minutes that preceded the final blast of the gun.

The winners have issued a challenge to the Bureau of Investigation five, winners of the Government League, for a three-game series.

TOLEDO SIGNS HUDSON.

New Orleans, La., March 31 (A.P.).—Roy Hudson, former University of Michigan football captain, was signed today to play baseball with the Toledo Mudhens, General Manager Billy Evans, of the Cleveland Indians, announced. The Mudhens are controlled by the Cleveland team.

Hudson, of Girard, Ohio, came here to train with the Indians when he became ineligible because of poor grades to play baseball with the University of Michigan team. He will be stationed at first base temporarily, Evans said.

Tennis Favorites Score at Houston

Houston, Tex., March 31 (A.P.).—Gilbert Hall, New York; Junior Coen, Kansas City, and Lester Stoeffen, California, the three remaining favorites in the annual Houston invitation tennis tournament, cleared their hurdles into the quarter-final singles play today.

Coen and Stoeffen advanced only by stout effort in a field where upsets already have eliminated Ellsworth Vines, national champion, and George Lott, Chicago, seeded No. 2.

Coen, seeded No. 5, was extended to three hard sets before downing Hal Surface, of Texas University, 6—3, 4—6, 7—5. Stoeffen won his third round match with Fred Royer, of Dallas, 8—6, 6—4. Hall was on top all the way in his match with Arthur Trum, of Houston, 6—4, 6—2.

Jake Hess, of Rice Institute, upset Frankie Parker, of New Orleans, to enter the quarter-finals. Hess won in three hard sets, 3—6, 8—6, 6—4. Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Tex., seeded No. 3; Jimmy Quick, of Dallas, and Karl Kamrath, of Texas University, both unseeded, and "Red" Thalheimer, of Dallas, are the other quarter-finalists.

Anacostia Eagle Nine To Organize Tonight

The Anacostia Eagles will be organized for the coming campaign at a meeting to be held tonight at 8 o'clock at 1812 Fourteenth street, southeast.

Manager Alvin Davis has secured the use of the Shady Oak diamond for the team this season. He has also rounded up several capable players, including Morris Clark, Charley Bradley, Joe Pusateri, Frank Connick and Francis Harris. The latter was the leading pitcher in the Augusta County (Pa.) League last year, winning 15 games and losing only two. The Eagles plan to compete in the unlimited division of the Capital City League.

Kann's Nine Signs Up Former High Stars

Bolstered by the addition of several new players, all of whom are former high school stars, the Kann's nine has high hopes of winning the championship of the Department Store League this season. All of last year's regulars will be back on the job. Hyde was elected to pilot the team at a meeting held during the week. The first practice session will be held Sunday, at 10 o'clock, on diamond No. 1, of the Monument grounds.

This will be the second year for the league which enjoyed a successful season last year. Lansburgh's Hecht's, King's Palace and Palais Royal are among the other teams entered in the race.

BOSTON GOLF TEAM HERE.

George Washington University's golf team is scheduled to open its season here today in a match with Boston College.

Fleming will remain as graduate manager at the academy until June, 1933. Worsham will report to the military academy about August 1, of this year. He will serve as engineer instructor, but, in addition, will be an understudy to Fleming until the latter's term ends.

HUNT VICTIM OF DEMPSEY ATTACK

Ex-Champion Wins as 15,000 Watch Exhibition.

DETROIT, March 31 (A.P.).—Jack Dempsey ended his comeback training campaign here tonight by outpointing Babe Hunt, Ponca City, Okla., heavyweight, in a four round exhibition bout. Dempsey weighed 192¼; Hunt, 193¼.

Although no official decision was given, Jack clearly had a comfortable margin at the end. He had some difficulty in getting inside Hunt's long arms in the first round.

Jack solved this problem in the second round, however, at the same time improving his timing. Shortly after the round was under way, Dempsey took a couple of left jabs to the face, rushed Hunt into the ropes with a left and right to the head.

Hunt Dangerous Throughout.

As Hunt bounced off, Jack slammed over the same combination and soon had Hunt in distress again. But Hunt was no easy mark for Dempsey. He swung lusty roundhouse punches to Dempsey's head and was dangerous throughout.

As the second round ended, both fighters were in a slugging duel and were so intent that neither fighter heard the bell.

There was little to choose between the two men in the third round, but the fourth was fast and had the crowd of close to 15,000 which paid $30,356 to see the bout, on its feet. Hunt stung Dempsey several times with stiff punches to the head, but Dempsey recovered and in the last part of the round was chasing Hunt around the ropes with vicious chops to the face.

"STUMPY" THOMASON WEDS.

Atlanta, March 31 (A.P.).—Jack Griffith Thomason, better known as "Stumpy" Thomason, former Georgia Tech football star, was married today to Miss Frances Patsy Miller, of Atlanta.

They appeared at the Fulton County Courthouse shortly after noon for a license and were married immediately by Municipal Court Judge A. Setheridge. Thomason gave his age as 25, and the bride gave hers as 22. They had been sweethearts since his college days.

Notre Dame Gridmen Work After Services for Rockne

By PAUL MICKELSON.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 31 (A.P.).—Knute Rockne's spirit marched on in double quick time at Notre Dame today, the first anniversary of his tragic death.

Memorial services were held, after which his successor as head football coach, Heartly Anderson, assembled Notre Dame's 1932 football army, 250 strong, for the first spring practice.

The entire student body arose at dawn and attended a solemn requiem high mass at the Church of the Sacred Heart, where Rockne's funeral services were held. The Rev. Father Charles L. O'Donnell, president of the university, offered the mass and was assisted by the Rev. Father M. A. Mulcaire, vice president, and the Rev. Father James A. Carrico, director of studies at Notre Dame. Mrs. Rockne and her four children attended the service.

Visit Rockne's Grave.

In the afternoon the Monogram Club, an organization of letter men at Notre Dame, went in a body to the grave in Highland Cemetery and placed a wreath. No monument has been erected as yet over the grave, which is marked only by a simple marker.

With the memorial services over, Coach Anderson got his first close-up of the big football army which will carry on again next fall. The drill was devoted almost entirely to photographs and newsreel men whose cameras clicked as the 250 players surged on the practice field next to the big brick stadium Rockne built.

Today's initial spring football practice was important, as it marked the beginning of Anderson's full control of the team and its destinies by Coach Anderson. A year ago, when the university still reeled under the shock of Rockne's tragic death in an airplane crash on a Kansas prairie, no selection was made, but later Anderson was named "senior" coach and Jack Chevigny "junior" coach. The arrangement was unsatisfactory to both coaches.

Anderson Has Own Staff.

But today Anderson started as head coach and was surrounded by assistants of his own selection—three of them stars from his 1931 machine, Marchy Schwartz, Nordy Hoffman and former captain Tom Yarr. Schwartz was in charge of the back field, Hoffman and Yarr drilled the line, while Ike Voedisch, the only holdover from last season's coaching ranks, was back at end.

Coach Anderson, always noted for optimism, was himself today as he watched his charges play movie stars before the camera.

"Prospects are good," he replied to the old question. "We'll miss Schwartz, Hoffman and Yarr, but we did the next best thing by getting them to teach the boys how they played the game. We should have a good team this fall."

Cold Check Speedy In Derby Workout

Louisville, Ky., March 31 (U.P.).—Only two Kentucky Derby eligibles ventured out on the track at Churchill Downs today. The underfooting was still soft and trainers feared to risk their charges over the slippery course.

The J. W. Parrish pair of Cold Check and Depression worked together for 6 furlongs in 1:19 and then galloped out a mile. Cold Check was clocked in 1:46 1-5 for the 8-furlong trial, the best record for the distance to date. Depression finished the distance in 1:47 3-5 well in hand.

Burning Blaze and Delivered were galloped a mile at Douglas Park with no time being taken. Side Step worked 4 furlongs in 0:52 2-5 and Barshkova was sent for a 1⅛-miles canter at the same track.

Landis Grants Options To Tigers and Cards

Chicago, March 31 (A.P.).—Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis today granted options permitting the St. Louis Cardinals to select one player from the Denver Club, of the Western League, on or before next September 1 and the Detroit Tigers to select one player from Toronto, of the International League, on or before next September 15.

Judge Does Not Rate Racing Dogs Highly

Tampa, Fla., March 31 (A.P.).—Federal Judge Alexander Akerman does not hold a high opinion of the intelligence of racing greyhounds.

Judge Akerman today refused an injunction against the St. Petersburg Kennel Club prohibiting the use of mechanical rabbits on dog tracks. A. J. O. Hoschek and Robert J. Croasdell had brought suit for $100,000, claiming patent infringements.

The rabbit was exhibited and after studying it carefully the court delivered its opinion: "If I had a hound dog that would run that thing, I'd kill him."

Court Body Urges Changes in Rules

Chicago, March 31 (A.P.).—The board of directors of the National Association of Basketball Coaches met today and prepared a list of suggestions for revisions in the rules. Rules governing the tip-off, foul shots and dribbling in back court are among the most important possibilities for changes.

Tomorrow's meeting will be devoted to reports and addresses by Maj. John L. Griffith, athletic commissioner of the Western Conference, and E. C. Quigley, National League umpire and Missouri Valley Conference basket ball official. More than 200 coaches are in Chicago for the sessions.

Members of the board who attended today's meeting were: A. A. Schabinger, Creighton University, president; Harold G. Olsen, Ohio State University, first vice president; Robert Mundorff, Georgia Tech, second vice president; H. B. Ortner, Cornell University, third vice president; Arthur C. Lonborg, Northwestern University, secretary-treasurer; Howard C. Beresford, University of Colorado, and L. P. Andreas, Syracuse University.

Pinehurst Women's Golf Play Postponed

Pinehurst, N. C., March 31 (A.P.).—Rain soaked the fairways and turned the sand greens into puddles at the Pinehurst Country Club today and caused postponement of semifinal play in the women's North and South golf tournament until tomorrow.

Mrs. O. S. Hill, of Kansas City, meets Miss Margaret Maddox, of Atlanta, in one semifinal, while the other brings together Miss Maureen Orcutt, of Englewood, N. J., the defending titleholder, and Mrs. Sarah Fownes Wadsworth, of Pittsburgh.

HOCKEY TEAMS TIE.

Montreal, March 31 (A.P.).—The Montreal Maroons and Toronto Maple Leafs played a 1-all tie tonight in the first game of their "semifinal" series in the National Hockey League playoffs. There was no overtime, as the two game series is decided on a total-goal basis.

Club Officials In Meeting Today

Believe Waivers on Veteran Could Be Obtained.

Robins Need Player to Replace Injured Bissonnette.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH (Sports Editor of The Post).

BILOXI, Miss., March 31.—The passing of First Baseman Joe Judge from the Washington Ball Club and the American League to the Brooklyn Dodgers, of the National League, loomed as a probability today.

Manager Max Carey, of the Brooklyn Club, which will meet the Nats tomorrow, was a visitor to the Washington camp last night, where he was in conference with President Clark Griffith, of the Nats, and this afternoon it was believed that Judge himself discussed the possibility of his transfer with the Brooklyn manager at Gulfport, 10 miles distant, where the Dodgers were meeting the Baltimore Orioles.

Both Griffith and Manager Johnson were silent on the possibility that Judge would be traded to Brooklyn, but circumstances have built up a strong case in favor of the deal.

Judge is rated secondary in importance to Joe Kuhel at the first base position for Washington, and Brooklyn is in dire need of a first baseman as a result of the injury to Del Bissonette, which has sent him North, and will keep him out of uniform for at least two months, according to his attending physician.

Nats Expected to Gain Player.

Any deal for Judge must necessarily be made on a waiver basis, and should the trade be consummated between the Washington and Brooklyn clubs, it is likely that the Nats would gain an infielder besides a chunk of cash.

It is known that President Griffith is desirous of placing Judge advantageously with another big league club, rather than have the veteran of seventeen seasons with the Nats sit on the Washington bench. It is understood by this correspondent that he has given Judge permission to deal with Carey in an effort to effect the trade.

Griffith has been reluctant to talk trade with Cleveland for Judge, inasmuch as he has no desire to strengthen Cleveland's entry in the 1932 pennant race, and with the acquisition of Moe Berg by the Nats, the probability of a deal for Judge with Detroit involving a Tiger catcher has faded.

Conditions Favor Deal.

The lone stumbling block to the trade looms in waiving Judge out of the American League, which Griffith must do before he is free to deal with a National League club, but Judge's long service is expected to stand him in good stead in this matter. In the past, players with records as long and as worthy as Judge's have been waived out of the league under "gentlemen's agreements," and the probability is that Griffith can manage that end of the deal with little opposition from rival magnates in deference to Judge's notable career.

A strong point in favor of the ultimate consummation of the deal is the fact that Brooklyn, which has already expended a huge sum in an attempt to build up this year's team, can deal

Public Hearings Are Urged On Amateur Boxing Bill

HOPE survives for the Hartley amateur boxing bill recently disapproved by the District Commissioners. This was strongly emphasized yesterday not only by local supporters of the bill, but by Representative Fred A. Hartley, jr., author of the measure, which is now in the hands of the District committee in the House.

Following disapproval of the proposed bill by the Commissioners, Representative Hartley wrote to Representative Mary T. Norton, chairman of the House District committee, in which he took issue with certain statements of the Commissioners and asked for public hearings to determine sentiment in favor of the bill.

It was indicated yesterday that hearings will be held this month at which time representatives of local universities, clubs and other organizations sponsoring boxing will testify to their approval of a law which would permit amateur boxing and the charging of admission thereto in the District.

The Hartley bill proposes to create a boxing commission to supervise

DONNY JOHNNY, 9 TO 1, WINS ST. JOHNS' CLOSING FEATURE

Gelding Cops By 3-Length Margin

First Mission Second With Noajoyce Third.

Wild Cress and Pan Reward Backers of Long Shots.

ST. JOHNS PARK, Fla., March 31 (A.P.).—A hectic 83-day Florida racing season was concluded here this afternoon as the local track played host to a good-sized crowd. The getaway sport was set aside as Jacksonville Day and, despite showers which fell at irregular intervals, the gate was well represented.

The Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce Purse, a dash of 5 furlongs, attracted seven meritorius sprinters of the older ranks. H. A. Coulson's gelding, Donny Johnny, racing beneath leaden skies and over a track unharmed by the light rains, continued the spree of outsiders by scoring easily to pay $20.50 for a $2 wager.

First Mission 3 Lengths Behind.

First Misssion lost the purse by three lengths while beating Noajoyce by a half length for the place. The time was 1:01 4-5.

Blue Day was favorite but W. Marsh broke him slowly and the Son of Whiskaway never was a factor.

Brooksie broke first in a good start but Noajoyce's high early speed carried him to the front after a quarter mile. Donny Johnny was outrun for 3 furlongs. Turning for home Noajoyce and Donny Johnny both came very wide with the latter steadily gaining. Inside the final furlong Donny Johnny took command and drew away with little effort. First Mission always raced close up and outfinished the faltering Noajoyce.

Wild Cress, paying $57, won the opener, while Pan, paying $76.20, cheered long-shot players in the sixth.

D. C. WANTS BOXING, SAYS REP. HARTLEY

amateur boxing and to permit admission fees and the award of medals and watches to contestants.

Excerpts from Representative Hartley's letter to Representative Norton follow:

"I wish to acknowledge receipt of your letter of March 21, inclosing an opinion of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, purporting to register certain objections to my bill to permit amateur boxing.

"Their reference to the various sections of the United States criminal code relates exclusively to professional prize fighting. They, however, make no reference to the real purpose of my bill, which is to permit the various athletic organizations, such as the Y. M. C. A., American Legion, Knights of Columbus, the Jewish Community Center and others, and the various institutions of learning in the District, to conduct amateur boxing bouts, as a purely amateur sport under the regulations of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States.

"In the last paragraph, the Commissioners say, 'there is no large public sentiment in favor of this bill,' and they believe 'the National Capital should be kept free from the possibility of disorder and criticism, which might result from the holding of the pugilistic encounters provided for in the bill.'

"I feel that the first statement, which I have quoted above, is absolutely without foundation and utterly ridiculous, for while I have not been very active socially here in the District, I feel that I can safely say that every amateur athletic organization in the District and every university here is 100 per cent behind the bill. These in particular are George Washington University, Georgetown University, Columbus University, American University and Catholic University, who have engaged in intercollegiate boxing and who desire to entertain boxing teams of other universities here at the Capital, and yet, as in the instance of Georgetown University, some of them have had to discontinue because of their inability to charge a small admission, so as to defray their expenses.

"When the Commissioners speak of disorder, I can hardly picture that they have ever attended an amateur boxing exhibition. I have attended several amateur exhibitions here in the District and hundreds of them at home, and as an ardent follower of the sport I have yet to see a wild disorder pictured by the Commissioners."

Bowie Awaits Opening of 1932 Eastern Season

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: Bowie Race Track.

Bowie and mud. That brings memories of the days when Gnome, Tryster and Dunlin splashed their way up the stretch. But that's history. I know you can't eat history, Al. It's winners you want and it's winners you'll get.

That $5,000 tacked on the Inaugural Handicap is the big piece of money for today and from the entries it looks like a battle between the horses that spent the winter beating hoofs around the Southern ovals. Few of the group wintered hereabouts have been named.

JAZ AGE is my choice. This winner of seven out of eight sprints in the South didn't have any boxcar mishaps on the way up and has stepped lively here in the morning. JAZ AGE gets in with 110 pounds, and I don't believe PANETIAN can give the Great Jaz gelding 16 pounds. PANETIAN is in top form, as a 5-furlong workout this week in 1:01 will attest. ULUNIU is my third horse and the muddier it is the better are his chances. FOLLOW ON looks like the best of the group that has not been out since last fall. This Sagamore stable star is reported to be in shape, but may need some actual racing. PANCHO LOPEZ will have a following among the clockers.

FIRST RACE—ACAUTAW, favored by a good post position, said to be a promising colt and bred of mudders, is my selection over POSTPONEMENT, credited with a second and a fourth in two starts at Hialeah. CRESTA RUN, the Whitney entrant, is far down the entry list and may be forced out. If he goes, he must break from the outside, which seems to hinder his chances. LOUGH PORT, IRISH KNIGHT and STEELTON are untried possibilities.

SECOND RACE — PROMETHEUS comes up from New Orleans after annexing two sprints and appears the best of these high-class platers. I am picking him ahead of B'AR HUNTER, which has been racing the route, but appears to have an excellent chance. B'AR HUNTER picks up 13 pounds since his last test. AVALON was a fast colt last fall and may be third. THE OKAH, which bled at New Orleans, is reported in shape again. Won three straight before the mishap.

THIRD RACE—OPEN HEARTH, a Labrot youngster, has improved a lot since last fall and was nearly beaten by Lucky Tom at New Orleans in the closing feature. That was at a distance, but OPEN HEARTH is a fast breaker and may lead from the start. SIR WALTER led until near the finish in his only test at Belmont. Said to be ready I see him as the contender. RUMMY won a race the first time out last year and may make the top two run it out today.

FOURTH RACE—ARROW, from the J. E. Davis barn, is given the call over the 3-year-olds in the second division of the Promenade. Only out once since last summer but said to be ready to fly. STEPENFETCHIT is a threat, but will likely be scratched due to the mud. BRAVE AND BOLD liked Bowie going last fall. TOWEE and JIB BOOM are rated promising.

SIXTH RACE—MORSNUFF did not have much to beat in winning his last two at New Orleans, but turned in an impressive job. He will not be bothered by the going and may take the long end. JOHN F. ran some good races in Florida and should finish ahead of IMPISH and BUBOLA. The last named starts again after his brilliant racing of last fall.

SEVENTH RACE—PETABIT failed to leave the post the last time out at the Fair Grounds, but previous to that race stepped lively both on slow and muddy tracks and is my choice. SUN FRIAR, also left standing still the last time, has shown mud ability and has won three purses since leaving Laurel. MAKE BELIEVE has a chance as has LADY BIENVILLE.

See You Tomorrow,
BILL BENNINGS.

Business, St. Albans In Games Tomorrow

With high hopes that the District diamonds will dry off enough to permit them to practice, Business and St. Alban's baseball nines will attempt to get in an afternoon of practice today, having games scheduled for tomorrow afternoon on nearby diamonds.

The first purely local scholastic baseball game will bring together St. Alban's and Mercersburg Military Academy on a local diamond yet to be chosen. Business meets Episcopal over at Episcopal tomorrow.

A. A. U. Handball Title Play Starts Tomorrow

The second annual District A. A. U. handball championship will begin tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. with a field of nineteen seeking the crown vacated by Jack Schwartz, of the Jewish Community Center. Chief of these is Channing S. Walker, runner-up last year, who has been seeded No. 1, followed by J. B. Payne, long an outstanding player here and holder of the doubles title with Walker.

All first-round matches will be played tomorrow afternoon, with the second round scheduled Wednesday night, the semifinals Friday night and the finals next Saturday afternoon.

Entries in doubles will be held open until Monday. Blanks can be secured from the Y. M. C. A.

The singles pairings:

First round—2 o'clock: George Newman vs. J. F. Cowley; Paul Pearlman vs. J. L. Kosowsky. 3 o'clock: Dr. G W. Smith vs. W. S. Neville; J. B. Payne vs. Abe Sair. 4 o'clock: W. C. Woodward vs. Craig McKee; Perrie McLean vs. Charles H. Groff. Channing Walker, bye.

Pom Ray Best Jumper In Aiken Horseshow

Aiken, S. S., March 31 (A.P.).—Pom Ray, gray mare, owned by Mrs. Seymour H. Knox, of Buffalo, N. Y., and ridden by Miss Polly Potter, of Newark, took the blue ribbon today in the open jumping class of the sixteenth annual Aiken horse show. The jumper class ushered in a three-day program for sportsmen and sportswomen, which will reach its climax Saturday with the fiftieth anniversary celebration of polo playing at Aiken.

Pom Ray triumphed over a field of more than 50 fine hunters to win the jumper prize, a silver plate, presented by Mrs. Clarence W. Dolan, of Philadelphia. Second place went to Miss Jane Johnson's brown mare, Step Aside, a St. Louis entry, with the owner up. Super Lad, owned and ridden by J. Temple Gwathmey, Westbury, Long Island, took third place.

A large variety of classes will be run off tomorrow. These include events for children's and lead-rein ponies, thoroughbreds, jumpers, pairs of hunters, hunt teams, ladies' hunters, light, middle and heavy weight hunters.

Epsom Derby Attracts 4 U. S.-Owned Horses

London, March 31 (A.P.).—Four American-owned horses were among the 69 acceptances named today for the derby at Epsom Downs June 1.

The four were A. K. Macomber's Clustine, the late Mortimer Schiff's Livre des Rois and R. B. Strassburger's Bishop's Rock and West Wickham.

GREAT CAGE RACE LOOMS IN 1933

Central, Business to Be Stronger in Next School Series.

WITH the closing up of basket ball for this season, thoughts of followers of the scholastic brand of court play are turning to next year, which probably will produce the most potent high school series in half a decade.

Two schools that have played minor roles in the distribution of awards in the last five years threaten next year. They are Central and Business. Central will have its this year's squad intact. The team will be manned by such players as Buddy Nau, Billy Burke, Bits Keyser, Gene Swift and Rex Smith.

Business Gains Good New Players.

Business has gained a number of striking new players to represent it when the school becomes Roosevelt High. The quartet of boys who last year made the team a great drawing card—Carrol Shore, all-high guard; Huck Cavanaugh, Ollie Tipton and Joe Sherman—will be enhanced by the gaining of George Beach, sensational center for Delaware & Hudson during The Post-A. A. U. tournament; Mike McNally, high-scoring forward on the District 145-pound champions, Olmsted Grill, and Mario Gregario, a member of the Tech High team last year.

Eastern, this year's champion, can not be counted out, however. Although the squad loses Barney Kane and Bernie Lieb, all-high forward and center, it retains Al Waters, Jack Bayliss and Ben Zola, and will have the use of Tommy Nolan and Dickey Fitzgerald, former Gonzagans, who will make a name for themselves in the series.

Western may have Anthony Latona back. Tech will suffer a great loss in the graduation of Everett Russell and Jimmy Reed, but will retain Waverly Wheeler, Bernie Reichardt, Francis Daly and Fred Thomas.

CLARENDON MIDGETS BOOKING.

The Clarendon Midgets would like to book a game with a strong team in its class for Sunday. Teams interested should call Manager H. D. Smith at Clarendon 1846 during the day.

MAT SHIEKS ON BOLLING PROGRAM

Good Lookers Make Up All-Star Card Monday Night.

GOOD LOOKERS, a la Hollywood, are to trip to the mat at Bolling Field Armory Monday night when the Bolling Field Athletic Association features its most pretentious all-star wrestling show.

In the program of five events, established favorites who could stack up quite favorably against Jack Gilbert or Clark Gable, will perform.

Westenberg Takes on Strack.

Marvin Westenberg, ruddy faced, sheikish youngster who extended Billy Bartush to the limit last Monday night, bucks Charley Strack in an added attraction. Brown-haired, well-put-up Dr. Len Hall returns against "Bull" Garnon, and blond, boyish-looking Danny Winters opens against "Sailor" Slejack.

That their manly charms do not interfere with the wrestling of any of these principals is vouched for by those who have seen them perform.

With interest rapidly mounting in this promising card, tickets continue on sale at Goldie Ahearn's and Hoya Inn.

Government League Names All-Star Five

A poll of the managers of the Government Basket Ball League, taken to determine the official all-star club for its initial season, saw Hirsh and Fisher, of Investigation; Kiesel, of Patent Office; Singman, of Census, and Dalglish, of Union Printers, awarded first-team places.

Kiesel, by a margin of one vote over Singman, was selected as the most valuable player to his team.

The second team was composed of Wallenstein and Levin, of Patent Office; Perkins, of Naval Hospital; Hager, Bolling Field, and Ryan, Investigation.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—WILD CRESS, $57.00, $30.30, $5.60; JOSEPHINE D., $6.40, $3.90; JIMMIE L., $2.90.

WILD CRESS, outpaced for the first half mile, improved his position on the outside through the closing stages and, finishing fast, wore JOSEPHINE D. down in the final sixteenth mile. JOSEPHINE D. raced GAN LEE into early defeat, saved ground wherever possible, but was unable to stall off the winner. JIMMIE L., a keen factor the entire trip, held on with good courage under punishment in the final drive. HIEOVER, well placed early, was held safe when the real test came. GAN LEE, hard ridden early, weakened when called on. BAKED ALASKA broke fast and clear, was hurried along, but could not threaten the leaders. LIGHT NUN stopped.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PREFERRED, $7.00, $3.00, $3.10; BOGAN, $3.70, $3.90; FINNATH, $4.40.

PREFERRED, sent into a forward position and going in his best form, came determinedly for the final test and, wearing BOGAN down inside the closing furlong, was slowly drawing clear approaching the finish. BOGAN, forcing a good pace in the early running, took command when ready, saved ground and continued gamely when challenged. FINNATH, slow to settle in his stride, swung to the outside when moving up and, closing stoutly, outstayed JUDGE DIXON. Latter, a keen factor for five furlongs, weakened thereafter. LADY M'NEIL was held safe when put to a drive.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $400; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:33. Off at 3:37. Winner, Mrs. H. S. Hart's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—COOTS, $4.70, $3.60, $3.50; VALLEY, $5.70, $3.90; ESTIN, $3.60.

COOTS, having good speed and following in close pursuit of VALLEY, displaced the latter approaching the home stretch and began drawing clear steadily through the final furlong. VALLEY, quick to get going, showed good early speed, saved ground and held on stoutly when challenged. ESTIN began slowly, improved his position on the inside and finished with good speed on the outside. HAZEL GUMBERTS, sluggish in the early running, was going gamely at end. JOAN K. was unable to improve her position when put to a drive. STUPENDOUS went evenly throughout.

FOURTH RACE—Five furlongs. Purse, $400; claiming. Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce Purse. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:05½. Off at 4:10½. Two-dollar mutuels paid—DONNY JOHNNY, $20.50, $6.00, $4.50; FIRST MISSION, $8.10, $4.50; NOAJOYCE, $3.30.

DONNY JOHNNY, going in his best form, was outrun for the first three furlongs, circled his contention when moving up on the outside and, closing with excellent speed, shook the leaders off and came away rapidly. FIRST MISSION, stoutly ridden and going along prominently, responded willingly to punishment in the final drive and outstayed NOAJOYCE. Latter, rushed into a safe lead rounding the turn, lost ground during the stretch run and faltered fast in the closing drive. BROOKSIE, quick to get going, weakened after three furlongs. PRINCE FOX could not reach the leaders.

FIFTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $400; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:39. Off at 4:39½. Winner, George Collins' b. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—THISTLE TELEE, $8.40, $4.60, $4.00; MAKE SPEED, $12.10, $5.60; POPCORN, $3.60.

THISTLE TELEE outran her field to the first turn, was rated along under steadying restraint, resisted early contention from MAKE SPEED and, holding on courageously for the final drive, had enough left to stall off the latter. MAKE SPEED, offering good contention, made repeated efforts during the final half mile and continued stoutly until the end. POPCORN, forced wide at the first turn, gained a forward position midway of the back stretch, but could not improve his position in the final test. HOWEE, stoutly ridden the entire trip, weakened from his early efforts. SUNNY BOB, allowed to drop out of contention, finished with a belated effort. PARTIES was taken up directly with the break and raced well under weak handling.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $400; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:08. Off at 5:11. Winner, Lee Clous' ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—PAN, $76.20, $23.50, $21.60; DOCTOR BILLY, $8.30, $5.00; RAVE, $8.90.

PAN, showing sudden improvement, took command going to the first turn, withstood early contention from ELEANORA M. and DOCTOR BILLY and, holding on gamely under punishment, just lasted long enough. DOCTOR BILLY, rushed hard to secure a forward position, made stout efforts through the closing stages, raced to almost even terms with the winner a furlong out, but appeared to hang thereafter. RAVE, slow to get into full stride, went to the ouside for racing room and finished soutly in the final half mile. EVELINE F., shuffled back in the early running, secured racing room when midway of the back stretch and improved her position readily when clear. HERB ASHBY closed a big gap from a slow beginning. PLUTARCH raced in spots.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $400; claiming. Au Revoir Purse. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:39. Off at 5:40½. Winner, C. R. Messick's b. g. (7), by Wrack—Mousse De Bois. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $275; second, $75; third, $35; fourth, $15. Time, 0:25 4-5, 0:50 4-5, 1:17, 1:43 3-5, 1:58 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MISNOMER, $17.40, $5.80, out; HARUM SCARUM, $3.40, out; CONFIDENTIAL, out.

MISNOMER, reserved off the early pace, moved to the leaders with a rush midway of the far turn, wore the leaders down when nearing the final furlong pole and, holding on resolutely, outstayed HARUM SCARUM. Latter, rated close up and under slight restraint while following WAVE TOP, was caught in tight quarters when rounding the turn, secured racing room on the inside when shaken up, but was weakly handled approaching the finish. CONFIDENTIAL, a trailer early, closed full of run and was racing the strongest of all at the end. OBSERVATION faltered badly after moving into a brief lead. WAVE TOP stopped utterly during the final half mile.

BRAUNSTEIN, BOWEN TO BATTLE

Bout at Portner's to Determine District Welter Champ.

THE District welterweight championship—yes, this is the fightless District of Columbia—will be the prize for the winner of the Sammy Braunstein-Ray Bowen six-round bout on next Tuesday's card at Portner Arena, Alexandria.

The title until recently was held by Harry "Kid" Groves, who came into the honor last summer by virtue of beating Joe Smallwood at Fort Washington. But Groves has retired from active prize ring life and is devoting his time to training a number of the youngsters now coming up in professional ranks.

The Braunstein-Bowen brawl is a "natural" in pugilistic parlance, both boys being hard, willing punchers and possessed of an intense desire to gain favor with local fans.

Several months ago Braunstein defeated Groves on a technical knockout in the first round when Groves went down without being struck. The champion later atoned for his mistake by trimming Sammy in six rounds.

Bowen Won Over Lewis.

Bowen made a successful comeback to the ring last Tuesday following a long lay-off when he defeated the impressive Baltimore southpaw, Patsy Lewis. He was aided, however, by a weight advantage of 7 pounds, which will be missing in the forthcoming engagement.

Reds Barry, Mohawk Club heavyweight who meets Marty Gallagher in the featured 8-round bout, announced himself fit and ready yesterday after a strenuous workout. Reds was confidence personified, exclaiming: "Gallagher hasn't a chance."

Reports from Boston where Gallagher has been training state that the Foggy Bottom Irishman has reduced from 208 to 201 pounds, his best fighting weight. Marty gained a decision over Barry last October at Fort Washington, but is expected to find Reds a tougher obstacle this time.

BABE RUTHS WOULD PLAY.

The Babe Ruth Peewees would like to arrange a game with a strong team in their class for Saturday. Teams interested should call Atlantic 0980.

13 A. A. U. BOUTS TOMORROW

Best District Boxers in Action

Champions in Eight Divisions Will Be Decided.

Record Crowd Looked for in Ring at Portner's.

TWENTY-SIX ringmen will show in 17 bouts tomorrow night when the District A. A. U. launches the semifinal and final rounds of its third annual championship boxing tournament at Portner's Arena, Alexandria, Va. Champions in eight divisions will be decided upon completion of these bouts.

Definite pairings for tomorrow night's show, which starts at 8:30 promptly, will be announced tomorrow morning.

Having survived some of the hottest mixing ever seen in the preliminary rounds of this tourney, tomorrow night's principals should offer rousing competition all the way.

The cream of Washington's amateur material will be brought together before kingpins in the various classes are crowned.

Spectators fortunate enough to witness Wednesday night's spectacular features likely will turn out in full force for these bouts as will others interested in the outcome of the annual spectacle.

In four divisions, 118 pounds, featherweight, 175 pounds and unlimited, those squaring off tomorrow night will be shooting directly for titles, only two warriors remaining in each class.

The bantamweight spot may provide the liveliest mixing of the night. Eddie Marmel, representing Jewish Comunity Center, faces a tartar in Lou Gevinson, Boys Club, in this event. Returned flyweight champion in last year's tournament, Gevinson looks even more impressive in his present class.

"Mickey" O'Connor, who scored a sensational knockout over George Chappell Wednesday night, probably will be forced to appear twice tomorrow. Four middleweights are still hot after the crown.

Leon Shub, 1931 bantam ruler, appears a hot favorite among the 135-pounders, while Jack Baxter, American Legion, must be reckoned with as a welter.

Seats for the bouts may be reserved at Spalding's today at $1 per customer.

JOE JUDGE SLATED FOR ROBINS' BERTH

for Judge on a comparatively low basis, possibly at the waiver price, inasmuch as Griffith has announced that he will not stand in Judge's way if a better opportunity presents itself for the veteran first baseman.

Bissonnette's injury to a tendon in his heel, suffered in a volley ball game this spring, threatens the pennant chances of the Brooklyn club, inasmuch as he will be out of the line-up for eight weeks. Max Carey has gone far afield this spring to strengthen the Robins, acquiring Infielders Joe Stripp and Cuccinelli, and Catcher Sukeforth in a trade with the Cincinnati Reds, and Hack Wilson's addition to the club has made it a dangerous contender.

With the addition of Stripp and Cuccinelli, Carey has a surplus of infielders which also include Glenn Wright, Mickey Finn, Dick Slade and Fresco Thompson. Either Finn, Slade or Thompson might be included in a deal for Judge.

Since Bissonnette's injury, Manager Carey has been playing Joe Stripp at first base and unless another first baseman is obtained Stripp will start the season at that post, but Carey has revealed that he has other plans for Stripp by transferring him frequently to his regular third base position and playing a young outfielder, Howell, at first base, which may be taken to mean that Carey is still casting about for another first baseman.

Fred Marberry and Lloyd Brown are scheduled to oppose Brooklyn tomorrow when the Nats meet their first major league opposition of the season. The game will be a gala event in Biloxi with the mayor having declared a half holiday. It will be the Nats' farewell appearance here.

Joe Judge is scheduled to go back to first base with Kuhel's injured hand not yet fully recovered.

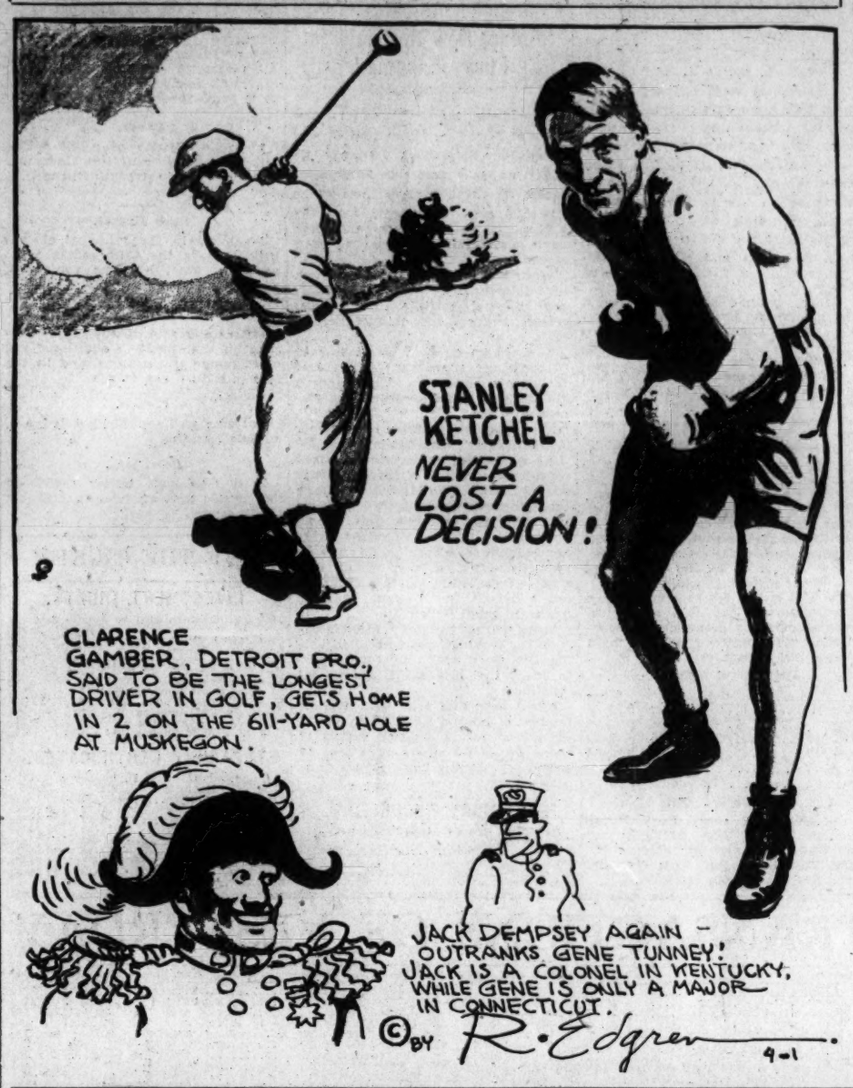
Most of the Nats spent the afternoon off by trekking to Gulfport for the game between the Orioles and Brooklyn, and renewing acquaintances with three former Nats now with the Dodgers, Pitcher Hollis Thurston, Catcher Val Picinich and Infielder Jackie Warner.

With the Dodgers, too, is Clyde Sukeforth, former Georgetown University catcher, who came to Brooklyn in the six-player deal with the Reds two weeks ago.

Seat Reservations Good Until Tomorrow

Secretary Edward B. Eynon, jr., of the Washington Baseball Club, has announced that reservations for the opening game against the Boston Red Sox here on April 11 will be held until tomorrow at 5:30 p. m. All reservations not called for at Griffith Stadium will be canceled at that time.

MIRACLES OF SPORTS. —By Robert Edgren



Hitting the Head Pin

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON

A PAIR of all-time records for the District League were smashed at Lucky Strike last night, one a team mark, and the other individual. The Lucky Strike quintet hung up a new set record for future generations to shoot at when they pinched the pins for a total of 1,965. Their games were 646, 659 and 660.

The previous record was made in the 1926-27 season by the King Pin Team, which finished the race in a four-cornered tie with Convention Hall, Curb Cafe and Stanford Paper Co. The Hall boys won the roll-off, but the King Pinners galloped off with a set of 1,877.

Earl McPhilomy's 447 set accounted for the other all-time mark. Earl's games were 160, 155 and 132. This mark was broken only recently. The Fountain Hams, who were the Strike gang's opponents during the record-breaking fever, rolled good duckpins, but, of course, the brilliant work of their opponents was unbeatable and the Hams dropped all three. Tony Santini's 152 was high for the losers.

Miss Lauer's 105 game and Miss Carter's 294 set topped the individual scoring in the Ladies Veterans Bureau League at Arcadia. The Deuces and Nitwits tied for team high game with 459 each, but the Nitwits continued their good work to bag the set honors with a 1,350.

Hohman was the star of the War Department men's loop at Arcadia. He spilled the wood for a game of 147 and 366 total for the three. Hydrographic led the other teams in scoring with a 588 game and 1,658 game.

The East Washington Church League will conduct a closed handicap tournament for singles and doubles at the Convention Hall alleys on the nights of April 4 and 11. Doubles will be rolled on Monday, April 4, starting at 7:30 p. m., and the singles the following Monday. Every member of the league, with few exceptions, will compete.

The Bureau of Engraving Post, American Legion, won the Commander Fred Frazier Trophy, emblematic of the legion bowling championship, by winning over Lincoln Post in a roll-off at Arcadia yesterday. The two teams had tied for the honor in the tournament conducted at the same alleys in February.

R. A. Campbell, winner of the individual prize in the tournament, was high yesterday, but his efforts availed Lincoln Post naught. He rolled a 132 game and 348 set. A team mate, Zimmerman, beat his game mark by two pins. Branler's 333 set was high for the winners.

One of the most hectic pin races of the year came to an end at the Rendezvous alleys last night as Maryland rolled the second highest team game and set scores of the year and won the odd game from V. M. I. and the 1932 championship of the Intercollegiate Alumni League. Princeton was runner-up, three full games behind the leaders. The Tigers copped the deuce from Lehigh. Cornell, which defeated V. P. I., was third. In the other matches Dartmouth, Brown and Yale defeated Michigan, Navy and Harvard, respectively, by one-game margins. Archie Roberts, of V. M. I., scored high game of the evening, a 129. Johnny Wood, of Yale, came home a winner with a 335 set to his credit Maryland's scores were 565 and 1,574.

Grace Purdy added a bit of cash to her savings account by the simple process of rolling a 127 game and 317 set in the A. G. O. Ladies League at Columbia last night. Pursuit Group swooped down on the team prizes and made off with their prey in the form of a 483 game and 1,355 set.

BLAZING THE BASEBALL TRAIL

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 31 (A. P.).—The New York Yankees of the American League won the mythical pennant of the "Grapefruit" League, taking ten of their thirteen games with major league opponents on Florida soil.

Second place went to the Philadelphia Athletics, who took eight out of fourteen, and third to Phillies, who were victors in five of their nine contests.

The world champion Cardinals, of St. Louis, won six out of fourteen, the Cincinnati Reds took five out of eleven, the Brooklyn Dodgers three out of five, and the Boston Braves seven out of eleven. The St. Louis Browns played only one game with a major league team and were defeated.

Forty-four games were played between major league teams during the spring training season in Florida.

Gulfport, Miss., March 31 (A.P.).—The Brooklyn Dodgers won a loosely-played game from the Baltimore Orioles, 10 to 3, today.

Waite Hoyt, who pitched the first five innings for the Dodgers, allowed only two hits, both of which paved the way for runs. Bill Clark finished the game which was called at the end of the eighth to allow Baltimore to catch a train.

Los Angeles, March 31 (A.P.).—The Chicago Cubs, under the watchful eye of their new boss, P. K. Wrigley, turned in a pleasing 6-to-3 victory over Pittsburgh today which was featured by home runs of Gabby Hartnett and Vince Barton.

In the sixth inning, Hartnett hit a homer to tie the score and in the seventh drove a single, scoring two runs, giving Chicago a 5-to-3 lead.

The climax came in the eighth when Vince Barton bludgeoned a home run with two men on bases.

Savannah, Ga., March 31 (A.P.).—The Boston Red Sox today swamped the Cincinnati Reds, 7-3, in the former's first major league clash of the training season. Pete Donahue, veteran right-hander, and Bob Kline pitched great ball for the American Leaguers, who clinched the game by pounding Owen Carroll for seven hits in the last three innings. The Sox scored four runs in their wild eighth inning rally. George Grantham, Reds' second baseman, got the only extra base hit of the game, a double.

6,000 SEE LONDOS WIN FROM MANICH

1893 dime, but for the final three minutes they both were prone and seemingly resting when suddenly, without warning, Referee Bortnick began the task of counting up to three and Pinekzki was returned the winner.

The Polish Paluka gave exhibitions of tremendous strength. Once he held Hagen's 210 pounds up with one hand as though the hard-bitten Marine was a box of ping pong balls.

Washburn Draws Tremendous Boo.

So long a boo greeted the preceding match that Jimmy Lake was unable to introduce Pinetski and Hagen at the start. The cause of the disturbance was Jack Washburn, tremendously unpopular matman, who beat handsome Leon Smith in 11 minutes with a sock on the jaw, a kick in the brisket and a couple other indignities, one of which was giving Bortnick a bum's rush across the ring before throwing Smith. It was a grand exhibition.

Fred Grobmeier gave his best performance since coming here in beating Andy Zaharoff. The bout was stopped when Grobmeier secured a hook scissors after 12 minutes of spectacular milling.

George McLeod knocked the spots off Tiger Nelson, and Dutch Green and George Kiatti presented a little 15 minute tableau in the other bouts.

TRUNDLE ORGANIZING TEAM.

"Buck" Trundle, who will manage the George Washington Post team in the American Legion series this year, is rounding up a team to compete in the junior division of The Post's Capital City League and would like to sign a few capable youngsters. The first meeting of the new club will be held Wednesday night, at French's Sport Shop. Candidates will be greeted with open arms.

WIN Y.M.C.A. CHAMPIONSHIP.

The Just Cats quintet captured the Y. M. C. A. trileague championship by defeating the Fourth Floor Dormitory team, 29-19, in a thrilling game last night. The winners led all the way, but the never-say-die spirit exhibited by the losers made the game an exciting one. Bousman's 10 points led the winners in scoring.

RIVALS RENEW FEUD.

If a suitable field can be obtained the Majestic Radio and Federal Storage teams will open their seasons by playing a double header Sunday. The clubs played two games last year, each winning one, and the managers of both are more than anxious to at least break even Sunday.

M. MUNN SEEKS SENATE.

Indianapolis, March 31 (A.P.).—Monte Munn, 31, former University of Nebraska athlete and heavyweight boxer, yesterday filed notice of his candidacy for Republican nomination for the State Senate from Marion (Indianapolis) County.

Munn formerly served in the Nebraska Legislature. He has lived here for several years, engaging in the coal business.

ORIOLES OPEN SEASON.

The Washington Orioles, champions of the insect division of The Post's Capital City League, will attempt to open their season Saturday, opposing the Senators at 11 o'clock, on a diamond to be named tomorrow. "Rip" Mills wants all Oriole players to call him at Atlantic 5759-W.

TEAM CANCELS PRACTICE.

The Notre Dame Preps have cancelled their work-out scheduled for today, and will practice Saturday instead on the Camp Meigs Diamond. Eddie Hoffman and Frank Gallagher are requested to communicate with the manager.

AUTH'S NINE BOOKING.

Auth's unlimited team would like to book a game with a strong team for Sunday. Teams interested should call Business Manager O'Brien at Metropolitan 3317.

PARK BODY REJECTS PLEA FOR REZONING

Montgomery Petition Fails to Alter Classifications on Bradley Boulevard.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

The Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission last night disapproved the petition of Helen K. Winfield for change in the classification of her property on Bradley boulevard from residential to industrial. A previous application for rezoning of the entire tract had been disapproved and a new petition filed which asked for a change in a smaller portion of the property and offered to dedicate the right of way for an extension of Arlington road to Bradley boulevard.

The petition was opposed by practically every civic group in the Bradley boulevard and Bethesda area. The commission postponed action on the requests for apartment and commercial zoning of the three major projects before it, Wisconsin avenue at the District line, Chevy Chase Lake and Georgia avenue at Montgomery Hills.

Provision of a competent filing system for the office of the Montgomery County commissioners at Rockville, Md., is being planned. Charles Y. Latimer, clerk to the county commissioners, yesterday was directed to make a study of the possibility of modernizing the file system.

Commissioners John B. Diamond, Downey Williams, Sherwood Duvall and Frank Ricketts were appointed a committee to determine a suitable site for a dump at Rockville. The Glen Echo Amusement Co. filed application for permit for operation of Glen Echo amusement park and dance hall. The permit charge for the year is $1,050.

The commissioners were notified of elections held at Northwest Park in which Wharton Moore, W. Bowen and Philip A. Rosendorn were elected members of the Citizens Committee. A resolution protesting against change in the zoning of the Chevy Chase Lake area to permit erection of apartment houses, stores and other business establishments was received from the Citizens Association of Section 4, Chevy Chase, Md.

Encouraged by the marked success of the farm woman's market at Bethesda, Md., the Montgomery County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs is planning the establishment of a regular market building in Bethesda, according to an announcement by Miss Blanche Corwin, county home demonstration agent, at Rockville, Md. A definite location has not been established but it will be in the center of the business area of Bethesda if possible.

Establishment of similar farm markets in other sections of suburban Montgomery County is being considered by the farm women, who have leased the store at 4406 Leland street, one block from Wisconsin avenue, for three months to care for the farm market until the new structure can be completed.

The Rockville Woman's Club will present an elaborate spring entertainment entitled "Milade's Mirror," tonight at 8 o'clock at St. Mary's Hall, Rockville, Md. The entertainment is being held for the benefit of the club's scholarship fund and is presented under the direction of Mrs. Berry E. Clark. Seats are on sale at Vinson's Drug Store in Rockville.

B. L. Vipond was elected commander at a reorganization meeting of Armond Wilburn Post, American Legion, held last night at the Kensington National Guard Armory. It was reported that 31 of the 56 eligible for membership had enrolled.

Other officers elected were: Lawrence Smoot, vice commander; Martin Wright, adjutant; Clarence Fisk, post finance officer; Harry Wagner, sergeant at arms; Ernest Hartshorn, historian. Members of the executive committee elected were: Wilson L. Townsend, Kenneth B. Simpson, Eugene J. C. Raney, Hosmer Hartshorn, Willard Warthen, W. L. Cleveland and N. P. Thompson. Delegates to the County Legion Council are: B. L. Vipond, Lawrence Smoot, N. P. Thompson, Willard Warthen and W. I. Cleveland.

Farm Groups Will Seek Consolidation of Plans

(Associated Press.)

A new effort to obtain action by Congress on the equalization fee and export debenture plans of farm relief is planned by three national farm organizations.

Legislative committees of these groups—the National Grange, American Farm Bureau Federation and Farmers Union—are preparing a bill consolidating these plans. Separate bills embodying the plans—designed to remove crop surpluses and bolster prices—are now before House and Senate committees.

Fairfax Road Work Will Be Continued

County Manager Larkin to Keep Force; Denies He Will Change Home.

The authorities of Fairfax County, Va., state that the impression of the people of the county that all road work by the county will cease today and no further road work will be done until next fall is erroneous.

When the Legislature passed the Byrd bill, under which the State will take over the maintenance of all county roads, the county board of supervisors stated that they would not undertake any new projects in road building, but would keep the present permanent road organization and continue all maintenance work until the State takes over the work on July 1, if a petition signed by 25 per cent of the qualified voters of the county asking for an election on whether the county will remain out of the State system of road maintenance under the Byrd law is presented to the circuit court. All of the extra men on the road force will be laid off.

Cherrydale Firemen Stage Banquet With 200 Present

Sixteenth Annual Feast Held in Department's Auditorium; Members of Congress Among Guests; Silver Service Presented to Auxiliary Head.

The Cherrydale Fire Department held its sixteenth annual banquet last night in the auditorium of the Firemen's Hall with more than 200 persons attending. Robert N. Jansen, former president of the department, made the address of welcome and acted as toastmaster. Invocation was given by William D. Topley, member of the department.

Representative Joe J. Manlove, of Missouri, principal speaker, commending the firemen, declared that the fellowship created by an organization such as this was even of greater value than the service rendered in the line of duty as a fireman.

Among other speakers were United States Senator William J. Bulow, of North Dakota; State Senator John W. Rust, of Fairfax; Delegate Hugh Reid, of Arlington County; E. C. Johnson, president of the department; George S. Watson, chief of the Washington Fire Department; C. E. Vermilion, fire marshal and oldest member of the department; G. F. Allwine, president of the Arlington-Fairfax Volunteer Firemen's Association, and E. C. Turnburke, former chief and prime mover in the organization of the department more than 25 years ago.

The program included songs by Dorothy Skinner, fancy dances by Ann Carpenter, comedy act by John Burke and dances by Ora Topper.

The program concluded with the presentation by the toastmaster of a silver service to Mrs. Frank Shaw, president of the ladies auxiliary to the department, on behalf of the firemen, in appreciation of valued services rendered.

The banquet was prepared and served by the ladies of the auxiliary, under the direction of Mrs. Shaw.

12 PERSONS INJURED AS BUS LEAVES ROAD

Skids Into Stone Wall Near Beltsville, Md.; 3 Drivers Arrested by Police.

Twelve persons were injured, none seriously, when the Washington-bound bus in which they were riding skidded on the wet Baltimore boulevard yesterday morning and crashed into a stone wall near Beltsville. Four other cars were involved in a collision in avoiding crashing into the wrecked bus.

All the injured were able to leave Washington hospitals or doctors' offices after receiving treatment, it was said. The driver of the Greyhound Line bus and operators of two of the other cars were arrested by Constable Carl M. Blanchard and charged with reckless driving.

The bus driver was Joseph O'Neill, of Baltimore, while Nathan Sprintzin and Joseph Mornee, both of Brooklyn, N. Y., were driving the other cars. Sprintzin turned aside to avoid the bus and skidded, becoming involved with Mornee's machine. Then the two autos are said to have skidded into two other cars parked beside the road.

O'Neill received two broken ribs and his hands were badly cut by flying glass. He was treated at Emergency. Others on the list of injured, which included all passengers on the bus, were Griff Freeman, Atlanta, Ga.; Joseph D. Adams, Louisville, Ky.; Lawrence Cleose, New York; Josephine Negginson, New York; Edward Howard, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Clemenson Howard, New York; Mrs. Angela Howard, same address; Craig Carnes, Baltimore; Nathan Blacker, New York; Sidney Hecker, University of Richmond, and Alfred Hutner, University of Richmond.

Hyattsville Ward Change Postponed

Town Attorney Discovers Legislature Must Approve Revision.

Ward lines in Hyattsville can not be changed without an amendment to the charter by the State Legislature, and therefore the proposed realignment of wards will be postponed until 1933. Caesar L. Aiello, attorney for the town, discovered after plans were made for the change, that they could not be made legally.

New voters in the town may register on April 11 in the council room in the Municipal building between 9 o'clock in the morning and 7 o'clock at night. Revisions will be made on April 18, during the same hours.

Nominations will also be made April 18 at a special convention. Nominations in the first ward will be held in the Fire Department room in the Municipal building, for the second ward in the council room, for the third ward in the library, and for the fourth ward in the office of Charles L. Ervin, on Johnson avenue east of the Municipal building.

Police Are Seeking Bus Line Robbers

Two Bandits Get Nearly $700 in Holdup at Clarendon.

Arlington County and Washington police were yesterday making a search for the two bandits, who, with handkerchiefs about their face, early yesterday morning held up Walter F. Kaylor, cashier of the Washington-Maryland and Virginia Coach Co., at the company's offices in Clarendon. The description given is that they were both tall, slender, wearing light caps. One wore a light overcoat.

The two men, according to Kaylor, met him at the door as he was about to leave the building. They demanded he return and open the safe. The men took about $700.

As the men were making their getaway, Kaylor called the Arlington County police and H. H. England, manager, at his home in Washington. England called Washington police, while Officer A. D. Langley went to the scene.

CONTRACT IS SIGNED FOR FAIRFAX CHURCH

Old Paynes House of Worship to Be Reconstructed by Capital Architects.

The congregation of the Zion Episcopal Church of Fairfax, Va., at its annual meeting yesterday, approved the report of the building committee, composed of F. D. Richardson, F. Shield McCandlish and George B. Robey, and authorized them to sign contracts with the architects to prepare plans for a new church house and parish house.

Mr. McCandlish announced yesterday that the contract had been signed with Smith & Edwards, architects, of Washington, for plans for the reconstruction of Old Paynes Church on the site of the present Zion Church. The parish house building will also house the Sunday school activities.

The new church building will be a replica of old Paynes Church at Fairfax Station, which was one of the three erected by the vestry of Truro Parish, with George Washington as a member of the building committee. The other two were Pohick and The Falls Churches. Paynes Church was completed in 1766.

The congregation reelected the following vestrymen: Thomas R. Keith, senior warden; F. D. Richardson, junior warden; Judge J. M. Love, R. Walton Moore, George B. Robey, Robert D. Graham, F. Shield McCandlish, N. P. Young, Charles Poser, James Birkett, Thomas P. Chapman, sr., D. M. Woodard and Dr. T. Ramsey Taylor.

Fairfax Taxpayers To Be Aided Today

Assistance in Making Out Reports Will Continue Several Days.

James U. Kincheloe, commissioner of revenue of Fairfax County, has announced that beginning this morning he and his deputies will visit various sections of Falls Church and Providence magisterial districts to assist taxpayers in making out their returns on tangible and intangible personal property and State income tax returns as required by law.

The schedule as arranged by the commissioner is as follows: Today at Fessers store in Vienna, tomorrow at McLean, Monday at Stalcups store in Chesterbrook, Tuesday at M. E. Church real estate office in Falls Church, Wednesday Llewelyns store at Idylewood and at Olivers store at Kenmore and Thursday at Merrifield and Tysons Cross Roads.

Changes in Gas Rates Sought in Hyattsville

Minor changes in the schedule of rates for gas in Hyattsville and vicinity have been filed with the Maryland Public Service Commission to go into effect May 1, if they are approved by the commission.

Under the new schedule, which affects only gas for heating purposes, the Hyattsville rates will conform to those in Montgomery County. It is understood that a price of 65 cents per 1,000 feet for gas used for heating is fixed by the new rates. They were filed by the Washington Suburban Gas Co. of Hyattsville, which supplies gas to about 3,500 consumers in Prince Georges County.

Three Shaken in Crash Of County Police Car

Three Prince Georges County officials were badly shaken yesterday when the police car in which they were riding was in collision with a heavy oil truck in Hyattsville. The driver, who gave his name as Henry Belcher, of 313 Tennessee avenue northeast, was arrested and charged with reckless driving.

Those in the car were Sergt. H. G. Machen, of the county force, Policeman Arthur Brown, County Commissioner George N. Bowen, and former Constable Howard Slater. Machen was driving the police car. His machine was damaged to the extent of about $65.

Students as Firemen Held Contrary to School Rules

Holding that the Maryland State fire marshal's request to form fire-fighting crews among the students of the Hyattsville High School is contrary to school regulations, Nicholas Orem, superintendent of schools, yesterday decided to stand by the regulations.

"There is no need for having children put out fires with several efficient fire companies here at hand," Mr. Orem said. Instructions to teachers in Prince Georges County are that children are to fight fires "under no circumstances," and that the teacher's first responsibility is to get children out of the building and keep them out.

The suggestion that pupils be trained to fight fires was one of eight made by Hazelton A. Joyce, jr., State fire marshal, after a recent inspection of the school. The others have already been complied with or will be soon, Mr. Orem said. He will even place fire extinguishers on every floor. Mr. Joyce had wanted these furnished for the use of the pupils.

The report does not ask the immediate erection of fire escapes, and says there are sufficient panic locks. The report also says that additional exits from the auditorium would be advisable but are not necessary.

Other changes which have already been made call for removal of unprotected electric wires and rubbish from the attic, jacketing of steam pipes, and metal containers for oily waste in the workshop.

TWO HELD FOR JURY FOR THEFT ATTEMPT

6-Month Terms and Fines of $100 Also Given Pair in Alexandria.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Thomas Pratt, 32 years old, and Harold Coleman, 22, both colored, arraigned in Police Court yesterday, were held for the grand jury on a charge of attempting to break and enter the store of Montgomery Ward & Co., on King street, and each was fined $100 and given six months in jail on a charge of carrying pistols. In addition they were charged with holding up and robbing H. C. Scherer of $46.80.

Answering a call from B. B. Brown, who lives in the 100 block of South Alfred street, who heard the breaking of a rear door in the Montgomery Ward establishment, Policemen Embrey, Hawes, Hicks, Stover and Butler late Sunday night, arrested the two men as they were coming out of an alley in the rear of the store. Two pistols were found nearby, where they had evidently been discarded. Both men had cartridges in their pockets.

Scherer, testifying in Police Court yesterday, told of Pratt coming to his ark at the foot of Montgomery street, holding him up at the point of a pistol and robbing him. Coleman, according to Scherer, was also armed with a pistol, but remained outside the ark while Pratt robbed him. Both men denied all charges.

Col. Clarence Deems, professor of military science and tactics in the Alexandria High Schools, has just received a table showing the standing of 34 teams which entered the Third Corps intercollegiate rifle matches from the various universities, colleges and schools which have units under Federal supervision in the States of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia.

The Government-aided unit in Alexandria—the Alexandria High School corps of cadets—was placed second in its class, being beaten only by the Washington High Schools (white) team among the ten teams competing. The Alexandria team defeated three teams in the next higher class (junior R. O. T. C.), two of these teams being from essentially military schools, and was rated above teams from senior R. O. T. C. units in five universities of national prominence.

This means that the Alexandria team has been designated to represent the Third Corps Area in the national intercollegiate match which is now being shot.

In recognition of their achivement the ten cadets who made the highest scores in the Third Corps Area intercollegiate rifle match will receive the major school letter "A," special colors, for excellence in this sport. They are Cadets W. Gordon, E. Turner, L. Jacobs, V. Turner, R. Warner, F. Simpson, J. Carlton, J. Robey, H. Kennedy and R. Goode. Cadets W. Gordon, recently deceased, and E. Turner, won silver and bronze medals presented from headquarters of the Third Corps Area.

In addition to the ten cadets, the following are firing in the national match: Cadets A. Edwards, W. Snyder, C. Brawner, I. Redmon, D. Simpson and J. Florence. All who complete the national match will receive special badges.

The Alexandria police are looking for a man who, posing as a prohibition agent, is alleged to have entered the home of J. H. Hitafer, in the 100 block North St. Asaph street, placed handcuffs on Hitafer and robbed him of $33.

Richard B. English, Washington representative of the Ford Motor Co., was the guest speaker at the luncheon of the Alexandria Kiwanis Club yesterday.

Man Gets 5 Years In Shooting Case

Sentenced After Recent Fight at Home of Woman Near Alexandria.

Jerry Cundiff, 42, colored employe of Hollin Hall Farm in Fairfax County, was sentenced to five years in the State Penitentiary by a jury in Fairfax County Circuit Court yesterday on a charge of felonious wounding.

Cundiff was arrested some months ago by the county authorities on charges of shooting Henry Hill of Alexandria, at the home of Mrs. Florence Meyers, on the River road south of Alexandria.

According to the testimony, Cundiff was at the Meyers home when Hill and two other youths arrived. They left, taking Mrs. Meyers with them. Late in the night they returned and called Cundiff outside. A fight ensued, during which Cundiff is alleged to have fired at the youths, resulting in the wounding of Hill.

MIXED TRADE TREND POINTS TO RECOVERY

Hesitant Tone in Stocks Charged to Tax Debates; No April Bank Call.

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—Congressional wrangling over the tax program and the unpromising action of the stock market have combined to throw Wall street into a somewhat lower state of spirits, but there are not a few brokers who believe, wishfully more than logically perhaps, that before the market is compelled to stand much more of a test some "good news" will develop to stimulate recovery.

National banking circles heard reports today that the customary call by the Comptroller of the Currency for statements of condition of the national banks at the close of the first quarter would not be issued this year.

The reports said omission of the March call was decided upon a month ago in the interest of economy and to obviate the disturbing effects upon the money market of the usual "window-dressing" activities by the banks in anticipation of the call.

For the week ended March 30 bank clearings of leading cities, as reported to Bradstreet's, dropped 16 per cent from the preceding week, and about 57 per cent from the same week last year. A factor in these wide losses was the Good Friday holiday in financial markets, particularly in New York, and its occurrence at a later date in 1931.

Kreuger & Toll Difficulties.

Reports from Stockholm are now being interpreted in Wall street as indicating that the affairs of the Kreuger & Toll group may be in considerably more troublesome condition than at first expected, but the securities have already been so severely deflated that any further repercussions in the local market are regarded as doubtful. Nevertheless, the street is taking a lively interest in reports from Stockholm that American interests are trying to detach International Match from the Swedish Match organization. If these reports are sustained the action, says Stockholm, will jeopardize the Swedish Match Co.'s industrial structure, as the International Corporation controls 120 subsidiary match factories which are keypoints in various countries.

"If a strong committee of British shareholders, working in cooperation with British directors and the Swedish investigating committee, can not prevent this segregation the Swedish Match Co.'s position will be imperiled," says a copyrighted report to the New York Evening Post.

Auto Outlook Brighter.

During the first three weeks of March sales of DeSoto automobiles to the public totaled 2,383 units against 1,456 units in the same period of 1931, it is announced by Byron C. Foy, president of this division of the Chrysler Corporation. It was also stated retail deliveries for the week ended March 19, were the largest of any week in the last 21 months.

Cleveland reports say that the White Motor Co. has received orders for 55 trucks, involving about $175,000. The orders came from two concerns.

Reports from Youngstown say that the rather substantial increase in steel plant operating schedules this week is due to a scattering of Ford orders and improvement in buying by other consumers. A further gain in plant activity in northeastern Ohio next week is regarded as likely owing to a pick-up in demand from miscellaneous products.

The machinery and machine tool industries are looking to spring replacement demands to impart more life to their business, the American Machinist says. Tool demand last week came mainly from the railroads and automotive industry.

Farm Equipment Reports.

Competitive conditions in the farm implement industry have been tightened by the announced willingness of International Harvester and Deere & Co. to accept payment from this year's purchasers of equipment on the basis of 70-cent wheat, 50-cent corn and 8½-cent cotton. If market prices of these commodities continue at present levels until fall it will mean a 20 to 30 per cent cut in the prices of the two companies, according to current calculations.

The American Metal Market attributes decreased steel buying to reaction from the House conflict over measures for balancing the budget.

Railroad Protective Committe.

Anticipating a default in the August 1 interest, a protective committee has been formed for New Orleans Great Northern Railroad first mortgage 5 per cent bonds. The committee consists of James G. Blaine, chairman; J. J. Lisman and W. S. Penick.

The Chase National Bank of New York, it was learned today, has renewed its $1,500,000 loan to the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad to October 1 from April 1, the maturity date. The loan was made in connection with the road's purchase of Denver & Salt Lake Railway stock

Omission of Bank Call Doubted by Treasury

(Associated Press.)

Treasury officials yesterday placed little credence in reports in New York that the Comptroller of the Currency would not issue a bank call this month. The Comptroller of the Currency, John W. Pole, declined to discuss the report that the usual March call for condition of national banks would not be made this year—in the interest of economy.

While it has been the general practice to issue the call in the last week of March, it is not mandatory that it be issued at that time, and a call could be made at any time that the Comptroller chose.

CHAIN STORES HEAD BEST 1932 EARNERS

Dairy Products, Electricity, Gas, Flour, Feed, Medicines and Others Follow.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Industries whose earnings should make the best showing in the first half of 1932 are listed in an estimate by Standard Statistics Co., of New York, as chain stores, dairy products, electric, gas and utilities, flour and feed, medicines and drugs, package foods, refrigeration, shoes, specialty bakeries and telephones.

The following lines, while making a poor showing currently, are listed by the estimate as among those which will be among leaders in the next sustained period of advancing business: Automobile parts, passenger automobiles, beverages, cigarettes, metal containers and welding supplies.

Washington Clearings.

Washington bank clearings for March totaled $89,616,463.59, as compared with $80,807,544.59 in the previous month and $112,443,159.84 in March, 1931. Local clearings for the first quarter of 1932 have reached a total of $263,279,744.42, as contrasted with $318,949,949.18 in the corresponding period last year.

Phone Net Is $243,418.

Telephone operating revenues of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., of Baltimore City, in February amounted to $1,127,111, the report of operations just filed with the Maryland Public Service Commission shows. Expenses during this period were $883,693, making net telephone revenues $243,418.

Telephone revenues for the two months ended February 29, were $2,273,142, as compared with $2,319,128 for the period last year. Expenses during the two months totaled $1,804,201, as compared with $1,846,317 for the first two months of 1931. Net telephone revenues for the first two months of this year were $468,941.

Grain and Cotton Markets Decline on Taxation News

Wheat, Corn, Oats Close Lower in Nervous Trading; Provisions Drop.

Chicago, March 31 (A.P.).—Sudden tumbling of grain values late today accompanied congressional voting of heavily increased taxes on exchange dealings in securities and agricultural commodities.

Price setbacks much more than offset earlier advances, and were apparently regardless of broader North American wheat export business. The overturn of values was also in the face of continued unfavorable domestic wheat crop advices from the Southwest and West.

Wheat closed nervous, ⅜ to 1 cent under yesterday's finish. Corn, oats and provisions also were lower.

Lowest quotations of the day in wheat came after news was received that increased taxes on securities dealings had been voted at Washington and that proposals to multiply by five the tax on grain exchange tranactions had been formally proposed in the House.

The actual vote as to grain did not take place until after trading here had ended.

May Contracts Sell Down to 6.10; Exports Were 50,759 Bales.

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—Yesterday rallies were followed by renewed weakness in cotton today, with prices yielding under comparatively small offerings while buying seemed to be restricted to scale down orders.

Prices made new low ground for the movement on most positions with May contracts selling off to 6.02 or 30 points net lower and closing at 6.10, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 20 to 22 points.

Selling became active and general during the last hour, following weakness in the stock market, and prices broke rapidly with some stop orders uncovered on the decline.

There was enough covering and trade buying to absorb offerings on the decline and closing quotations were several points up from the lowest.

Two private reports on acreage intentions were issued, one pointing to a decrease of 7.3 per cent and the other to a reduction of 9.2 per cent. The heavy rains reported in the South came in for some comment but as yet the market is showing very little response to the daily weather news.

The failure of buying to broaden following yesterday's rally and reports of a falling off in demand from the trade, together with some uneasiness over tax proposals in Washington, were regarded as the main factors in the decline.

SHORTS LAW BOOSTS STOCK LOAN PRICES

Exchange Adjusts Trade to Meet New Restrictions; Flurry Expected.

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—The price of borrowing stocks rose sharply in the New York Stock Exchange late today, as loans were called in preparation for the new regulations which go into effect tomorrow requiring brokers to have specific permission from customers before loaning their stocks.

While loaning charges did not reach record levels, they rose substantially and unusual activity in the loan group delayed the publication of rates.

The charge on U. S. Steel rose to 50 cents per share per day, against 12½ cents yesterday. Westinghouse Electric and American Telephone also rose to 50 cents, against 12½ and 6¼, respectively, the previous day. Other charges posted were smaller.

As a result of the new regulations considerable calling of loans of stock was expected. Two large houses were preparing to call about 75,000 shares and 40,000 shares, respectively. Some brokers feel, however, that the floating supply of stocks would not be seriously curtailed, and would adequately care for the small short interest, although there might be some upsets in small issues.

Stock market interest centers largely on the technical problem of adjusting the stock exchange's machinery to meet the new short selling restrictions.

One broker said that with a short interest of around 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 shares and a floating supply of about 50,000,000 shares of stock, he looked for nothing more than a temporary flurry.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Stocks.

The House action on a security traders' tax, and the influence of the end of short selling under old rules, combined yesterday to produce extreme weakness in the stock market. All categories registered new 1932 lows, and Santa Fe sold at the lowest price in 29 years.

Bonds.

Sporadic flurries of profit taking failed to break the firm undertone imparted by fair strength in the U. S. Government list.

Curb Market.

Weakness in the principal electric utilities gave the Curb stocks a reactionary tone, but the volume of trade was small.

Wheat.

Grains also sold off sharply at Chicago on the threat of additional tax of exchange transactions, and in the face of bullish export news.

Cotton.

Cotton closed about 20 points lower, on small trading.

Provisions.

Both eggs and butter registered new record lows on futures contracts at Chicago.

STOCK MARKET SAGS TO NEW LOW LEVELS

Average Break Is Heaviest Since October 13; Tax Bill Is Blamed.

What the Stock Market Did

	Thurs.	Wed.
Number of advances	67	243
Number of declines	462	184
Stocks unchanged	128	153

By JOHN L. COOLEY.

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—Stocks bade a dismal farewell to the year's first quarter today.

After just a flurry of covering at the opening, the market swung into a decline that gained enough momentum not only to establish the list in new low ground, but also to effect the largest average break since October 13.

This sag, according to the Standard Statistics-Associated Press Composite, was 3.4 points which carried the 90-stock figure to 58.1 against the previous low-water mark of 59.5, set in February.

Differences of opinion were heard in brokerage quarters as to what effect passage of the transfer tax measure had had, but it was noted that the market was weakest after that news had come out.

Reasons for Reaction.

Several reasons for so sharp a reaction were advanced, among them the existence of an impaired technical position through recent covering in anticipation of tomorrow's new loaning regulation. Also, it was suggested that long accounts accumulated a month or so ago were being sold by holders who had grown tired of waiting for a business turn.

Collateral loan liquidation and execution of stop-loss orders doubtless contributed to the weakness.

The deepest air pockets opened up in stocks which have recently been most sensitive to market fluctuations. American Telephone declined more than 5 points, Santa Fe 7 to the lowest since 1903, Auburn 14 (its loss was cut to 11¼), Allied Chemical, Consolidated Gas, Missouri Pacific, Electric Power & Light and American Power & Light 2 to 3. American Can, National Biscuit, U. S. Steel, American Tobbaco "B" North American, New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio were in the same company. Turnover in the last hour was active, accounting for about 40 per cent of the 1,473,710 share volume.

Arguments Against Tax.

Brokers who were opposed to the transfer tax argued that it would curtail speculative trading sharply, making for a thin and jumpy market and reducing the possibility of narrow profits. It was rather generally agreed, however, that the market's psychology had been affected by nervousness over the whole budget situation and by recent signs of disagreement over certain aspects of credit relief, factors which combined with the almost total absence of business improvement to give Wall street a severe case of nerves.

It was recalled, nevertheless, that March had ended without serious domestic catastrophe and that industry at least was about holding its own. Stoppage of bank failures and a steady curtailment of currency hoarding have provided a considerable measure of cheer, even if stocks have been unable to keep up their courage.

Monetary circulation dropped $44,000,000 last week, the year's largest decline. There was a small gain in gold holdings and a moderate recession in outstanding reserve credit.

There were 574 failures reported to Bradstreets for the week ended March 27, a decrease of 1.4 per cent from the previous week as against a normal expected increase of 3.6 per cent.

Dividend Action Delayed By Goodyear Rubber

Akron, Ohio, March 31 (A.P.).—Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. directors have deferred dividend action on the common stock because "present economic conditions do not warrant continued disbursements to common shareholders," President Paul W. Litchfield announced today.

The announcement said the question of payments on the company's junior shares may be taken up later in the year or as soon as earnings may warrant.

FEDERAL BONDS FIRM LISTS DESPITE RAILS

Carrier Issues Decline to Bottom Prices; Other Loans Also Lose.

By VICTOR EUBANK.

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—United States Government loans, in the face of a badly stumbling railway list, today gave another exhibition of strength that tended to steady various shaky issues in the bond market.

While a number of carrier bonds were dropping into new low territory for the year, both the Liberties and Treasuries resisted intermittent profit-taking waves and the majority recorded net gains for the session. The tax-exempt Liberty 3½s again registered a new 1932 high before reacting fractionally.

Until the latter part of the day's proceedings, the bond market maintained a fairly steady undertone. Then heavy selling came into the Missouri Pacific liens with a resultant unsettlement of practically all classes of domestic mortgages.

Announcement from Washington that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation had finally authorized loans to the Missouri Pacific assured the meeting of April 1 maturities, but practically all of the "MOP" issues closed from around 3 to nearly 8 points down.

Sympathetic weakness was shown by some bonds of Allegheny Corporation, Baltimore & Ohio, St. Paul, Chicago & Northwestern, Rock Island, Denver & Rio Grande, Erie, Great Northern, Illinois Central, New York Central, New Haven, Nickel Plate, Pere Marquette, Frisco, St. Louis Southwestern and Western Pacific. Several of the liens of these lines showed losses of from 1 to more than 4 points and violated their previous year's record lows.

On the other hand, various loans of Chesapeake Corporation, Louisiana & Arkansas, M-K-T, Union Pacific and Wabash ran against the trend, while a number of other carriers exhibited marked steadiness.

The industrials were irregular. Armour & Co. liens gave back some of their previous gains. Shell Union Oil 5s of 1949 gained 6½ points, and other mortgages of this company were similarly strong. Skelly Oil and Shell Union Pipe Line bonds advanced around 2 points.

The foreign group was fairly firm, all of the Argentines recording gains and most of the Germans holding a steady tone.

Sales totaled $9,828,000 par value.

UTILITIES SELLING IS FEATURE OF CURB

Electric Bond & Share Issues Break Four Points; Other Securities Decline.

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER.

New York, March 31 (A.P.).—Selling of the utilities, especially Electric Bond & Share stocks, gave the curb market a heavy appearance today, although changes in other groups were generally of small proportions.

Electric Bond & Share, new, broke more than 4 points in a large turnover, while the same company's preferred issues showed even more substantial declines. The old common stock has been removed from trading.

American Gas & Electric lost more than 2 points net in an active turnover, while Commonwealth Edison, on a 4-point dip, duplicated its old low. Electric Power & Light second preferred tumbled 8 points in sympathy with weakness of other issues of that company on the stock exchange.

Standard Power & Light preferred was off 5 and National Power & Light 6 per cent preferred yielded half a dozen points.

Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, whose earnings for the first two months showed only a moderate decline from a year ago, was a firm spot. United Light "A" also held up well, but American Superpower sold into new low ground, down ⅝ on the day.

Gulf Oil encountered profit-taking after its recent advance, yielding 1⅞ net. Oils as a group were dull and fairly steady, nominal declines appearing in Standards of Indiana and Kentucky as well as Imperial Oil.

Aluminum of America found the support thin, reacting nearly 5 points. Parker Rust lost 2. Ford of Canada "A" and Ford Ltd. returned fractional losses, but Stutz improved. New York Steam sagged 3⅛.

Tranactions approximated 240,000 shares, considerably above recent volume.

RESERVE BANK GAINS OUTSTANDING CREDIT

Increase Is $3,000,000 for Week; Total Amounts to $1,587,000,000.

(Associated Press.)

The daily average volume of Federal Reserve Bank credit outstanding during the week ended March 30, as reported by the Federal Reserve Banks, was $1,599,000,000, an increase of $3,000,000 as compared with the preceding week, and of $680,000,000 compared with the corresponding week in 1931.

On March 30 total Reserve Bank credit amounted to $1,587,000,000, a decrease of $10,000,000 for the week. This decrease corresponds with a decrease of $44,000,000 in money in circulation and an increase of $7,000,000 in monetary gold stock, offset in part by a decrease of $15,000,000 in Treasury currency, adjusted, and an increase of $25,000,000 in unexpended capital funds and nonmember deposits.

Holdings of discounted bills increased $5,000,000 at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, and decreased $19,000,000 at Cleveland, $13,000,000 at Philadelphia, $4,000,000 at Chicago and $33,000,000 at all Federal Reserve Banks combined. The system's holdings of bills bought in open market declined $16,000,000. Holdings of United States bonds increased $9,000,000, and of Treasury certificates and bills, $28,000,000.

Spain Likely to Import Large Wheat Supply

Madrid, March 31 (A.P.).—The ministry of agriculture announced today that it would study the necessity for considerable wheat imports this year.

The announcement made no estimate of the shortage expected in the domestic crop, but unofficially it was said that 3,000,000 tons will be needed from outside sources.

In other years most of the wheat imports have come from the United States and Argentina.

FIVE ARE ACQUITTED AND 8 FOUND GUILTY IN RUM CONSPIRACY

Jury of 11 Men and Woman Returns Verdict After 12-Hour Deliberation.

SAME BOND ALLOWED FOR THOSE CONVICTED

All Note Appeals Following Finding After Indictment in Winter.

Five alleged rum-ring conspirators were acquitted by a jury in the court of Justice F. Dickinson Letts last night after eleven men and one woman, comprising the jury, had deliberated for almost twelve hours. The jury found eight guilty.

The thirteen were included in an indictment that named 36 persons, of whom 22 pleaded guilty. Of the guilty members of the conspiracy, 17 were sent to jail and 5, 3 of whom were women, were given probation.

Those who were found guilty last night, shortly before midnight, were: Frederick Spasaro, Thomas M. Crane, Rocco Pellicano, Antenennetta Pellicano, Rose Caparotta, James Caparotta, James R. Posey and Adolph Rudy Moder.

Five Found Not Guilty.

Those found not guilty were: Frank Maida, Michael Spinell, John T. Traynor, Bruno Crestarilla and Angelo Schiattareggia.

Under the press of Government evidence presented by Assistant United States Attorneys James R. Kirkland and Harold W. Orcutt, the Government showed almost 1,500 overt acts in the conspiracy. The capture of stills, seizure of large quantities of liquor and arrest of two score persons were recounted to the jury by the prosecutors.

Hughes' Clients Freed.

Attorneys Denny Hughes, James Archer and others contended that the Government had failed to show that there was any concert of action in the defendants, and Mr. Hughes succeeded in having all of his clients acquitted.

All of those found guilty were allowed to remain at liberty upon the same bond that accompanied their release after their indictment last winter. All noted appeals and Justice Letts agreed with attorneys that those found guilty should be allowed to remain at liberty until the Court of Appeals has passed upon the case.

DEPRESSION IS HELP TO BETTER THINKING, BARTON SAYS HERE

Speaks at Dinner Honoring Him and Board of Trade Given by Ad Club.

HOKUM IS FACING DOOM, IS AUTHOR'S PROPHECY

Praised by Bishop Freeman and Capper; Hoover Sends Message.

From the hardship of the depression, the American people are reaping the gold of better thinking and deeper sincerity, Bruce Barton, noted advertising man and author of "The Man Nobody Knows," told the Washington Advertising Club and the Greater National Capital committee of the Washington Board of Trade at a dinner honoring him and the latter organization last night at the Raleigh Hotel.

"The American people today are becoming less susceptible to insincerity and the old-fashioned hokum," Mr. Barton declared. "The time was never more ripe than now to appeal to the honesty of the people. I believe that the average man in this country is above the average of intelligence for which our writers give him credit. Courage and sincerity in writing is more necessary today than ever before."

Aid to Thinking.

The writer explained that in times of prosperity people don't have the time to think, but with the coming of economic stress they are forced to reexamine their aims, rediscover old ideas and find the way to deeper thought. Writers, although they handle the insignificant instruments of paper and pencil, have every right to hold up their heads and be proud "for we and the gods depart and all things else except the word."

Mr. Barton was introduced by Howard W. Berry, president of the Advertising Club, who presided. In honoring Mr. Barton the club was expressing appreciation for the 300-word tribute to the National Capital and its history which the advertising writer composed and recited on a national radio hook-up on the Parade of States program of the General Motors Corporation. Copies of this beautifully worded tribute, printed on parchment, were given the guests.

Accomplishments of the Greater National Capital committee in the year of its existence were told by A. C. Case, general chairman of the committee. Declaring that now is the time to strike in the development of Washington as a residential haven for the Nation, as a shrine for visitors and a meeting place for conventions, Mr. Case said that no one can be of greater assistance in this work than the advertising men of the city.

Praised by Bishop Freeman.

The Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, paid a tribute to Mr. Barton, saying "he has made evident to the man on the street the things that he should know. We owe him a great debt," the bishop added. "I wish that some of our clerical brethren might imitate his style."

Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, chairman of the Senate District committee, also felicitated the guest of honor, describing him "as typifying character in advertising." An appreciation of the work of the Greater National Capital committee was given by Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, president of the Board of District Commissioners.

The Rev. Dr. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain of the House of Representatives, offered the invocation, and Bishop Freeman gave the benediction. A telegram from President Hoover, in praise of Mr. Barton, was received while the dinner was in progress and read by Senator Capper. A message of good wishes was also received from Alfred P. Sloan, president of General Motors. The corporation was represented by Paul Willard Garrett, head of the public relations department.

COMMISSION DENIES BRUTALITY TO 'REDS' BY CAPITAL'S POLICE

Accuses Washington Press of Exaggerating Events of Embassy Battle.

DECLARES NO WOMAN WAS STRUCK IN MELEE

Replies to Protest of Civil Liberties Union; Quotes Glassford's Report.

The District Commissioners late yesterday accused Washington newspapers of misrepresentation in both the news accounts and photographs of the Communist demonstration Saturday afternoon in front of the Japanese Embassy, in an answer to a letter of protest from the American Civil Liberties Union. Their reply was based on a report furnished by Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police.

A letter written by Forrest Bailey, director of the union, New York City, protested against the "use of excessive violence" in suppressing the parade and "such incidents as the beating of a young girl into insensibility, the violent felling of nine combatants, and the indiscriminate arrest of a number of participants."

The union added that the Washington police, under the personal direction of Gen. Glassford, "appear to have been at least as guilty of disorderly and riotous conduct as those whom they made it their business to suppress."

Reply of Commissioners.

In reply, the Commissioners stated what they termed as the following facts, as provided by Gen. Glassford:

"The Police Department carried out its instructions with the least possible violence.

"The newspaper accounts were immensely exaggerated. There were no women struck. There were no heads broken. No one was knocked unconscious. The one woman was knocked to the ground because while struggling with Sergt. Langley another rioter jumped on Sergt. Langley's back and he lost his balance and fell over the girl. Newspaper photographers insisted that she remain in a prone position while a photograph was made, yelling: 'Hold it; don't get up.'

"The Police Department examined all prisoners to determine the exact extent of any wounds or bruises. The most seriously injured was a member of the Police Department, who had to have five stitches taken in a wound over his eye.

Man Ejected From Station.

"Mr. Bernard Ades entered the Third Precinct while the Police Department were very busy booking a number of prisoners. At this time the officers had not returned from the Japanese Embassy to make out specific charges, consequently they had not been charged. Mr. Ades was told that the police were very busy and to please step aside. This he refused to do in an obnoxious and disrespectful manner and consequently he was ejected.

"The attitude of the Police Department of the District of Columbia is one of sympathy toward those who, in these hard times, are unfortunate, out of work or otherwise in distress. Their policy in all instances is to carry out instructions with the least possible use of force."

All Washington newspapers, whose reporters were on the scene at the time, reported that several paraders were beaten, and that at last one woman was knocked unconscious. Some of the photographs showed the police in the act of striking the participants and of struggling with the young woman, who was later reported knock unconscious.

OWNERS PROTEST VEHICLE TAX LAW TO RITCHIE TODAY

Action Is Decided at Joint Meeting Here of Three Associations.

GROUPS WILL DESCRIBE MOVEMENT AS HARMFUL

Plan to Fight Arrest of Any Driver on Grounds of Unconstitutionality.

Representatives of the Virginia and North Carolina Truck Owners Association, and the District Commercial Motor Vehicle Owners Association plan to call on Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland today and point out the dangers to that State of an attempt at enforcement of the new interpretation of the Maryland motor vehicle laws.

The step was agreed upon yesterday at a joint meeting of the three associations held here. The session was called to formulate plans for meeting the bus and truck situation in Maryland.

Enforcement Monday.

Under the new interpretation of the Maryland law, all contract haulers or "for hire trucks" entering the State would be required to pay a per ton mileage tax to Maryland and be subject to regulation of the State public utilities commission. Enforcement of this law is threatened to start Monday.

The three associations named Edward Brashears and Jerome Fanciulli, secretary of the District association, to call on Gov. Ritchie.

The associations point out that the District, Virginia, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware all have provisions in their motor vehicle laws which automatically require their officials to retaliate in cases where their vehicles are discriminated against by laws of another State.

Hazard Is Described.

Should Maryland attempt enforcement of the new interpretation of its laws, they hold, the State will be placing its own truck and bus operators in a dangerous situation.

The associations yesterday also made arrangements for defense of any bus and truck drivers arrested under the Maryland laws in the drive scheduled to start Monday. Legal talent will be employed and in case of an arrest of any driver the three associations will seek an injunction against, continued enforcement of the Maryland law. It will be fought on the ground that it is unconstitutional.

ANNAPOLIS HOTEL SOLD FOR $932,000

H. G. Hoskinson Is Buyer; New Amsterdam Sale Is Postponed.

The Annapolis Hotel, 11-story concrete and steel structure containing 400 rooms, at 1111 H street northwest, was sold at public auction yesterday for $932,000 to Hilleary G. Hoskinson, a vice president of Riggs National Bank, representing the Washington Annapolis Hotel Co. The bid, the only one presented, included a balance on the first trust totaling $782,000. The sale was advertised by James J. Becker and Edmund D. Campbell, trustees, and Vernon G. Owen was the auctioneer.

The building which has a width of 112 feet and a depth of approximately 201 feet, was erected in 1924 by Wardman Construction Co., Inc., original owner, Wardman & Waggaman being the architects. The original estimated cost was $1,750,000 and the current assessed valuation is $1,454,486, of which $594,486 represents land and $860,000 building. Subsequent owners of the property are listed as Thomas P. Bones and James D. Hobbs, Fred H. Van Vranken, Harry Wardman and Thomas P. Bones, Annapolis Co., Inc., Harry Wardman and Thomas P. Bones, Wardman Annapolis Corporation, Inc.

Auction of the New Amsterdam, 8-story apartment hotel at the northeast corner of Fourteenth and Fairmont streets northwest, scheduled for yesterday, has been postponed to the afternoon of April 7, at 4 o'clock.

2 NORTHEAST STORES ARE ROBBED OF $55

Pair of Armed Bandits Cow Merchants and Escape With Cash.

Two merchants in Northeast Washington last night fell victims to a pair of armed bandits, who, after making small purchases in their stores, produced guns and escaped with a total loot of $55.

Herman Weisblatt, 30 years old, proprietor of a notions store at 645 Ninth street northeast, was the first prey of the robbers. Two colored men, he said, entered his establishment about 9 o'clock. The taller of the men asked for a spool of thread. After placing the article in a bag, Weisblatt said he started to hand it to the man, when suddenly the other drew a pistol from his pocket and told him to "stick 'em up!"

The bandits, Weisblatt said, rifled his cash drawer of $40 in cash and a Government check for $12. They fled along a dark street after warning Weisblatt not to move.

About an hour later Mrs. Mary Freidman told police the bandits visited her grocery store at 1601 Kramer street northeast. She said she became suspicious of their actions and went to call her husband, Max Freidman, who was sleeping in an adjoining room.

She returned to find one of the men standing near the counter with a revolver pointed in her direction, Mrs. Freidman said. She told police she screamed and ran from the store. Her husband, hearing the cry, rushed to her aid, only to find himself also "covered" by the man holding the gun. He was forced to surrender $3 from the till.

LOADING PLATFORM FUNDS TO BE ASKED

Bowman to Urge Elimination of Provision Barring Use of Public Moneys.

Representative Frank L. Bowman (Republican), West Virginia, will appeal today to the House District appropriations subcommittee to strike from the District supply bill provisions prohibiting public construction of street car loading platforms.

Representative Bowman, a member of the House District committee, recently complained to the director of traffic that so-called safety zones marked only by white lines are in effect "death traps" that provide pedestrians no measure of safety from passing traffic.

In reply, Director William A Van Duzer informed the West Virginia representative that although more suitable safety zones are considered "absolutely essential," there has been a clause in every District appropriations bill since 1928, prohibiting erection of platforms at public expense.

Although the Public Utilities Commission has ordered the local street railway companies to erect the platforms, they have consistently refused, Mr. Van Duzer said.

Representative Bowman said it was "ridiculous" that the appropriations subcommittee has failed to insure the public this protection.

"The prevailing opinion among traffic engineers throughout the country is that the erection of suitable safety zones on streets carrying heavy traffic, both of motor vehicles and street cars, is absolutely essential," Director Van Duzer wrote Mr. Bowman.

"It also appears to be the prevailing opinion that these facilities should be provided by the public."

Until provisions of the District appropriation bill are changed, he said, his department is "blocked" from furnishing relief.

JUVENILE OPERETTA TO BE SHOWN AGAIN

"Pied Piper of Hamelin" Given Before Children of Capital's Orphanages.

More than 450 children from the orphanages and missions of the city yesterday afternoon witnessed the "Pied Piper of Hamelin" operetta, which was presented in Barker Hall by the Girl Reserves of the Young Women's Christian Association.

The performance will be repeated tonight at 8:15 o'clock and again tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for the general public.

Presented under the general direction of the Girl Reserve department, of which Mrs. William McClellan Ritter is chairman and Miss Elsa Peterson, vice chairman, the directors of the "Pied Piper" are Miss Mary M. Burnett, Miss Alice Sigworth Morse, Miss Mabel R. Cook, Miss Dorothea McDowell, Miss Helen Middleton and Miss Ethel Quisenberry.

The role of the Piper is played and sung by Miss Jo Carter, the Mayor by Miss Barbara Davis, the Dream Lady by Miss Maxwell Galloway, the Lame Boy by Miss Morfudd Thomas, a Townsman by Miss Elizabeth Mayo, Mother Goose by Miss Margaret Hedgcock, and Prologue by Miss Virginia Evans. Girls who appear as the Corporation are Helen Carter, Alice Haley, Mary Jane McCreham, Gladys Caswell, Charlotte McCorkle and Mary Elizabeth Ward. Helen Foley is the Night Wind, and the Nnght Wind Sprites are Nancy Brock, Thelma Carey, May Higdon, Jessie Redfield, Lorraine Shives and Margaret Smith.

One of the features of the presentation is the Mother Goose Book, with Grace Caviston and Barbara Caton as Jack and Jill, Elsie Barber as Little Bo-Peep, Annabel Arentz as Bobby Shafto, Charlotte Nicholson as Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary, Ruby Arentz as Jack Horner, Beverley Squires as Knave of Hearts, and Betty Squires as Queen of Hearts.

The dance of the clowns was effective as presented by Bobbie Boyd, Ellen Jones, Jean Morrow and Jo Stoulil, and the Music Box was delightfully given by Dorothy Chase, Elaine Chase, Louise Cruit and Jane Ward.

Grade school girls throughout the city appeared in the children's chorus. "The Chorus of Citizens" included members of the Girl Reserve Glee Club. The instrumental music was played by Helen Middleton, pianist; John D'Lisa, flutist, and Jean Westbrook, violinist.

Furniture Puzzle On Hands of Police

Queer Assortment, Owned by Prisoner, Litters Sidewalk.

A heterogeneous collection of furniture, bric-a-brac and miscellaneous ware occupied a generous section of space on the sidewalk at Tenth and D streets northwest last night while police scratched their heads and muttered, "What to do? What to do?"

The owner of the assortment of property, E. P. Scarborough, is in Occoquan, doing a 30-day term for intoxication. The collection had been stored at 939 D street northwest, in quarters rented by the jailed man. An eviction writ was obtained and the furniture, &c., was moved to the street.

Police obtained from Scarborough permission to dispose of the material, but no buyer could be obtained, all those approached claiming that the haulage costs would top the value of the collection. The Salvation Army is considering an offer to take over the furniture, but had come to no decision last night. The project of hauling the furniture to Occoquan for use there, freight to be on the Government, is being considered. Meanwhile passers-by scan curiously the exhibit, which includes a pole-vaulting stick, a side saddle, crockery, desks and chairs.

Representative's Driver Faces Traffic Charge

A charge of leaving after colliding was placed against Joseph Andrew King, 52 years old, of 5227 Fifth street northwest, chauffeur for Representative Burnett M. Chiperfield, of Illinois, after he was trailed for a number of blocks last night by a policeman off duty.

John S. Titus, of the Third Precinct, who arrested the man, said he noticed him driving on the wrong side of the street, at Sixteenth and Decatur streets northwest. He said he turned his car about and followed. At Thirteenth and Emerson streets the man hit a parked car, according to Titus, and drove on. He was finally overtaken at Georgia avenue and Hamilton street northwest.

105 More Traffic Lights Authorized

New Flexible System on Rhode Island Avenue Called Success.

The flexible progressive system of traffic lights—now in force on Rhode Island avenue—is to be extended to 105 more intersections. The Potomac Electric Power Co. was authorized yesterday by Traffic Director William A. Van Duzer to make the transformation.

Van Duzer's action comes after a survey of the effect of the system on Rhode Island avenue traffic. The study indicated that the system aided greatly in preventing congestion and speeded up the flow of traffic.

The change will be brought about by the installation of secondary timers in each of the 105 intersection lights. These secondary timers will be kept in step by master timers which control traffic lights in the two automatic signal zones established by the Traffic Bureau.

Another feature of the system is that after midnight, when traffic light control is suspended until morning, the lights can be converted into flashing beacons, warning of the nearness of the intersection. This system is now in operation on Rhode Island avenue also.

Mother Accuses Daughter of Theft

Held With Sweetheart on Count of Selling $300 Glassware for $8.

Miss Hazel Mangus, 24, and her crippled sweetheart, Douglas Irwin, 26, were being held for the action of Maryland authorities last night after their arrest on a warrant sworn out in Rockville yesterday by the girl's mother, Mrs. Lottie N. Sims, of Gaithersburg, charging the pair with the theft of $300 worth of glassware.

The young woman bitterly denounced her mother at headquarters yesterday when the pair met, denying the charge of her parent that she and Irwin took the ware and sold it for $8. The mother is a former teacher at the Business High School here.

Miss Mangus gave her address as 1933 H street northwest, while Irwin is listed as coming from Richmond, Va. The couple met several months ago while Miss Mangus was a student nurse at Casualty Hospital and Irwin wsa a patient. The latter was under treatment at the institution for injuries received when cranking an automobile. He is still partially paralyzed.

District Economy Body Busy Preparing Budget

The newly appointed District Government economy committee yesterday added another step to the annual preparations of departmental estimates for the budget. Under the new procedure the committee will study the estimates after they have been submitted to Auditor Daniel J. Donovan but before they are turned over to the commissioners.

Man Is Given 180 Days On Charge of Larceny

A sentence of 180 days in jail was given James F. Hill, colored, yesterday when he was convicted of petit larceny in Police Court.

Hill, according to police, phoned Mrs. Mary Walker, wife of C. B. Walker, a barber, that her husband needed change in his shop, and that he was to call for it. He appeared at Mrs. Walker's home a few minutes later and obtained $12 in change. Walker testified that he had not sent for the change and Hill denied having called for it, but Judge Isaac R. Hitt disbelieved him.

Flames Destroy News Reel Truck

Fire at Garage Follows Return From Filming Baby Negotiators.

Highly valuable "talkie" apparatus was destroyed by fire early yesterday which destroyed a specially constructed truck belonging to the Pathe News Reel Co. in a garage at 1115 Vermont avenue northwest. Heroic action on the part of garage employes is believed to have prevented damage to a number of other machines stored in the establishment.

The fire was discovered by Eugene Girod, who gave the alarm. Girod then leaped into the machine, managed to start it, and despite the enveloping flames and smoke, drove it to the street. Other employes were pouring streams from fire extinguishers on the blazing car. Fire department apparatus shortly arrived and extinguished the blaze.

Hearing on Boundary Bill Set Tomorrow

Hearings on Representative Howard W. Smith's bill to decide once and for all the boundary line between the District and Virginia will open at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning before the House District subcommittee on streets, avenues and traffic.

The bill provides for a commission representative of the State of Virginia and the District government to finally determine the District-Virginia boundary. The original division ran along the Virginia shore of the Potomac, but receding waters and reclamation operations have left a large area of "no-man's land" now tied up in court action.

Girl, 14, Badly Hurt When Car Hits Pole

Miss Ann Irwin, 14 years old, of 1930 Biltmore street northwest, was injured seriously last night when the car she was driving skidded on the wet surface of Georgia avenue near Silver Spring, Md., and crashed into a telephone pole. Paul Morris, 26, owner of the car, who was a passenger, was injured slightly.

The young woman was taken to Walter Reed Hospital by G. F. McIntire, 816 Thayer avenue, Silver Spring. She later was removed to Emergency Hospital, where it was found that she had suffered concussion of the brain and possibly a fractured skull. Morris was bruised about the body. He told police the young woman was driving toward Silver Spring when the car skidded on the wet pavement.

Strange Fish Put In Commerce Pool

Vicious Species Included in Department's New Additions.

Piscatorial lantern-carriers, "Tom Thumb" size man-eaters, and Chinese paradise fish yesterday began their enforced sojourn in the Department of Commerce aquarium.

Most interesting is the paradise species which build nests and spend their spare time fighting. The nests are constructed of bubbles. The male watches over them while the eggs are hatching and should the female make an oppearance, she is killed.

The man-eaters are but a half to six inches in length. They are voracious and in schools will attack swimmers. The species was discovered by President Roosevelt during his exploration of the River of Doubt in South America.

Perpetrators of Kidnap Notes Quiet in Capital

Activities of extortionists which have caused a recent mild reign of terror in social circles here appeared to have ceased yesterday. Police admitted that they were without substantial clews as to the identity of the perpetrators of the warnings.

Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, who had taken an active part in the investigation of the demands, left the city yesterday on a tour of Northern cities in a survey of police methods.

Laboratory Fumes Overcome Official

Executive of Processed Minerals Firm Being Treated at Home.

George H. Robertie, 30 years old, vice president of the Processed Minerals Corporation, is under the care of his family physician after being overcome by carbon monoxide fumes while at work in the concern's laboratories, 3206 Grace street northwest, yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Robertie was partially overcome at the plant from fumes escaping from a gas oven. After being revived with no apparent ill effects, he left for his home, 3120 R street northwest. He collapsed again shortly after arriving and members of his family summoned a physician. The Fire Rescue Squad was called and for more than half an hour worked over him with an inhalator.

Mr. Robertie was reported as resting comfortably last night.

Man Is Held for Jury On Charge of Robbery

On the testimony of Mary Taylor, colored, Robert B. Colling, also colored, was held yesterday for action of the grand jury under $2,000 bond on a charge of robbery.

Mary Taylor testified in Police Court that she was a passenger in Colling's car when he stopped the machine, drew a pistol, and took from her a pocketbook containing $5. The woman noted the license number of the car and reported the incident to police who arrested Colling.

Trousers Snagged, Youth Seized in Theft Attempt

A torn place on the seat of the trousers of Eugene Humphries, 19 years old, colored, of 609 Sixth street northeast, tells the sad story of his arrest last night, accused of breaking into a chain grocery store at 310 Thirteenth street northeast.

About 20 policemen rushed to the store in radio and emergency cars last night at the behest of Thomas Whinnerey, of 312 Thirteenth street northeast, who telephoned police he heard glass being shattered and looked out to see a colored youth entering the store. Privates F. H. Hoffman and C. M. Hughes, of the Ninth Precinct, got there first, and the man fled from the store and ducked into the basement of Mr. Whinnerey's home.

He made his way from the rear basement to a space in front which was closed off by a length of lattice-work. He was about to get through this when fate intervened. His trousers snagged on a jagged piece of wood and he fell an easy victim to the men of Inspector I. E. Edwards. The inspector had come along as night police chief and superintended the capture. Humphries was taken to headquarters, where Detective Sergt. Mike Dowd booked him on an investigation charge. The detective says the youth is under a two-year suspended sentence on a housebreaking charge.

Missing Boy, 15, Returns; Boat Trip Caused Scare

An unannounced boat trip to Norfolk, Va., gave rise to the fear that Jose A. Arias, 15, was a victim of kidnapers.

While members of his family were frantically searching for the boy, Jose, the son of a wealthy Cuban sugar importer, returned to his home at 2400 Sixteenth street yesterday morning, and described his pleasure jaunt to the Southern city.

The boy left home Tuesday afternoon to visit a friend, Billy Shultz, in Chevy Chase, Md.; and when he failed to arrive Billy's father called up Mrs. Arias to find out what happened. Although certain that the boy had run away, she notified police, who instituted a close check on lanes of egress from the city.

The boy had frequently expressed a desire to take an airplane trip, and the various airports around the city were requested to look out for him. On returning Jose told his family that he had changed his mind about going to his friend's house, and decided to take the boat trip. He financed the trip with some money he had saved.
